PERFORMING ARTS

A.C.T.

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY THEATRE  1986-87 SEASON
NEW 1987
MAXIMA GXE
THE SMART SIDE
OF LUXURY.

Nissan proudly invites you to enter our world of luxury ... the elegant world of Maxima. It begins with crisp, classic design, re-styled for '87. Beautifully.

In addition to Maxima: outer beauty you'll discover power can be as beautiful as well.
Under the hood waits a fuel-injected 5-liter V6 engine, the same engine that propels the awesome 300ZX.

Inside Maxima, Nissan's advanced technolyogy continues to shine. The most wanted luxury features like cruise-control, reclining bucket seats, lumbar support, power windows, air conditioning, 6-speaker AM-FM stereo system with Dolby Cassette and 7 band equalizer and much more, are all standard Maxima for '87! One luxury car that's truly a smart choice.

You'll be glad to know, that when a car's this good you can back it with a plan this good. Nissan's Security-Plus Extended Service Agreement offers you term options of up years: 30, 00,000 miles. Ask your participating Nissan/Batsun dealer about it today.

THE LUXURY AND PERFORMANCE IS MAXIMA.
THE NAME IS NISSAN.

We've got the Keys to the City

San Francisco has an enviable heritage of fine, larger homes.
The City also has a realism that provides service worthy of these dwellings.
McGuire Real Estate.

And what's enviable about McGuire is that the personal care, attention to detail and the dedication that accompanies these transactions is extended to every home we sell.

You see, at McGuire Real Estate, we've been selling homes in San Francisco since 1919. We know the business; we know the territory, and we'd like to get to know you.

Because we've got the keys to the city

229-1500 / 921-5555

AN INVESTMENT YOU CAN LIVE WITH NEW 1987 MAXIMA GXE
THE SMART SIDE
OF LUXURY.

Nissan proudly invites you to enter our world of luxury—the elegant world of Maxima. It begins with crisp, classic design, re-styled for '87. Beautiful.

In addition to Maxima's outer beauty you'll discover power can be beautiful as well. Under the hood waits a fuel-injected, 3-liter V-6 engine, the same engine that propels the awesome 300 ZX.

Inside Maxima, Nissan's advanced technology continues to shine. The most wanted luxury features like cruise-control, reclining bucket seats, lumbar support, power windows, air conditioning, 6-speaker AM-FM stereo system with Dolby cassette and 7-band equalizer and much more, are all standard.

Maxima for '87. One luxury car that's truly a smart choice. You'll be glad to know, that when a car's this good you can bank on it with a plan this good. Nissan's Security Plus-Extended Service agreement offers you term options of up to 10 years/100,000 miles. Ask your participating Nissan/Datsun dealer about it today.

THE LUXURY AND PERFORMANCE IS MAXIMA.
THE NAME IS NISSAN.
PERFORMING ARTS
The Theatre & Music Magazine for California & Texas
FEBRUARY 1987

10
THE MUSICAL
AND THE TRADE WARS
by Walter Price

19
A.C.T.
THE THIRD SEASON
1986-69

following 26
THE PROGRAM

33
GEORGE GERSHWIN
ON CANVAS
by Herbert Glass

36
WOOL:
ALWAYS IN FASHION
by Deborah Leggat

49 RESTAURANT
GUIDE

cover: Mark Habib and Margaret Klineck anyer in A.C.T.'s production of The Real Thing
by Tom Stoppard. Photo by Larry Munkle

Performing Arts is a trademark of Performing Arts Network, Inc.
© Copyright 1987. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part without permission is prohibited.
PERFORMING ARTS
The Theatre & Music Magazine for California & Texas
FEBRUARY 1987

10
THE MUSICAL
AND THE TRADE WARS
by Walter Price

19
A.C.T.
THE THIRD SEASON
1968-69

following 26
THE PROGRAM

33
GEORGE GERSHWIN
ON CANVAS
by Herbert Glass

36
WOOL:
ALWAYS IN FASHION
by Deborah Leggat

49 RESTAURANT
GUIDE

The Stage.
Every now and then, it's nice to turn a dinner party into a production. With wines complementing every course. And guests complimenting your culinary performance.

Which is where new Select Servings from Foster Farms come on stage. Select Servings come from fresh, plump Foster Farms chickens. Gourmet cuts, already boned, skinned and trimmed by hand.

So you can put your energies into creating. And not into boning chicken.

What's more, Select Servings are available in thighs, breasts or thighs and drumsticks. All equally perfect, whether you're cooking Medallions of Chicken Thighs in Lemon Butter for two.

Or dinner for a cast of thousands.
Every now and then, it's nice to turn a dinner party into a production. With wines complementing every course. And guests complimenting your culinary performance.

Which is where new Select Servings from Foster Farms come on stage. Select Servings come from fresh, plump Foster Farms chickens. Gourmet cuts, already boned, skinned and trimmed by hand.

So you can put your energies into creating. And not into boning chicken.

What's more, Select Servings are available in thighs, breasts or thighs and drumsticks. All equally perfect, whether you're cooking Medallions of Chicken Thighs in Lemon Butter for two. Or dinner for a cast of thousands.
PHYSICIAN/DERMATOLOGIST SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY EXPERT
Allyn Beth Landau, M.D. helps her patients to achieve and maintain healthy, natural looking skin.

ZYDERM® COLLAGEN
You can improve your appearance through Dr. Landau’s skillful administration of collagen and achieve what make-up cannot, safely and without surgery. Dr. Landau administers the most Zyderm® Zyplast® Collagen in Northern California.

SKIN CARE FORMULATIONS
Moisturizing lotion Sunblock SPF 15+, special cleansers and advanced moisturizers to give you the tools for healthy beautiful skin. Mail or telephone 415-781-3646.

ACNE TREATMENT
Achieve clear skin and control over break-outs. Synergistic Regimens.

PIGMENTATION PROBLEMS/ REJUVENATION
Even out skin tones, remove youthful glow, improve the texture of your skin.

CAPILLARY TREATMENTS
Red spots of face and legs may be safely eliminated. Preventive advice.

SKIN GROWTHS
Cosmetic Dermatologist can remove warts, name growths such as moles, warts, lesions of the face and body. Bodychem - treatment for skin cancer.

Allyn Beth Landau, M.D.
(415) 781-2122 (415) 781-3646
200 Fillmore Street, Suite 11
San Francisco, CA 94117
Service for Men & Women Mon.-Sat. & Evening. App. HEALTH INSURANCE
PHYSICIAN/DERMATOLOGIST
SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY EXPERT
Allyn Beth Landau, M.D. helps her patients to achieve and maintain healthy, natural-looking skin.

ZYDERM® COLLAGEN
You can improve your appearance through Dr. Landau's skillful administration of collagen and achieve what make-up cannot, safely and without surgery. Dr. Landau administers the most Zyderm/Zyplast Collagen in Northern California.

SKIN CARE FORMULATIONS
Moisturizing lotion Sunblock SPF 15*, special cleansers, and advanced moisturizers to give you the tools for beautiful skin. Mail or telephone 415-781-SKIN.

ACNE TREATMENT
Achieve clear skin and control over break-outs. Systemic Regimens.

PIGMENTATION PROBLEMS/ REJUVENATION
Even skin tones, reduce yellowish glaze, improve the texture of your skin.

CAPILLARY TREATMENTS
Red spots of face and legs may be safely eliminated. Preventive advice.

SKIN GROWTHS
Cosmetic Dermatologist can remove warts, verrucas, growths such as moles, warts, moles of the face and body. Bodycure - treatment for skin cancer; changing moles, sun damage. Early diagnosis recommended.

Allyn Beth Landau, M.D.
(415) 781-2122  (415) 781-SKIN
220 Sutter Street in Union Square
San Francisco, CA 94108
Service for Men & Women Mon-Sat.
& Evening. Appointments.

PERFORMING ARTS
MAGAZINE
SAN FRANCISCO EDITION

Herbert Glass, Senior Editor
Jeffrey Hirsch
Managing Editor
Crystal A. Smith
Robin Carr
Doreen Kim
Edward Orth
Production Manager
Ellen Munson
Advertising Coordinator
Susan Beth Cohen
Lorena Taylor

Performing Arts Network, Inc.
2999 Overland Avenue, #201, Los Angeles, CA 90064
(213) 659-8000

Performing Arts Network, Inc.
19 West 51st Street, New York, NY 10019
(212) 342-4540

Performing Arts Network, Inc.
Opera Plaza – 601 Van Ness Ave. #2302
San Francisco, CA 94102
(415) 479-3270

Performing Arts Network, Inc.
3600 Fifth Avenue, San Diego, CA 92105
(619) 299-4450

2421 Beverly, Suite 250, Houston, TX 77005
(713) 524-3983

Distributed Media Reps.
107 W. Randol Mill Road, #201, Arlington, TX 76011
(817) 267-5555

Regional Representatives
Wendy, Kelley, Allen & Opticon, Inc.
2 North Riverside Plaza, Chicago, IL 60606
(312) 231-2471

Peter C. Kiley (Detroit)
(313) 330-3065

Southern Playbill Publishing, Inc.
4001 N.W. 23rd Drive, Palm Beach, FL 33407
(305) 625-4100

Gilman Kraft
President
Irwin M. Miles
Vice-President
Joseph Benjamin
General Manager
A.J. Landau
Vice-President

By Macy's Department of Interior Design, qualified design professionals who will turn your visions into reality. Be they rare and unusual or down home and personal, our staff works within your requirements. We take the worry out of decorating by providing all the advantages a respected retailer like Macy's has to offer. An entire store of furniture and accessories. Worldwide resources and buying power. Customer service and credit. And above all, Macy's integrity. When you're in the market for a full-service design team, turn to the professionals—the Department of Interior Design, Macy's San Francisco. Showroom: The Ralph Lauren Home Collection. Visit Macy's Home Store and Stage during the month of February.
The Musical and the Trade Wars

Along with Automobiles, Computer Chips, TVs and Appliances, the “American” Musical now helps fuel the trade imbalance.

by Walter Price

An example of the “internationalization” of the musical. Les Misérables, begun life in France (in French), remains a hit on the West End (in English) and will soon attempt to repeat those successes in the United States. The scene depicted here is from the London production, with Roger Allam (far right) as Javert.

On March 12, 1987, with a more than comfortable $7.7 million dollar advance sale, Les Misérables will open on Broadway. It is a curious hybrid. Written by the French librettist Alain Boublil, and the French/Hungarian composer Claude-Michel Schönberg. It started life as a recording and was then picked up by the hottest producer on either side of the Atlantic, Cameron Mackintosh, the young English/Scottish/French/Italian who is giving lessons to everyone on how to choose and produce hit shows. A musical-starved New York is almost salivating at the thought of Les Misérables, one of the West End’s biggest hits—even with a $47.50 top here.

When the musical stunner of the season so far is a 50-year-old English import, the New York Brittreguer knows he’s in trouble. Me and My Girl is a nostalgic throwback to English music hall tradition separating your business and personal expenses for tax preparation.

In addition, the Gold Card offers a wide variety of other benefits. It may include a personal line of credit, cash access services, and worldwide travel advantages. And there’s also the convenience of American Express® Envy, a personalized travel agency available 24 hours a day through a toll-free number. All of which makes the Gold Card a much sought-after privilege.

The Gold Card is in addition to everything else, now it even sums up the year for you.

To acquire the Gold Card, pick up an application at a participating financial institution or establishment where the Gold Card is welcome. Or call 1-800-THE-CARD.

Available in the first quarter of 1987, and includes your 1986 listed Gold Card charges. Earlier years not available.

THE GOLD CARD®
The Musical and the Trade Wars

Along with Automobiles, Computer Chips, TVs and Appliances, the "American" Musical now helps fuel the trade imbalance.

by Walter Price

An example of the "Internationalization" of the musical. Les Misérables, began life in France (in French), remains a hit on the West End (in English) and will soon attempt to repeat those successes in the United States. The scene depicted here is from the London production, with Roger Allam (for right) as Javert.

On March 12, 1987, with a more than comfortable $7.5 million dollar advance sale, Les Misérables will open on Broadway. It is a curious hybrid. Written by the French librettist Alain Boublil, and the French/Hungarian composer Claude-Michel Schönberg. It started life as a recording and was then picked up by the hottest producer on either side of the Atlantic, Cameron Mackintosh, the young English/Scottish/French/Italian...

The Gold Card presents your annual report.

Introducing the Gold Card® Year-End Summary of Charges from American Express.

With the addition of the Year-End Summary, the Gold Card just may be the simplest, most impressive way to put your life in order. It's a comprehensive, chronological account of your year's billed Gold Card transactions by category and location. Telling you where you spent it, how you used it, when you used it, and what you spent. Which can be helpful in separating your business and personal expenses for tax preparation. In addition, the Gold Card offers a wide variety of other benefits. It may include a personal line of credit, cash access services, and worldwide travel advantages. And there's also the convenience of American Express® OPEN® A personalized travel agency available 24 hours a day through a toll-free number. All of which makes the Gold Card a much sought-after privilege.

The Gold Card. It's addition to everything else, now it even sums up your life for you.

To acquire the Gold Card, pick up an application at a participating financial institution or establishment where the Gold Card is welcomed. Or call 1-800-THE-CARD. Available in the first quarter of 1987, and includes your 1986 billed Gold Card charges. Earlier years not available.

The Gold Card® Year-End Summary of Charges

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>PROCESS DATE</th>
<th>TRANSACTION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1/10/86</td>
<td>Norwalk Electronics, McKinley, CT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Inv. #93867</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4/15/86</td>
<td>Rowe's Hardware, Sherman, CT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Inv. #43690</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7/12/86</td>
<td>Essex Booksellers, St. Louis, MO</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Inv. #34298</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12/22/86</td>
<td>Condor's New Milford, CT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Inv. #21376</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12/22/86</td>
<td>Davis' Amish House, Easton, CT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Inv. #31327</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3/27/86</td>
<td>Hotel St. Germain, Paris, France</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Inv. #98985</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6/2/86</td>
<td>Plaza Victoria, Seattle, WA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Inv. #87999</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7/4/86</td>
<td>Smith-Pierce Hotel, Chicago, IL</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Inv. #56378</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3/27/86</td>
<td>L'Auberge Restaurant, New York, NY</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Inv. #47690</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Charge Related Services

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>AMOUNT</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>179.50</td>
<td>Norwalk Electronics, McKinley, CT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>96.75</td>
<td>Rowe's Hardware, Sherman, CT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>39.95</td>
<td>Essex Booksellers, St. Louis, MO</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>112.37</td>
<td>Condor's New Milford, CT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>250.00</td>
<td>Davis' Amish House, Easton, CT</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>678.50</td>
<td>Hotel St. Germain, Paris, France</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>322.56</td>
<td>Plaza Victoria, Seattle, WA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Smith-Pierce Hotel, Chicago, IL</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>L'Auberge Restaurant, New York, NY</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
which has its raison d'être in the magnificent lead performance of Robert Lindsay, chiefly known in this country, if at all, as a peerless Edmund in the Laurence Olivier King Lear on television. Give them that, those Brits are versatile!

Previously, we had had a $5 million disaster in Rags, despite the valiant efforts of Teresa Stratas as its star. Marvin Hamlish had a new show, Smile, which opened to mixed reviews; the composer's search for a musical equaling, if not surpassing, his A Chorus Line remains unfulfilled.

Superficial observers of the Broadway scene might well conclude that we are being inundated with musical imports from a country which has taken what used to be an American specialty and done it better.

To be sure, 42nd Street and La Cage aux Folles are still going strong (in London as well as New York), but the former doesn't even have an original score, however brilliantly put together by the late Gower Champion. La Cage is typical Jerry Herman, aided by the Harvey Fierstein adaptation of the most successful French film import in American movie history, and it is produced in lavish American style.

One of the biggest Broadway hits is British, from the composer Andrew Lloyd Webber and the aforementioned producer, Cameron Mackintosh: Cats. When Phantom of the Opera, Mr. Webber's latest work, which is the current hot ticket in London, opens in '87-'88, British dominance of Broadway will be perilously close.

British dramas and comedies have always been welcomed; after all, Shakespeare and those who followed are our common heritage. But the American musical comedy is ours. No one thought much about a trend when The Boy Friend opened off-Broadway in 1954. We also had Anthony Newley's delightful Stop the World, I Want to Get Off. Both certainly British successes. Then came Jesus Christ, Superstar, the first blockbuster from over there. With the Webber and Tim Rice Eva it's more than a few began to suspect that some sort of revolution was beginning.

The musical comedy tradition had
which has its raison d'être in the magnificent lead performance of Robert Lindsay, chiefly known in this country, if at all, as a peerless Edmund in the Laurence Olivier King Lear on television. Give them that, those Brits are versatile!

Previously, we had had a $5 million disaster in Raps, despite the valiant efforts of Teresa Stratas as its star. Marvin Hamlisch had a new show, Smile, which opened to mixed reviews; the composer's search for a musical equaling, if not surpassing, his A Chorus Line remains unfilled.

Superficial observers of the Broadway scene might well conclude that we are being inundated with musical imports from a country which has taken what used to be an American specialty and done it better.

To be sure, 42nd Street and La Cage aux Folles are still going strong (in London as well as New York), but the former doesn't even have an original score, however brilliantly put together by the late Gower Champion. La Cage is typical Jerry Herman, aided by the Harvey Fierstein adaptation of the most successful French film import in American movie history, and it is produced in lavish American style.

One of the biggest Broadway hits is British, from the composer Andrew Lloyd Webber and the aforementioned producer, Cameron Mackintosh: Cats. When Phantom of the Opera, Mr. Webber's latest work, which is the current hot ticket in London, opens in '87-'88, British dominance of Broadway will be perilously close.

British dramas and comedies have always been welcomed; after all, Shakespeare and those who followed are our common heritage. But the American musical comedy is ours. No one thought much about a trend when The Boy Friend opened off-Broadway in 1954. We also had Anthony Newley's delightful Stop the World, I Want to Get Off. Both certainly British successes. Then came Jesus Christ, Superstar, the first blockbuster from over there. With the Webber and Tim Rice Evita more than a few began to suspect that some sort of revolution was beginning.

The musical comedy tradition had
reached something of a watershed with Fiddler on the Roof, the last traditional great American musical, according to Cameron Mackintosh. He feels that A Chorus Line broke that tradition, but that it hasn’t led anywhere (La Cage is a throwback to the Fiddler tradition).

Something has happened in the meantime. The musical has become internationalized. Mackintosh further points out. He also reminds us that we have forgotten that such a "golden oldie" as No, No, Nanette began life in London before its New York opening all those years ago. Clive Barnes, English-born himself, and currently drama and dance critic for the New York Post, sounded pessimistic in a recent interview. He feels the Broadway musical as we think of it today is threatened and the reason so obvious as to seem simplistic: the people who write pop music in America today do not write for the theatre.

Of course, he is correct. Irving Berlin was a song plugger; Jerome Kern worked for the producer, Charles Frohman, in London for ten years, contributing songs for individual shows, before he returned home. The prototype of the great American musical as we think of it today was his—Show Boat. In addition to the great love songs like Make Believe and Bill, the score showed influences of both jazz and ragtime. It was the music of our popular culture.

Along with Berlin and Kern, such others as Cole Porter, Richard Rodgers, George Gershwin and Frederick Loewe were of the same ilk. Porter aside, these composers were also profoundly influenced by Jewish European music and the tunes that the man in the street hummed and whistled were part of the theatre in store.

Today that is not the case. Since the mid-fifties, rock and rock-influenced music has been the mode. The Who’s rock opera Tommy was an attempt to invade musical comedy. Hair followed it in 1967, but it was really a pastiche, a statement on the Vietnam War. Its influence was negligible and it led nowhere because contemporary composers did not choose to follow up and enter the medium.

One can only fantasize a Broadway score which Lennon and McCartney might have realized if they had chosen to. Instead, they and others like them settled on concerts and recordings as their outlet. The profits there were immense without all the risks involved of putting together a Broadway show.

There have been indications that people like Rupert Holmes and David Byrne are interested in theatre writing, but one wonders if it might be too little, too late.

While it might seem unthinkable that Broadway as we know it is dead or dying, Barnes points out that Viennese operetta died, as did the French variation and that now he thinks it is the Broadway musical’s time. We have revivals of Strauss and Offenbach operettas, Porgy and Bess comes back successfully at the Metropolis and the Glyndebourne Festival in England. Our great musicals of the past will join them in the pantheon and be revived regularly.

This is not to say that all will be darkness, but Barnes is scornful of what he calls the "high tech extravaganzas musical!", which "...is destined to reach its peak with an epic saga of transvestite cats playing chess with some phantom of the opera in a railway parlor car while the French revolution, led by Evita Peron, blazes outside to the sound of electronic music by Philip Glass with Sondheim lyrics about art not being easy."

That may be a bit much, but one gets the point. As to what we will have in store, with Les Miserables, Barnes, who has seen the show in London, says flatly, "Believe me, you will leave the theatre humming Puccini."

Producer Mackintosh would not agree.
reached something of a watershed with Fiddler on the Roof, the last traditional great American musical, according to Cameron Mackintosh. He feels that A Chorus Line broke that tradition, but that it hasn’t led anywhere (La Cage is a throwback to the Fiddler tradition).

Something has happened in the meantime. The musical has become internationalized. Mackintosh further points out. He also reminds us that we have forgotten that such a “golden oldie” as No, No, Nanette began life in London before its New York opening all those years ago.

Clive Barnes, English-born himself, and currently drama and dance critic for the New York Post, sounded pessimistic in a recent interview. He feels the Broadway musical as we think of it today is threatened and the reason so obvious as to seem simplistic: the people who write pop music in America today do not write for the theatre.

Of course, he is correct. Irving Berlin was a song plugger. Jerome Kern worked for the producer, Charles Frohman, in London for ten years, contributing songs for individual shows, before he returned home. The prototype of the great American musical as we think of it today was his—Show Boat. In addition to the great love songs like Make Believe and Bill, the score showed influences of both jazz and ragtime. It was the music of our popular culture.

Along with Berlin and Kern, such others as Cole Porter, Richard Rodgers, George Gershwin and Frederick Loewe were of the same ilk. Porter aside, these composers were also profoundly influenced by Jewish European music and the tunes that the man in the street hummed and whistled were part of the theatre in stores.

Today that is not the case. Since the mid-fifties, rock and roll-influenced music has been the mode. The Who’s rock opera Tommy was an attempt to invade musical comedy. Hair followed it in 1967, but it was really a pastiche, a statement on the Vietnam War. Its influence was negligible and it led nowhere because contemporary composers did not choose to follow up and enter the medium.

One can only fantasize a Broadway score which Lennon and McCartney might have realized if they had chosen to. Instead, they and others like them settled on concerts and recordings as their outlet. The profits there were immense without all the risks involved of putting together a Broadway show.

There have been indications that people like Rupert Holmes and David Byrne are interested in theatre writing, but one wonders if it might be too little, too late.

While it might seem unthinkable that Broadway as we know it is dead or dying, Barnes points out that Viennese operetta died, as did the French variation and that now he thinks it is the Broadway musical’s time. We have revivals of Strauss and Offenbach operettas, Porgy and Bess comes back successfully at the Metropolis and Glyndebourne Festival in England. Our great musicals of the past will join them in the pantheon and be revived regularly.

This is not to say that all will be darkness, but Barnes is scornful of what he calls the “high tech extravaganza musical!”, which “...is destined to reach its peak with an epic saga of transvestite cats playing chess with some phantom of the opera in a railroad parlor car while the French revolution, led by Evita Peron, blazes outside to the sound of electronic music by Philip Glass with Sondheim lyrics about art not being easy.”

That may be a bit much, but one gets the point. As to what we will have in stores with Les Misérables, Barnes, who has seen the show in London, says flatly, “Believe me, you will leave the theatre humming Puccini.”

Producer Mackintosh would not agree.

---

A taste of Italian night life

Sambuca Romana... to enhance your after-dinner coffee. To drink Com Mosca, with three coffee beans and a halo of flame.

Our Sambuca Romana recipe book has 55 other ways to enjoy the taste of Italy.

Sambuca Romana - 84 Proof Liqueur. Imported by Morgan Fine, Ltd. Fort Leev, N.J.
A likely candidate for an American production is Chears, created by Britisher Tim Rice and the composer of the Swedish Abba group. Above, Tommy Kirkberg and Elaine Paige in the London staging, with that, of course. He has great admiration for Webber, for example, in that the composer likes to tackle difficult subjects. "Andrew composes pop music seriously, unlike his predecessor, Arthur Sullivan, who disdained his work with Gilbert. Phantom is the most 'book' show he's done, although 85 to 90 percent of it is sung."

Besides, he points out, really original stuff is hard to put on and cites Oklahoma!, Kiss Me Kate, My Fair Lady and Cats as examples of shows many sages thought had no chance. Indeed this writer remembers very well speaking with a Columbia Pictures scout who returned from a New Haven tryout performance and wired Harry Cohn that there should be no interest in Fair Lady, that it would never go on Broadway.

As to the economics of the London stage as opposed to New York, there is no doubt it is easier there. Expenses are lower, ticket prices are lower, and there is just as large a pool of talent. There is also just as big a market for nostalgia, reviving fine works of the past. Guys and Dolls, Cabaret, and Wonderful Town have been revived with varying degrees of success. Folies, the cult musical of our time, will get a new production (by Mackintosh) with a revised book by James Goldman and some new songs by Sondheim. Though the casting is incomplete, Diane Rigg has signed for the part of Phyllis, originally created by Alexis Smith and taken by Lee Remick in the concert version New York revival a year ago. It might
A likely candidate for an American production is Chess, created by Britisher Tim Rice and the composer of the Swedish ABBA group. Above, Tommy Körberg and Elaine Paige in the London staging, with that, of course. He has great admiration for Webber, for example, in that the composer likes to tackle difficult subjects. "Andrew composes pop music seriously, unlike his predecessor, Arthur Sullivan, who disdained his work with Gilbert. Phantom is the most 'book' show he's done, although 85 to 90 percent of it is sung."

Besides, he points out, really original stuff is hard to put on and cites Oklahoma!, Kiss Me Kate, My Fair Lady, and Cats as examples of shows many sages thought had no chance. Indeed this writer remembers very well speaking with a Columbia Pictures scout who returned from a New Haven tryout performance and wired Harry Cohn that there should be no interest in Fair Lady, that it would never go on Broadway.

As to the economics of the London stage as opposed to New York, there is no doubt it is easier there. Expenses are lower, ticket prices are lower, and there is just as large a pool of talent. There is also just as big a market for nostalgia, reviving fine works of the past. Guys and Dolls, Cabaret, and Wonderful Town have been revived with varying degrees of success. Follies, the cult musical of our time, will get a new production (by Mackintosh) with a revised book by James Goldman and some new songs by Sondheim. Though the casting is incomplete, Diana Rigg has signed for the part of Phyllis, originally created by Alexis Smith and taken by Lee Remick in the concert version New York revival a year ago. It might

(Continued on page 44)
Virginia Slims remembers how the woman of 1912 was always one step ahead of her husband.

VIRGINIA SLIMS

You’ve come a long way, baby.

8 mg “tar,” 0.8 mg nicotine per cigarette, FTC Report Feb. ’65.

SURGEON GENERAL’S WARNING: Quitting Smoking Now Greatly Reduces Serious Risks to Your Health.

---

A.C.T.

The Third Season, 1968-69

Ramon Bieri (left) and Peter Donat played aging lovers facing a series of crises in Charles Dyer’s Staircase, directed by Robert Goldby.

The 1968-69 repertory season at A.C.T. opened on a hilarious note with Georges Feydeau’s classic farce, A Flea in Her Ear. Directed with wit and originality by the late Gower Champion, the production moved at breakneck speed and featured striking scenery and costumes that used only black and white in their design.

Continuing a policy of presenting shows in repertory at the Geary and Marines Memorial Theatres simultaneously, the season offered a total of twelve new productions. In addition, revivals of two hits from the previous season, A Delicate Balance and In White America, were performed.

At season’s end, A.C.T. accepted an invitation from the American National Theatre and Academy to play an engagement on Broadway. After a stopover stand at Chicago’s Ravinia Park, the company arrived in New York, presenting A Flea in Her Ear and two William Ball productions, Tiny Alice and Three Sisters, in repertory for three weeks.

In the meantime, money problems were mounting back home, and to help fill the coffers, A.C.T. joined hippie entrepreneur Michael Butler to produce the San Francisco edition of the phenomenally successful “tribal love-rock musical,” Hair, at the Geary, as a special between-seasons attraction. The show played six months there, then transferred to the Orpheum for an additional run of almost a year. A.C.T. eventually netted over $100,000 from the venture to help support its repertory and Conservatory work.

Photos from the A.C.T. archives are by Hank Kranzler and William Ganslen.
A.C.T.
The Third Season,
1968-69

Ramon Bieri (left) and Peter Donat played aging lovers facing a series of crises in Charles Dyer's Staircase, directed by Robert Goldby.

The 1968-69 repertory season at A.C.T. opened on a hilarious note with Georges Feydeau's classic farce, A Flea in Her Ear. Directed with wit and originality by the late Gower Champion, the production moved at breakneck speed and featured striking scenery and costumes that used only black and white in their design.

Continuing a policy of presenting shows in repertory at the Geary and Marines Memorial Theatres simultaneously, the season offered a total of twelve new productions. In addition, revivals of two hits from the previous season, A Delicate Balance and In White America, were performed.

At season's end, A.C.T. accepted an invitation from the American National Theatre and Academy to play an engagement on Broadway. After a stopover stand at Chicago's Ravinia Park, the company arrived in New York, presenting A Flea in Her Ear and two William Ball productions, Tiny Alice and Three Sisters, in repertory for three weeks.

In the meantime, money problems were mounting back home, and to help fill the coffers, A.C.T. joined hippie entrepreneur Michael Butler to produce the San Francisco edition of the phenomenally successful "tribal love-rock musical," Hair, at the Geary, as a special between-seasons attraction. The show played six months there, then transferred to the Orpheum for an additional run of almost a year. A.C.T. eventually netted over $100,000 from the venture to help support its repertory and Conservatory work.

Photos from the A.C.T. archives are by Hank Kranzler and William Ganslen.
1968-69
THIRD SEASON

A Flea in Her Ear
by Georges Feydeau;
directed by Cowie Champion

The Devil's Disciple
by George Bernard Shaw;
directed by Edward Hastings

Little Murders
by Jules Feiffer;
directed by Nagle Jackson

Staircase
by Charles Dyer;
directed by Robert Goldsby

Three Sisters
by Anton Chekhov;
directed by William Ball

The Promise
by Aleksei Arbuzov;
directed by Edward Hastings

Rosenzweig and Gudalski

Are Dead
by Tom Stoppard;
directed by William Ball

The Architect and the Emperor of Assyria
by Fernando Arrabal;
directed by Robert Goldsby

Room Service
by Allen Btresz and John Murray;
directed by Nagle Jackson

Glory! Hallelujah!
by Anna Maria Barlow;
directed by Edwin Sherin

The Hostage
by Brendan Behan;
directed by Allen Fletcher

Oh Dad, Poor Dad,
Mamma's Hung You in the Closet
And I'm Feelin' So Sad
by Arthur L. Kopit;
directed by Edward Hastings

A Delicate Balance
by Edward Albee;
directed by Edward Hastings

In White America
by Martin Duberman;
directed by Nagle Jackson

Ken Ruta made the most of the juicy role of The Player in Tom Stoppard's Rosenzweig and Gudalski Are Dead, in the staging by William Ball.
A Flea in Her Ear
by Georges Feydeau;
directed by Gower Champion

The Devil's Disciple
by George Bernard Shaw;
directed by Edward Hastings

Little Murders
by Jules Feiffer;
directed by Nagle Jackson

Staircase
by Charles Dyer;
directed by Robert Goldsby

Three Sisters
by Anton Chekhov;
directed by William Ball

The Promise
by Alexei Arbuzov;
directed by Edward Hastings

Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead
by Tom Stoppard;
directed by William Ball

The Architect and the Emperor of Assyria
by Fernando Arrabal;
directed by Robert Goldsby

Room Service
by John Murray;
directed by Nagle Jackson

Glory! Hallelujah!
by Anna Marie Barlow;
directed by Edwin Sherin

The Hostage
by Brendan Behan;
directed by Allen Fletcher

Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad
by Arthur L. Kopit;
directed by Edward Hastings

A Delicate Balance
by Edward Albee;
directed by Edward Hastings

In White America
by Martin Duberman;
directed by Nagle Jackson

Ken Ruta made the most of the juicy role of The Player in Tom Stoppard's Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead, in the staging by William Ball.
IT CAUGHT THE JAPANESE IMPORTS A LITTLE SHORT.

Welcome the new Sundance. From the new Plymouth. An American-made beauty that comes in surprising condition for a car in its price range: exceptionally well-equipped.

With more features—and pizzaz—for the money than any car this side of Kyoto. 47 of them. All standard. So even stripped, it's loaded.

Which makes its sensational form sensational to drive. And you can do that right now. At a California Chrysler-Plymouth dealer near you.

With all the features listed on the right, including a 5 year/50,000 mile Protection Plan, which also explains why a lot of midnight oil is being burned at drawing boards all over Japan.

Fuel cap order

Inside hood release

Multi function lever

Flash to pass

Stainless steel exhaust

Vanity mirror

Removable rear shelf panel

Premium sound insulation

Deluxe door trim

Clear coat paint

Side window defrosters

Color keyed instrument panel

Sport steering wheel

Body stripes

Shift indicator light

14 gallon tank

Easy access fusebox

Day/night rear view mirror

Lower vinyl protection

Cigar lighter

90 amp alternator

Variable intermittent wipers

*With limited warranty at dealer.

See owners manual. Protects engine, salt, road debris, and body rust through.

Buckle up for safety.

PLYMOUTH Sundance. The pride is back.
IT CAUGHT THE JAPANESE IMPORTS A LITTLE SHORT.

Welcome the new Sundance. From the new Plymouth. An American-made beauty that comes in surprising condition for a car in its price range: exceptionally well-equipped.

With more features—and pizzaz—for the money than any car this side of Kyoto. 47 of them. All standard. So even stripped, it's loaded.

Which makes its sensational form sensational to drive.

And you can do that right now. At a California Chrysler-Plymouth dealer near you.

With all the features listed on the right, including a 5 year/50,000 mile Protection Plan.

Which also explains why a lot of midnight oil is being burned at drawing boards all over Japan.

UNDER $7600

*Base sticker price of 2-door is $7,780 excluding title, taxes and destination charges.

2.2 liter fuel-injected engine
Front wheel drive
Power steering Power brakes
5-Speed with overdrive
AM/FM/ETR stereo
Digital clock
Hood speaker
Trip odometer
Sport wheel covers 14'' steel belted radial tires
Dual remote mirrors
Immobilizer

Deluxe cloth interior
Reclining bucket seats
Precision handling suspension with gas charged shocks
Warning chimes
Halogens headlamps
Split fold down rear seats
Body side molding
Remote liftback release
Console storage
Color-keyed seat belts
Trunk dress up
Counter balanced hood

Fuel cap tether
Inside hood release
Multi function lever
Flash to pass
Stainless steel exhaust
Vanity mirror
Removable rear shelf panel poids sound insulation
Deluxe door trim
Clear coat paint
Side window demisters Color keyed instrument panel

Sport steering wheel
Body stripes
Shift indicator light
14 gal. tank
Easy access fusebox
Day/night rear view mirror
Lower vinyl protection
Cigar lighter
90 amp alternator
Variable intermittent wipers

Most limited warranty at dealer.
Roadside assistance. Offers engine, transmission, and rear axle against body rust-through.

Buckle up for safety.

PLYMOUTH SUNDANCE. THE PRIDE IS BACK.
William Ball's 1969 production of Chekhov's 'Three Sisters' featured, from top, Angela Paton, Michael Learned and Kitty Winn.

The Devil's Disciple, Shaw's comedy set in Revolutionary America, featured Paul Shenar (left) and William Paterson. Edward Hastings directed.
AMERICAN CONSERVATORY THEATRE
1986-87 Repertory Season

SUNDAY IN THE PARK WITH GEORGE
by Stephen Sondheim and James Lapine
September 29 through November 1

THE DOCTOR'S DILEMMA
by George Bernard Shaw
November 6 through December 5

A CHRISTMAS CAROL
by Charles Dickens
December 3 through December 27

THE FLOATING LIGHT BULB
by Woody Allen
December 30 through January 31

THE REAL THING
by Tom Stoppard
January 28 through March 6

THE SEAGULL
by Anton Chekhov
February 28 through April 4

MA RAINEY'S BLACK BOTTOM
by August Wilson
March 11 through April 25

FAUSTUS IN HELL
by Nagle Jackson
April 15 through May 16
AMERICAN CONSERVATORY THEATRE
1986-87 Repertory Season

SUNDAY IN THE PARK WITH GEORGE
by Stephen Sondheim and James Lapine
September 29 through November 1

THE DOCTOR'S DILEMMA
by George Bernard Shaw
November 6 through December 3

A CHRISTMAS CAROL
by Charles Dickens
December 3 through December 27

THE FLOATING LIGHT BULB
by Woody Allen
December 30 through January 31

THE REAL THING
by Tom Stoppard
January 31 through March 6

THE SEAGULL
by Anton Chekhov
February 18 through April 4

MA RAINEY'S BLACK BOTTOM
by August Wilson
March 11 through April 25

FAUSTUS IN HELL
by Nagle Jackson
April 15 through May 16
INTRODUCING
AMY AND YURI
AND NATALIE
by Ralph Hoskins

As actors they faced challenges beyond the customary ones of finding objectives, building characters and interpreting lines. Not only were they asked to rehearse, perform and generally risk their reputations like everybody else, but they were asked to do all that just "for the experience."

They are Amy Hyde, Yuri Lane and Natalie Browne, our three Young Conservatory students who appeared in major supporting roles this season. To them we offer a hand, a heartfelt thank-you and, at last, an introduction.

"I want my glasses!" That's Louise. Spoiled. Precocious. Demanding. "I tried for just the right brattiness," explained Amy, speaking about her favorite number, "It's Hot Up Here." If that was her favorite part of the role, we asked, what did she find most difficult?

"Projecting. It's really tiring being loud all the time. And facing forward. I had to always remember to face forward."

Amy is no newcomer to performing. It was while she was in the acting class her mother teaches at AMADA, the Academy of Media and Theatrical Arts, that she heard about George auditions. She has also taken singing lessons for two years, as well as studying musical theatre in A.C.T.'s Young Conservatory.

In fact, she had already played the title role in Annie at her neighborhood Woodminster Theatre so the idea of a major stage role was not a shock. But what wasn't expecting, she said, was the time commitment.

If another role came, would she take it? Knowing it would mean doing more reports during rehearsals and backstage, she said, "If I didn't have to miss too much school."

Yuri Lane, whom audiences will remember as the wisecracking younger brother Steve Pollack in The Floating Light Bulb, is also no stranger to show business. "Uncle Russi" — my dad's twin brother — was a member of the old Committee comedy troupe, and I learned about acting from watching him do improv. And my dad said he knew I was a performer at two when I started dancing to his jazz records."

Now, at fifteen, Yuri (whose name is Japanese for lily) has appeared on the cover of Macy's Sunday supplement, in a national commercial for Kool-Aid Coolers, an international commercial for Pepsi-Cola Company and a Levi's For Kids commercial.

He got his start in modeling two and one-half years ago when he was cast on the first tryout an agency sent him to. He has since studied at A.C.T., acted in school productions and enrolled at San Francisco School for the Arts.

The son of Christopher Lane, a painter whose work has been exhibited at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art, and Eline van der Ende, both of San Francisco, Yuri said he enjoys modeling, though it's more like work now than play. He also said there have been some problems accompanying his success, like losing his best friend.

When Yuri explained to his friend that it shouldn't make any difference that his picture was in the paper, his friend didn't understand. "So I beat him up," said Yuri. "It was the only way to get him to stop teasing me."

For now, he prefers theatre over modeling. "When I'm eighteen, my goal is to INTRODUCING
AMY AND YURI
AND NATALIE
by Ralph Hoskins

As actors they faced challenges beyond the customary ones of finding objectives, building characters and interpreting lines. Not only were they asked to rehearse, perform and generally risk their reputations like everybody else, but they were asked to do all that just “for the experience.”

They are Amy Hyde, Yuri Lane and Natalie Browne, our three Young Conservatory students who appeared in major supporting roles this season. To them we offer a hand, a heartfelt thank-you and, at last, an introduction.

“I want my glasses!” That’s Louise. Spoiled. Precocious. Demanding. “I tried for just the right brattiness,” explained Amy, speaking about her favorite number, “It’s Hot Up Here.” If that was her favorite part of the role, we asked, what did she find most difficult?

“Projecting. It’s really tiring being loud all the time. And facing forward. I had to always remember to face forward.”

Amy is no newcomer to performing. It was while she was in the acting class her mother teaches at AMADA, the Academy of Media and Theatrical Arts, that she heard about George audition. She has also taken singing lessons for two years, as well as studying musical theatre in A.C.T.’s Young Conservatory.

In fact, she had already played the title role in Annie at her neighborhood Woodminster Theatre so the idea of a major stage role was not a shock. But what she wasn’t expecting, she said, was the time commitment.

If another role came, would she take it? Knowing it would mean doing more reports during rehearsals and backstage, she said, “If I didn’t have to miss too much school.”

Yuri Lane, whom audiences will remember as the wisecracking younger brother Steve Pollack in The Floating Light Bulb, is also no stranger to show business. “Uncle Rusdi” — my dad’s twin brother

Left-to-right: Amy Hyde, Yuri Lane and Natalie Browne.

— was a member of the old Committee comedy troupe, and I learned about acting from watching him do improv. And my dad said he knew I was a performer at two when I started dancing to his jazz records.”

Now, at fifteen, Yuri (whose name is Japanese for Lily) has appeared on the cover of Macy’s Sunday supplement, in a national commercial for Kool-Aid Coolers, an international commercial for Pepsi-Cola Company and a Levi’s for Kids commercial.

He got his start in modeling two and one-half years ago when he was cast on the first tryout an agency sent him to. He has since studied at A.C.T., acted in school productions and enrolled at San Francisco School for the Arts.

The son of Christopher Lane, a painter whose work has been exhibited at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art, and Eline van der Ende, both of San Francisco, Yuri said he enjoys modeling, though it’s more like work now than play. He also said there have been some problems accompanying his success, like losing his best friend.

When Yuri explained to his friend that it shouldn’t make any difference that his picture was in the paper, his friend didn’t understand. “So I beat him up,” said Yuri. “It was the only way to get him to stop teasing me.”

For now, he prefers theatre over modeling. “When I’m eighteen, my goal is to

ACT-3
WHO'S WHO AT A.C.T.

Hope Alexander-Willis joins the company to play the role of Arkadina in The Seagull, A San Francisco native, she started her career in 1964 as a member of the Actor's Workshop. She has appeared previously at A.C.T. as Dottie in Jumpers, Anita in Pier Gynt, Lucy Brown in Threepenny Opera and Miss Alice in Tiny Alice, among others, in addition to starring opposite Sir Michael Redgrave under Edward Hastings' direction in the national tour of Shakespeare's People. She has worked at the Actor's Theatre of Louisville, The Playmaker's Repertory Company, where she played Josie in Moon for the Misbegotten, and the Berkshire Repertory theatre where she appeared most recently as Maxine in Night of the Iguana, Lena in Misalliance, Rosalind in Gregory Boyd's As You Like It and Medea in Kabuki Medea, which won her a Bay Area Theatre Critics' Circle award in 1985. She has also had numerous guest star roles on network television and starred in the feature film The Pac. And most proudly, Ms. Alexander-Willis is the mother and friend of 7-year old Thorin Willis.

Richard Butterfield is a graduate of Stanford University; AB International Relations with honors. He attended the A.C.T. Advanced Training Program from 1982 through 1984. Mr. Butterfield returns this year to complete his M.F.A., teach vocal production in the Conservatory and act with the company. He was seen earlier this year as the Soldier in Sunday in the Park with George and as Young Scarlett in A Christmas Carol. He has worked in the Bay Area with the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival, where he was seen as Avarice in Lorca's Losar's Last, Thaisby in A Midsummer Night's Dream and Catesby in Richard III, among other roles. Mr. Butterfield acted with the Berkeley Jewish Theatre in its productions of Fiddler on the Roof and performed the role of Franklin Shepard in Theatrewerks' production of Sondheim's Merrily We Roll Along and recently worked with the San Jose Repertory Company in Up In Up. He will also be seen later this season in Faustus in Hell.

Peter Bradbury is a third year student in the Advanced Training Program. While a student at A.C.T., he performed the roles of Lear in King Lear, Moe Axelrod in Awake and Sing, Oscar Wolfe in The Royal Family, Andrei in The Three Sisters, Tartuffe in Tartuffe, and Feste in Twelfth Night. Most recently, he has performed the roles of Theseus in A Midsummer Night's Dream and Trebonius in Julius Caesar at the Utah Shakespearean Festival. In addition to his training at A.C.T., Mr. Bradbury received an A.B. in drama at Vassar College, where he appeared as Bo Decker in Bus Stop and the title roles in Oedipus Rex and Sappho. He also studied at the National Theatre Institute at the Eugene O'Neill Theatre Centre and with Morris Carnovsky. He will appear in The Seagull and Faustus in Hell later this season.

Joy Carlin, a director, trainer and actress with the A.C.T. company for many years.

THANKS TO YOU!
A.C.T. offers its heartfelt thanks to the thousands of subscribers and patrons who responded so generously to our direct mail and telephone fundraising campaign in December and January. Tax-deductible contributions totalling more than $200,000 were received from enthusiastic audience members throughout the Bay Area, enabling us to meet the winter campaign goal.
go to Juilliard to study acting, writing and art history.”
Natalie Browne also plans on college, maybe even Juilliard, but in her case the goal is soon to become reality. The seventeen-year-old senior at Crystal Springs Upland School in Hillsborough is not only involved with her work as Debbie in The Real Thing but is also busy applying to Yale, Brown, New York University and other Eastern universities, where she intends to combine acting with a liberal arts education.
Thoughtful and, in her own words “not very math or science oriented,” Natalie displays a beguiling quality that might explain her first attraction to acting: “I was watching Tina Louise play the movie star in Gilligan’s Island. I thought, wow, a movie star. What does that mean?”
Like our two other young stars, she has done her share of school productions, often in leading roles, but it wasn’t until she began studying at A.C.T., she said, that “I experienced the freeing aspect of theatre. Previously, it was all very competitive.”
The Real Thing is her first big break, though she has come close to success on move audits for Smooth Talk, Lucas and 68. With irony she recalls her one New York audition, “where I found child actors weren’t coddled like they are in California.”
Nevertheless, she’s heading east. “I think it’s important to be a well trained stage actor, but eventually I’d love to branch out.”
For Amy, Yuri and Natalie, that shouldn’t be a problem. They are no longer beginners, and we at A.C.T. feel fortunate that they made A.C.T. one of their earliest professional stops. Our very best wishes to each of them.

THANKS TO YOU!
A.C.T. offers its heartfelt thanks to the thousands of subscribers and patrons who responded so generously to our direct mail and telephone fundraising campaign in December and January. Tax-deductible contributions totaling more than $200,000 were received from enthusiastic audience members throughout the Bay Area, enabling us to meet the winter campaign goal.

PETER BRADBURY is a third year student in the Advanced Training Program. While a student at A.C.T., he performed the roles of Lear in King Lear, Moe Axelrod in A Night and Sing, Oscar Wolfe in The Royal Family, Andrei in The Three Sisters, Tartuffe in Tartuffe, and Feste in Twelfth Night. Most recently, he has performed the roles of Theseus in A Midsummer Night’s Dream and Trebonius at Julius Caesar at the Utah Shakespearean Festival. In addition to his training at A.C.T., Mr. Bradbury received an A.B. in drama at Vassar College, where he appeared as Bo Decker in Bus Stop and the title roles in Oedipus Rex and Sappho. He also studied at the National Theatre Institute at the Eugene O’Neill Theatre Centre and with Morris Carnovsky. He will appear in The Seagull and Faustus in Hell later this season.

HOPE ALEXANDER-WILLIS joins the company to play the role of Arkadina in The Seagull. A San Francisco native, she started her career in 1964 as a member of the Actor’s Workshop. She has appeared previously at A.C.T. as Dottie in Jumpers, Anita in Paj Pyg, Lucy Brown in Threepenny Opera and Miss Alice in Tiny Alice, among others, in addition to starring opposite Sir Michael Redgrave under Edward Hastings’ direction in the national tour of Shakespeare’s People. She has worked at the Actor’s Theatre of Louisville, The Playmaker’s Repertory Company, where she played Josie in Moon for the Misbegotten, and the Berkeley Repertory theatre where she appeared most recently as Maxine in Night of the Iguna, Lena in Misalliance, Rosalind in Gregory Boyd’s As You Like It and Medea in Kabuki Medea, which won her a Bay Area Theatre Critics’ Circle award in 1985. She has also had numerous guest star roles on network television and starred in the feature film The Back. And most proudly, Ms. Alexander-Willis is the mother and friend of 31-year old Thorin Willis.

RICHARD BUTTERFIELD is a graduate of Stanford University. AB International Relations with honors. He attended the A.C.T. Advanced Training Program from 1982 through 1984. Mr. Butterfield returns this year to complete his M.F.A., teach vocal production in the Conservatory and act with the company. He was seen earlier this year as the Soldier in Sunday in the Park with George and as Young Scrooge in A Christmas Carol. He has worked in the Bay Area with the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival, where he was seen as Navarre in Lovers’ Labors Lost, Thibby in A Midsummer Night’s Dream and Catesby in Richard III, among other roles. Mr. Butterfield acted with the Berkeley Jewish Theatre in its productions of Firethorn and Good, performed the role of Franklin Shepard in Theatreworx’s production of Sondheim’s Merrily We Roll Along and recently worked with the San Jose Repertory Company in Up It Up. He will also be seen later this season in Faustus in Hell.

JOY CARLIN a director, trainer and actress with the A.C.T. company for many years.
appeared in numerous productions, including the roles of Miss Prism in The Importance of Being Earnest, Kitty Dulav in The Time of Your Life, Bananas in The House of Blue Leaves, Aaa in Peer Gynt, Aunt Sally in All the Way Home, Birdie in The Little Foxes and Odile in Opéra Comique. She has been Resident Director and the Acting Artistic Director of the Berkeley Repertory Theatre where she directed Ainbew and Sing!, To Be True to Be Good, Beyond Therapy and The Diary of Anne Frank, in addition to performing such roles as Lady Wishfort in The Way of the World, Amanda in The Glass Menagerie, Gadsby in A Lesson From Alceo, Miss. Barzowskaya in The Cherry Orchard, Emily Dickinson in Belleve of Amherst and Margaret Fuller in the premiere of Carole Bravenmann’s *The Marg*aret* Ghost*. She has also appeared as Pope Joan in the Eureka Theatre’s production of Top Girls at the Marines’ Memorial Theatre. Her directing credits include The House of Bernarda Alba, The Lady’s Not For Burning and And The Doctor’s Dilemma at A.C.T. in addition to productions at the Berkeley Stage Company, Seattle’s Contemporary Theatre, the Oregon Shakespearean Festival and the San Jose Repertory Company. She is a member of the board of trustees of the Berkeley Jewish Theatre where she recently directed Cold Stone.

NANCY CARLIN returns to A.C.T. for her second season. She performed most recently with the Oregon Shakespearean festival, where she played Ariel in The Tempest, Lavinia in Titus Andronicus and Celia in As You Like It. A graduate of A.C.T.s Advanced Training Program, she joined the company in 1984 to play Hippolyta in A Midsummer Night’s Dream and Frida Feldal in John Gabriel Borkman. Other Bay Area credits include the title’s Daughter in The Two Noble Kinsmen and Helena in A Midsummer Night’s Dream at the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival, Griselda/Kit/Shauna in Top Girls and Eve in The Danae at the Eureka Theatre Company and the Nurse in Kathiki Mados at the Berkeley Repertory Theatre. She has also worked at the Berkeley Repertory Theatre in Santa Rosa and ACT6.

the Pacific Conservatory of the Performing Arts in Santa Maria where she played Myrtle Mae in Hurry. Miss Carlin received her B.A. in Comparative Literature from Brown University.

PETER DONAT joined A.C.T. in 1968. He was born in Nova Scotia, attended the Yale Drama School, toured extensively and recently completed his 7th season with Canada’s Stratford Shakespeare Festival, playing the Mayor in Ronald Eyre’s production of The Government Inspector. In New York, he has performed both off-and on Broadway, where he received the Theatre World Award for Best Featured Actor of 1975, and with Ellis Rabb’s legendary APA Repertory Company. At A.C.T., he has appeared in many productions, including The Merchant of Venice, Hamlet, The Cymbeline, Coriolanus, The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, A Doll’s House, Cyrano de Bergerac, Equus, Man and Superman, The Little Foxes, Uncle Vanya, Sleeping Prince, The School for Wives, Macbeth, Our Town and, last season, in Open Comique and The Lady’s Not For Burning. Mr. Donat starred in the NBC-TV series, Flamingo Road. His film credits include The Hindendog, The China Syndrome, A Different Story, Godfather II and The Bay Boy, opposite Liv Ullman.

MARK HARELIK is an actor and playwright who has performed extensively in theatre throughout the West. He does not wish to list his individual credits as he considers this unfair to his individual debuts.

ED HODSON studied in the Advanced Training Program at A.C.T. in New York City, he recently completed a national tour of Amadeus, playing Mozart under the direction of Roger Williams. He has performed in New York for the 29th St. Theatre Project in Hostile.

RICK HAMILTON was seen last season as Elroy in Private Lives and Humphrey Devise in Lady’s Not For Burning. He was a member of the A.C.T. company from 1973-1976, during which time he appeared in Desire Under the Elms (which toured the Soviet Union), General Sargeous, The Three Penny Opera and as Tamino in the widely acclaimed production of The Taming of the Shrew which was televised for the PBS series Theater in America. On Broadway, he was a member of the original cast of Amadeus. During his ten seasons with the Oregon Shakespearean Festival he played such roles as Benedict in * Much Ado About Nothing*, Tom in The Glass Menagerie, Hotspur in Henry IV, Part I, Marc Antony in Julius Caesar and Petruchio in The Taming of the Shrew. At the Dallas Shakespeare Festival he was seen as Berowne in Love’s Labour’s Lost and Fluellen in Henry V. He has also spent seasons performing with Milwaukee Repertory Theatre, The Alley Theatre and Los Angeles Theatre Center.

TIMOTHY GREER joins the company this year to appear in Sunday in the Park With George, A Christmas Carol and Twelfth Night. A three-year student in the Advanced Training Program, his studio performances include the role of Angelo in Measure for Measure, Friar Lawrence in Romeo and Juliet, Seton in Holiday and Jude Emerson in Lyric Brez. While a member of the Texas-based Park Boulevard Players, he appeared in Black comedy, Godspell, Once Upon a Mattress and The Misfit. Mr. Greer holds B.F.A. in acting from the University of Texas/Austin.

MARGARET KLEINCK is a graduate of A.C.T.’s two-year Advanced Training Program. Raised in uptown New York, she attended the National Ballet School of Canada and Kirkland College before coming to train as an actress at A.C.T., the only school to which she applied. Returning to New York upon graduation, she found work almost immediately on the soap opera One Life to Live and stayed to play Edwina for many years. Among her theatre credits are roles in Jalley’s Folly for Theatre in the Park in New York, Barbiere at the WilliamsTona Theatre Festival and Tamburlaine, which won a CBS drama playwriting award, at the Los Angeles Theatre Center. She is also a member of 29th St. Project, a New York City theatre collective. She recently starred as a social worker who intervenes on behalf of a juvenile delinquent in the critically praised feature film Hard Choices, a personal triumph for her and director Rick King. She has guest-starred frequently on nighttime television, including episodes of Tilligan’s World and Starman. Miss Kleinck maintains homes in New York and Los Angeles with her “Chap” cinematographer Thomas Hurwitz. appeared in numerous productions, including the roles of Miss Prism in The Importance of Being Earnest, Kitty Duval in The Time of Your Life, Banaans in The House of Blue Leaves, Aaa in Peer Gynt, Aunt Sally in All the Way Home, Birdie in The Little Foxes and Odile in Opera Comique. She has been Resident Director and the Acting Artistic Director of the Berkeley Repertory Theatre where she directed Awake and Sing!, Too True to Be Good, Beyond Therapy and The Diary of Anne Frank, in addition to performing such roles as Lady Wishfort in The Way of the World, Amanda in The Glass Menagerie, Gladys in A Lesson From Abee, Mme. Razenvskaya in The Cherry Orchard, Emily Dickinson in The Belle of Amherst and Margaret Fuller in the premiere of Carole Brammaner’s The Margaret Goseh. She has also appeared as Pope Joan in the Eureka Theatre’s production of Top Girls at the Marines’ Memorial Theatre. Her directing credits include The House of Bernarda Alba, The Lady’s Not For Burning and The Doctor’s Dilemma at A.C.T. in addition to productions at the Berkeley Stage Company, Seattle’s A Contemporary Theatre, the Oregon Shakespearean Festival and the San Jose Repertory Company. She is a member of the board of trustees of the Berkeley Jewish Theatre where she recently directed Cold Stone.

NANCY CARLIN returns to A.C.T. for her second season. She performed most recently with the Oregon Shakespearean festival, where she played Ariel in The Tempest, Lavinia in Titus Andronicus and Celia in As You Like It. A graduate of A.C.T.’s Advanced Training Program, she joined the company in 1984 to play Hippolyta in A Midsummer Night’s Dream and Frida Petal in John Gabriel Borkman. Other Bay Area credits include the Jailer’s Daughter in The Two Noble Kinsmen and Helena in A Midsummer Night’s Dream at the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival, Griselda/Kitty/Shana in Top Girls and Eve in The Danube at the Eureka Theatre Company and the Nurse in Kabuki Makes at the Berkeley Repertory Theatre. She has also worked at the Summer Repertory Theatre in Santa Rosa and ACT6.

the Pacific Conservatory of the Performing Arts in Santa Maria where she played Myrtle Mae in Harvey. Miss Carlin received her B.A. in Comparative Literature from Brown University.

PETER DONAT joined A.C.T. in 1968. He was born in Nova Scotia, attended the Yale Drama School, toured extensively and recently completed his 7th season with Canada’s Stratford Shakespeare Festival, playing the Mayor in Ronald Eyrie’s production of The Government Inspector. In New York, he has performed both off-and on Broadway, where he received the Theatre World Award for Best Featured Actor of 1957, and with Ellis Rabbit’s legendary APA Repertory Company. At A.C.T., he has appeared in many productions, including The Merchant of Venice, Hamlet, Othello, Oedipus, The Tempest and The Lady’s Not For Burning. Mr. Donat starred in the NBC-TV series, Flamingo Road. His film credits include The Hindenburg, The China Syndrome, A Different Story, Godfather II and The Bay Boy, opposite Liv Ullmann.

RICK HAMILTON was last seen as Eloy in Private Lives and Humphrey Devise in The Lady’s Not for Burning. He was a member of the A.C.T. company from 1973-1976, during which time he appeared in Desire Under the Ems (which toured the Soviet Union), General Sorgeous, The Three Penny Opera and as Tramino in the widely acclaimed production of The Taming of the Shrew, which was televised for the PBS series Thirteen. On Broadway, he was a member of the original cast of Amadeus. During his ten seasons with the Oregon Shakespearean Festival he played such roles as Benedick in Much Ado About Nothing, Tom in The Glass Menagerie, Hotspur in Henry IV, Portia in Julius Caesar and Petrocchio in The Taming of the Shrew. At the Dallas Shakespeare Festival he was seen as Berowne in Love’s Labour’s Lost and Fluellen in Henry V. He has also spent seasons performing with Milwaukee Repertory Theatre, The Alley Theatre and Los Angeles Theatre Center.

NANCY CARLIN returns to A.C.T. for her second season. She performed most recently with the Oregon Shakespearean festival, where she played Ariel in The Tempest, Lavinia in Titus Andronicus and Celia in As You Like It. A graduate of A.C.T.’s Advanced Training Program, she joined the company in 1984 to play Hippolyta in A Midsummer Night’s Dream and Frida Petal in John Gabriel Borkman. Other Bay Area credits include the Jailer’s Daughter in The Two Noble Kinsmen and Helena in A Midsummer Night’s Dream at the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival, Griselda/Kitty/Shana in Top Girls and Eve in The Danube at the Eureka Theatre Company and the Nurse in Kabuki Makes at the Berkeley Repertory Theatre. She has also worked at the Summer Repertory Theatre in Santa Rosa and ACT6.

the Pacific Conservatory of the Performing Arts in Santa Maria where she played Myrtle Mae in Harvey. Miss Carlin received her B.A. in Comparative Literature from Brown University.

PETER DONAT joined A.C.T. in 1968. He was born in Nova Scotia, attended the Yale Drama School, toured extensively and recently completed his 7th season with Canada’s Stratford Shakespeare Festival, playing the Mayor in Ronald Eyrie’s production of The Government Inspector. In New York, he has performed both off-and on Broadway, where he received the Theatre World Award for Best Featured Actor of 1957, and with Ellis Rabbit’s legendary APA Repertory Company. At A.C.T., he has appeared in many productions, including The Merchant of Venice, Hamlet, Othello, Oedipus, The Tempest and The Lady’s Not For Burning. Mr. Donat starred in the NBC-TV series, Flamingo Road. His film credits include The Hindenburg, The China Syndrome, A Different Story, Godfather II and The Bay Boy, opposite Liv Ullmann.

RICK HAMILTON was last seen as Eloy in Private Lives and Humphrey Devise in The Lady’s Not for Burning. He was a member of the A.C.T. company from 1973-1976, during which time he appeared in Desire Under the Ems (which toured the Soviet Union), General Sorgeous, The Three Penny Opera and as Tramino in the widely acclaimed production of The Taming of the Shrew, which was televised for the PBS series Thirteen. On Broadway, he was a member of the original cast of Amadeus. During his ten seasons with the Oregon Shakespearean Festival he played such roles as Benedick in Much Ado About Nothing, Tom in The Glass Menagerie, Hotspur in Henry IV, Portia in Julius Caesar and Petrocchio in The Taming of the Shrew. At the Dallas Shakespeare Festival he was seen as Berowne in Love’s Labour’s Lost and Fluellen in Henry V. He has also spent seasons performing with Milwaukee Repertory Theatre, The Alley Theatre and Los Angeles Theatre Center.

MARK HARELIK is an actor and playwright who has performed extensively in theatre throughout the West. He does not wish to list his individual credits as he considers this unfair to his individual debuts.

ED HODSON studied in the Advanced Training Program at A.C.T. A resident of New York City, he recently completed a national tour of Amadeus, playing Mozart under the direction of Roger Williams. He has performed in New York for the 29th St. Theatre Project in Hostile Witness and Jamie’s Gang, for the Shakespeare Studio in Under Distant Skies and for Van Dam Theatre in 800. He was also seen in New York productions of Denon on the Funny Farm, Journey’s End and Blue Dahlia. Locally, he has worked at the Eureka Theatre Company, appearing in Fen, Landscape of the Body and A Narrow Bed, in addition to appearing at the Western Stage and in several A.C.T. studio productions. Mr. Hodson appears as Brodie in Edward Hastings’ production of The Real Thing.

MARGARET KLECK is a graduate of A.C.T.’s two-year Advanced Training Program. Raised in upstate New York, she attended the National Ballet School of Canada and Kirkland College before coming to train as an actress at A.C.T., the only school to which she applied. Returning to New York upon graduation, she found work almost immediately on the soap opera “One Life to Live” and stayed to play Edwina for many years. Among her theatre credits are roles in Talley’s Folly for Theatre in the Park in New York, Barbiere in the Williamsport Theatre Festival and Tambourine, which won a CBS drama playwriting award, at the Los Angeles Theatre Center. She is also a member of 29th St. Project, a New York City theatre collective. She recently starred as a social worker who intervenes on behalf of a jilted delinquent in the critically praised feature film Hard Choices, a personal triumph for her and director Rick King. She has guest-starred frequently on nighttime television, including episodes of “Twilight Zone” and “Starman.” Miss Kleck maintains homes in New York and Los Angeles with her “Chap” cinematographer Thomas Hurwitz.

MARK HARELIK is an actor and playwright who has performed extensively in theatre throughout the West. He does not wish to list his individual credits as he considers this unfair to his individual debuts.

ED HODSON studied in the Advanced Training Program at A.C.T. A resident of New York City, he recently completed a national tour of Amadeus, playing Mozart under the direction of Roger Williams. He has performed in New York for the 29th St. Theatre Project in Hostile Witness and Jamie’s Gang, for the Shakespeare Studio in Under Distant Skies and for Van Dam Theatre in 800. He was also seen in New York productions of Denon on the Funny Farm, Journey’s End and Blue Dahlia. Locally, he has worked at the Eureka Theatre Company, appearing in Fen, Landscape of the Body and A Narrow Bed, in addition to appearing at the Western Stage and in several A.C.T. studio productions. Mr. Hodson appears as Brodie in Edward Hastings’ production of The Real Thing.

MARGARET KLECK is a graduate of A.C.T.’s two-year Advanced Training Program. Raised in upstate New York, she attended the National Ballet School of Canada and Kirkland College before coming to train as an actress at A.C.T., the only school to which she applied. Returning to New York upon graduation, she found work almost immediately on the soap opera “One Life to Live” and stayed to play Edwina for many years. Among her theatre credits are roles in Talley’s Folly for Theatre in the Park in New York, Barbiere in the Williamsport Theatre Festival and Tambourine, which won a CBS drama playwriting award, at the Los Angeles Theatre Center. She is also a member of 29th St. Project, a New York City theatre collective. She recently starred as a social worker who intervenes on behalf of a jilted delinquent in the critically praised feature film Hard Choices, a personal triumph for her and director Rick King. She has guest-starred frequently on nighttime television, including episodes of “Twilight Zone” and “Starman.” Miss Kleck maintains homes in New York and Los Angeles with her “Chap” cinematographer Thomas Hurwitz.
Nordli holds a Bachelor of Music Education from the University of Tulsa.

FREDI OLSTER returns to A.C.T. having appeared last season as Amanda in Private Lives and Jennet Joudermayne in The Lady's Not For Burning. She was a member of the A.C.T. company from 1973-76, during which time she portrayed Kate in the award-winning production of The Time of The Shrew; which was televised for the PBS series "Theatre In America." She was also seen in The Ruling Class, Merry Wives of Windsor, House of Bernarda Alba and Euryan. At the Oregon Shakespearean Festival, where she spent five seasons, her roles included Beatrice in Much Ado About Nothing, Portia in The Merchant of Venice, Billie Dawn in Born Yesterday and the title roles in Miss Julie and Anouilh's Antigone. She has been a member of the companies of the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre, Long Wharf Theatre, Hartman Theatre and Alley Theatre. Her television credits include guest appearances on "Cagney and Lacey," "The Lou Grant Show" and "The Quest!"

STEPHEN ROCKWELL joins the company this year as a third-year student in the Advanced Training Program. For the past two years he has appeared in several A.C.T. studio productions, including The Three Sisters as Chebatukyn, King Lear as Edgar, Tartuff as Orgon, "Ah, Wilderness" as Nat Miller and for Egg as Freddie. Last summer at the Valley Shakespeare Festival he performed the roles of Cratinus in The Merchant of Venice and the Duke in Don Quixote. A graduate of Vassar College with an A.B. in Drama, he has also worked for the Peterborough Players in New Hampshire, the Quahog Theatre in New York City, and at Playwrights Horizons, where he served as an assistant stage manager under director James Lapine in the first production of March of the Falsettos. Mr. Rockwell will also appear in The Seagull and Faustus in Hell later this season.

William Paterson is now in his 20th season with A.C.T., having joined the company in 1967 to play James Tyrone in Long Day's Journey into Night. A graduate of Brown University, Mr. Paterson served in the army for four years before starting his professional acting career in a summer stock company. He appeared for at least part of every season for twenty years at the Cleveland Play House, taking time out for live television, films and four national tours with his own one-man shows which he has performed in 32 states of the Union and at the U.S. Embassy in London. His major roles for winning Broadway production The Elephant Man in 1980. He was also an original member of the company Sir Tyrone Guthrie chose for the theatre he founded in Minnesota, acting for 12 seasons and serving as associate director for two years under Michael Langham. He was responsible for Guthrie Theatre productions of A Streetcar Named Desire, Doctor Faustus and La Ronde, which he both translated and adapted. At San Diego's Old Globe Theatre, he played roles ranging from King Lear to Bot- tom and directed a variety of productions, including the 1979 award-winning production of A Comedy of Errors. For the Los Angeles Music Center, he appeared in the Ahmanson Theatre productions of Saint Joan and A Man For All Seasons and the Mark Taper Forum's American Clock, Wild Oats, Molly Dick Rehearsed and Measure for Measure, in addition to direct- ing the award-winning production of Tom Stoppard's adaptation of Arthur Schnitzler's Undiscovered Country. While serving as associ- ate artistic director of the Arizona Theatre Company from 1984 to 1986, he directed the western premieres of 'night, Mother and The Real Thing, as well as playing the title role in last season's nationally acclaimed production of Galileo by Bertolt Brecht. In addition to his association with most of the nation's leading resident theatres, he has appeared in the Broadway productions of Inherit the Wind, Separate Tables, Duel of Angels, Rain and The Three Sisters, as well as off-Broadway with the Phoenix and Circle- in-the-Square companies.

Jack Shearer makes his first appearance with A.C.T. as Shemonsky in The Seagull. He appeared most recently in the Magic Theatre production Aunt Dan and Lemon as Father/Fred- die/Jasper. He appeared previously with the Magic as Carl Jung in The Couch, Levi in Fire at Luna Park, Zeus in Europa and Miscon Rosh in The Man Who Killed Buddha. He was also seen in recent productions at the Eureka Theatre with A.C.T. for six consecu- tive seasons thereafter. He returned in 1982 to direct Loot after starring in the Tony Award-
Nordli holds a Bachelor of Music Education from the University of Tulsa.

FREDI OLSTER returns to A.C.T. having appeared last season as Amanda in Private Lives and Jennet Jourdainmyne in The Lady's Not For Burning. She was a member of the A.C.T. company from 1973-76, during which time she portrayed Kate in the award-winning production of The Timings of The Shrew; which was televised for the PBS series "Theatre In America." She was also seen in The Ruling Class, Merry Wives of Windsor, House of Bernarda Alba and Equus. At the Oregon Shakespearean Festival, where she spent five seasons, her roles included Beatrice in Much Ado About Nothing, Portia in The Merchant of Venice, Billie Dawn in Born Yesterday and the title roles in Miss Julie and Anouillh's Antigone. She has been a member of the companies of the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre, Long Wharf Theatre, Hartman Theatre and Alley Theatre. Her television credits include guest appearances on "Cagney and Lacy", "The Lou Grant Show" and "The Quest!"

STEPHEN ROCKWELL joins the company this year as a third-year student in the Advanced Training Program. For the past two years he has appeared in several A.C.T. studio productions, including The Three Sisters as Chebukrykin, King Lear as Edgar, Tartuffe as Orgon, Ah Wilderness as Nat Miller and for Egg as Freddie. Last summer at the Valley Shakespeare Festival he performed the roles of Gratiano in The Merchant of Venice and the Duke in Don Quixote. A graduate of Vassar College with an A.B. in Drama, he has also worked for the Peterborough Players in New Hampshire, the Quaigh Theatre in New York City, and at Playwrights Horizons, where he served as an assistant stage manager under director James Lapine in the first production of March of the Falterers. Mr. Rockwell will also appear in The Seagull and Faustus in Hell later this season.

ROBIN GOODRIN NORDLI is a third year student in the Advanced Training Program. She joins the company this year to appear in A Christmas Carol, The Seagull and Faustus in Hell. Last summer she performed at the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival as Phoebe in As You Like It, Virginia in Coriolanus and Ariel in The Tempest. Her Shakespearean experience came with her appearances at the Valley Shakespeare Festival as Helena in A Midsummer Night's Dream and Silva in Two Gentlemen of Verona. While a student at A.C.T., she appeared in Twelfth Night, King Lear, Hay Fever, Tartuffe and The Three Sisters. She has also worked at the BoxWay Theatre and Lambs Theatre in California, and at the Gaslight Dinner Theatre and Theatre Tulsa in Oklahoma. Miss ACT-8

WILLIAM PATerson is now in his 20th season with A.C.T., having joined the company in 1967 to play James Tyrone in Long Day's Journey into Night. A graduate of Brown University, Mr. Paterson served in the army for four years before starting his professional acting career in a summer stock company. He appeared for at least part of every season for twenty years at the Cleveland Play House, taking time out for live television, films and four national tours with his own one-man shows which he has performed in 32 states of the Union and at the U.S. Embassy in London. His major roles for winning Broadway production The Elephant Man in 1980. He was also an original member of the company Sir Tyrone Guthrie chose for the theatre he founded in Minnesota, acting for 12 seasons and serving as associate director for two years under Michael Langham. He was responsible for Guthrie Theatre productions of A Streetcar Named Desire, Doctor Faustus and La Ronde, which he both translated and adapted. At San Diego's Old Globe Theatre, he played roles ranging from King Lear to Bot- tom and directed a variety of productions, including the 1979 award-winning production of A Comedy of Errors. For the Los Angeles Music Center, he appeared in the Ahmanson Theatre productions of Saint Joan and A Man For All Seasons and the Mark Taper Forum's American Clock, Wild Oats, Molly Dick Rehearsed and Measure for Measure, in addition to directing the award-winning production of Tom Stoppard's adaptation of Arthur Schnitzler's Undiscovered Country. While serving as associ- ate artistic director of the Arizona Theatre Company from 1984 to 1986, he directed the Western premieres of 'Night, Mother and The Real Thing, as well as playing the title role in last season's nationally acclaimed production of Galilee by Bertolt Brecht. In addition to his association with most of the nation's leading resident theatres, he has appeared in the Broadway productions of Inherit the Wind, Separate Tables, Duel of Angels, Rain and The Three Sisters, as well as off-Broadway with the Phoenix and Circle- in-the-Square companies.

KEN RUTA was an original member of the company that opened at the Geary Theatre in 1967 and appeared with A.C.T. for six consecu- tive seasons thereafter. He returned in 1982 to direct Loot after starring in the Tony Award- winning Broadway production The Elephant Man in 1980. He was also an original member of the company Sir Tyrone Guthrie chose for the theatre he founded in Minnesota, acting for 12 seasons and serving as associate director for two years under Michael Langham. He was responsible for Guthrie Theatre productions of A Streetcar Named Desire, Doctor Faustus and La Ronde, which he both translated and adapted. At San Diego's Old Globe Theatre, he played roles ranging from King Lear to Bot- tom and directed a variety of productions, including the 1979 award-winning production of A Comedy of Errors. For the Los Angeles Music Center, he appeared in the Ahmanson Theatre productions of Saint Joan and A Man For All Seasons and the Mark Taper Forum's American Clock, Wild Oats, Molly Dick Rehearsed and Measure for Measure, in addition to directing the award-winning production of Tom Stoppard's adaptation of Arthur Schnitzler's Undiscovered Country. While serving as associ- ate artistic director of the Arizona Theatre Company from 1984 to 1986, he directed the Western premieres of 'Night, Mother and The Real Thing, as well as playing the title role in last season's nationally acclaimed production of Galilee by Bertolt Brecht. In addition to his association with most of the nation's leading resident theatres, he has appeared in the Broadway productions of Inherit the Wind, Separate Tables, Duel of Angels, Rain and The Three Sisters, as well as off-Broadway with the Phoenix and Circle- in-the-Square companies.

“ACT-9”
eren actor who has appeared on both coasts and abroad, Mr. Shreer has worked locally with the San Jose Repertory Company, the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival and the Berkeley Stage Company. He won a Bay Area Theatre Critics' Circle award for his performance as a Song and Dance Man in Somberset.

KEN SONKIN joins the company this year to appear in A Christmas Carol and to teach in the Advanced Training Program, from which he graduated in 1984 following studio performances as Luka in The Lower Depths, Ben Cart in Look Homeward, Angel and Feete in ToothF Night. At Allen Fletcher's invitation, he traveled to the Denver Center Theatre Company, appearing in Fletcher's production of Hamlet and Laert Williamson's Pericles, as well as creating the role of Tommy in Lahr and Mercedes by James McClure. He has recently acted and directed for the Pacific Theatre Ensemble in Los Angeles, where his mime/magic act also headlined at the Playboy Club for three months. As a mime/magician, he has performed for the Queen of England, was voted best #1 street performer of San Francisco and has worked with such acts as Red Skelton, Pat Paulsen and Tommy and Marie Osmond. He serves as magic consultant for The Floating Light Bulb.

HOWARD SWAIN came to San Francisco in 1976 from the University of Idaho. Following a tour with the New Shakespeare Company he worked with the Magic Theatre, Eureka Theatre, One Act Theatre, San Francisco Repertory Company and Overtone Theatre. In 1982 he joined the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival and has also performed for the Berkeley Jewish Theatre, San Jose Repertory Company and the Berkeley Repertory Theatre where he appeared as Crow in The Tooth of Crime, receiving a Bay Area Critics' Circle Award for best performance in a musical. He joins the company following Oregon Shakespearean Festival productions of As You Like It, Three Penny Opera and The Tempest as Caliban. Mr. Swain's other credits include roles in Partners in Crime and Hill St. Blues on network television, as well as the upcoming film Cherry 2000. He is happy to be back in San Francisco and is especially honored to be working with A.C.T.

SYDNEY WALKER is a forty-year veteran of stage, film and television, having performed in some 216 productions since 1946. The Philadelphia native trained with Jasper Deer at the Hedgerow Theatre in Moylan, Pennsylvania, and from 1963 to 1969 was a leading actor with the APA Repertory Company in New York City under the direction of Ellis Rabb. He also appeared for three seasons with the Lincoln Center Repertory Company under Jules Irving. In 1978, Mr. Walker joined A.C.T. and has since performed in forty-eight productions including The Matchmaker (U.S.R.B. tour), Peer Gynt, The Circle, The National Health, A Christmas Carol, The Chalk Garden, Lost, Angels Fall, The School for Wives and Translations. He has appeared on television in such serials as The Guiding Light and The Secret Storm, acted in the film Love Story, and performed the voice of Papa Ewok in the television movie, The Ewok Adventure. Mr. Walker was narrator for the KQED-TV series New York Master Chefs and teaches Auditioning in A.C.T.'s Conservatory.

LANNYL STEPHENS is a new company member and a third year student in the Advanced Training Program. While at A.C.T., she performed in studio productions as Olga in Three Sisters, Dorine in Tartuffe, Gomeril in King Lear and Marta Boll in The Physicists. She has appeared most recently as Sister in Paul Bernstein's Looking in the Dark For, directed by Robert Woodruff at the Bay Area Playwrights Festival ACTB.

J. STEVIE WHITE has been with A.C.T. for ten seasons, in a variety of capacities. He has excelled as an actor, teacher, choreographer, administrator and director. Mr. White traveled with A.C.T. to the Soviet Union in 1976 and to Japan in 1979, and spent last season at the Denver Center Theatre Company as Acting Conservatory Director. As an actor, he is a veteran of twenty-seven A.C.T. productions; as a teacher and administrator, he has been active in A.C.T.'s Conservatory, most recently as director of the 1984 Summer Training Congress. He is currently Dean of Academic Affairs in the Conservatory, in addition to teaching stage combat. Mr. White has been the fight choreographer for sixty-one productions, including the San Francisco Ballet's production of Romeo and Juliet, directed by Michael Smuin, and A.C.T.'s Cyrano de Bergerac. His directing credits include the Valley Shakespeare Festival production of Count of Monte Cristo at the Paul Masson Winery; six A.C.T. Playroom productions, most recently Uncle Vanya; and the Western Stage Company's The Heiress in Salinas.

KEVIN HAN YEE makes his first appearance at A.C.T. as Medvedenko in The Seagull. He may be remembered by filmgoers for his role as Paul Pang in A Great Wall, the first American feature film shot in the People's Republic of China. But people who like to laugh see him regularly as a founding member of the award winning improvisational group The National Theater of the Deranged. As a stage actor, he performed the role of Reynolds in last season's 007: Cristine at the San Jose Repertory Company and originated the part of Victor in Ken Po, which premiered at the 8th Bay Area Playwrights Festival. Mr. Yee is a member of the Asian-American Theater Company and has performed in their production of F.O.B. as Dale, which also toured. Paper Angels as Lew and Golden Lantern as Tommy Lee. In addition, he appeared in Intake-Outtake II and understood both roles in The Dance and the Railroad. Most recently, he hosted the Bruce Lee Special on KTVU. His other television credits include KQED's Chinese New Year Year of the Ox Telecast, KRON's Buster and Me and local commercials.

MAUD WINCHESTER recently performed in Wallace Shawn's controversial Aunt Dan and Lemon, playing the role of Lemon in the opening production of the Magic Theatre's twentieth season. Her other plays with the Magic include Genius, directed by Albert Takacs, for which she won Drama-Louge and Bay Area Theatre Critics' Circle Awards, Sister Joseph and Sisters. On the East Coast, she has worked Off- Off- and Off-Broadway, most recently with Women's Interart and the Harvard/Radcliffe Summer Theatre. In the Cannes Award-winning feature film Birdy, she played the character of Doris Robinson. Ms. Winchester has trained at both the Summer Training Congress and the Young Conservatory at A.C.T.
eran actor who has appeared on both coasts and abroad, Mr. Shearer has worked locally with the San Jose Repertory Company, the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival and the Berkeley Stage Company. He won a Bay Area Theatre Critics' Circle award for his performance as a Son and Dance Man in The End.

KEN SONKIN joins the company this year to appear in A Christmas Carol and to teach in the Advanced Training Program, from which he graduated in 1984 following studio performances as Luka in The Lower Depths, Ben Cant in Look Homeward, Angel and Feste in Twelfth Night. At Allen Fletcher's invitation, he traveled to the Denver Center Theatre Company, appearing in Fletcher's production of Hamlet and Laird Williamson's Pericles, as well as creating the role of Tommy in Lahr and Mercedes by James McClure. He has recently acted and directed for the Pacific Theatre Ensemble in Los Angeles, where his mime/magic act also headlined at the Playboy Club for three months. As a mime/magician, he has performed for the Queen of England, was voted best #1 street performer of San Francisco and has worked with such acts as Red Skelton, Pat Paulsen and Jimmy and Marie Osmond. He serves as magic consultant for The Floating Light Bulb.

HOWARD SWAIN came to San Francisco in 1976 from the University of Idaho. Following a tour with the New Shakespeare Company he worked with the Magic Theatre, Eureka Theatre, One Act Theatre, San Francisco Repertory Company and Overtone Theatre. In 1982 he joined the Berkeley Shakespeare Festival and has also performed for the Berkeley Jewish Theatre, San Jose Repertory Company and the Berkeley Repertory Theatre where he appeared as Crow in The Teeth of Crime, receiving a Bay Area Critics' Circle Award for best performance in a musical. He joins the company following Oregon Shakespearean Festival productions of As You Like It, Three Penny Opera and The Tempest as Caliban. Mr. Swain's other credits include roles in Partners in Crime and Hill St. Blues on network television, as well as the upcoming film Cherry 2000. He is happy to be back in San Francisco and is especially honored to be working with A.C.T.

J. STEVIE WHITE has been with A.C.T. for ten seasons, in a variety of capacities. He has excelled as an actor, teacher, choreographer, administrator and director. Mr. White traveled with A.C.T. to the Soviet Union in 1976 and to Japan in 1979, and spent last season at the Denver Center Theatre Company as Acting Conservatory Director. As an actor, he is a veteran of twenty-seven A.C.T. productions: as a teacher and administrator, he has been active in A.C.T.'s Conservatory, most recently as director of the 1984 Summer Training Congress. He is currently Dean of Academic Affairs in the Conservatory, in addition to teaching stage combat. Mr. White has been the fight choreographer for sixty-one productions, including the San Francisco Ballet's production of Roméo et Juliette, directed by Michael Smuin, and A.C.T.'s Cyra de Breguac. His directing credits include the Valley Shakespeare Festival production of Auntie Mame, Crisis at the Paul Masson Winery; six A.C.T. Playroom productions, most recently Uncle Vanya; and the Western Stage Company's The Hostage in Salinas.

LANNYL STEPHENS is a new company member and a third year student in the Advanced Training Program. While at A.C.T., she performed in studio productions as Olga in Three Sisters, Dorine in Tartuffe, Goneril in King Lear and Marta Boll in The Physicists. She has appeared most recently as Sister in Paul Bernstein's Looking in the Dark For, directed by Robert Woodruff at the Bay Area Playwrights Festival ACTB

SYDNEY WALKER is a forty-year veteran of stage, film and television, having performed in some 216 productions since 1946. The Philadelphia native trained with Jasper Deeter at the Hedgerow Theatre in Myl MEM, Pennsylvania, and from 1963 to 1969 was a leading actor with the APA Repertory Company in New York City under the direction of Ellis Rabb. He also appeared for three seasons with the Lincoln Center Repertory Company under last summer. A graduate of the University of Hawaii/Austin with a B.A. in Drama, Miss Stephens has also appeared at the Golden Spike Repertory Theatre, the University of Texas Summer Repertory Theatre and in several university mainstage productions.

MAUD WINCHESTER recently performed in Wallace Shawn's controversial Aunt Dan and Lemon, playing the role of Lemon in the opening production of the Magic Theatre's twentieth season. Her other plays with the Magic include Genius, directed by Albert Takacs, for which she won Drama-Lounge and Bay Area Theatre Critics' Circle Awards, Sister Joseph and Sisters. On the East Coast, she has worked Off- and Off-Broadway, most recently with Women's Intarart and the Hartford/Radcliffe Summer Theatre. In the Cannes Award-winning feature film Birdy, she played the character of Doris Robinson. Ms. Winchester has trained at both the Summer Training Congress and the Young Conservatory at A.C.T.

KEVIN HAN YEE makes his first appearance at A.C.T. as Medvedenko in The Seagull. He may be remembered by filmgoers for his role as Paul Pang in A Great Wall, the first American feature film shot in the People's Republic of China. But people who like to laugh see him regularly as a founding member of the award-winning improvisational group The National Theater of the Deranged. As a stage actor, he performed the role of Reynolds in last season's *I'll Cry at the San Jose Repertory Company and originated the part of Victor in Jen Ken Po, which premiered at the 8th Bay Area Playwrights Festival. Mr. Yee is a member of the Asian-American Theater Company and has performed in their production of FOB. as Dale, which also toured. Paper Angels as Lew and Golden Lantern as Tommy Lee. In addition, he appeared in Intake-Outside II and understudied both roles in The Dance and the Railroad. Most recently, he hosted the Bruce Lee Special on KTVU. His other television credits include QED's Chinese New Year — Year of the Ox Telecast, KRON's Buster and Me and local commercials.

Jules Irving. In 1978, Mr. Walker joined A.C.T. and has since performed in forty-eight productions including The Matchmaker (U.S.R.B. tour), Petr Guent, The Circle, The National Health, A Christmas Carol, The Chalk Garden, Lux, Angels Fall, The School for Wives and Translations. He has appeared on television in such serials as The Guiding Light and The Secret Storm, acted in the film Love Story, and performed the voice of Iapa Ewok in the television movie, The Ewok Adventure. Mr. Walker was narrator for the KQED TV series New York Master Chefs and teaches Auditioning in A.C.T.'s Conservatory.
EDWARD HASTINGS (Artistic Director), a graduate of Yale College and the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, is a founding member of A.C.T. whose productions of Charley's Aunt and Our Town were seen during the company's first two San Francisco seasons. Since then, the company has mounted many shows for A.C.T. since 1965, including The Time of Your Life, The House of Blue Leaves, All the Way Home and Fifth of July. In 1972, he founded the A.C.T. Plays-in-Progress and A.C.T. knocked About the production of new writing. During the summer of 1985, Mr. Hastings served as a resident director at the Yale University Drama Theatre Conference in Connecticut and taught acting in 1984 at the Shanghai Drama Institute as part of the Theatre Bridge Program between A.C.T. and the Shanghai Theatre. Off-Broadway, he co-produced The Satinists of Mergy Kerpec and Epitaph for George Dillon and directed the national company of The Mystery of Edwin Drood, an attorney. They have two children.

LAWRENCE HECHT (Conservatory Director) continues this year as head of A.C.T.'s Advanced Training Program. In addition to staging such A.C.T. productions as The Dolly, Translations and 'night, Mother, he has also served as resident director and Director of Actor Training for the Pacific Northwest Company of the Performing Arts in Santa Maria, California, where his directing credits include Harvey, Major Barbara and Bus Stop. This will be Mr. Hecht's 25th season with A.C.T. A graduate of the University of San Francisco and A.C.T.'s Advanced Training Program, Mr. Hecht has directed in four of A.C.T.'s Play in Progress Series and is an instructor in the Advanced Training Program. He is also a member of the acting company roster in more than 25 productions with A.C.T. including The National Health, The Visit, Buried Child, Night and Day, The Three Sisters, Happy Landings, The Holiday and Sunday in the Park With George.

DENNIS POWERS (Communications Director) joined A.C.T. in 1967, after six years at the New England Drama Laboratory as the Director of Public Relations, where he was building, directing and extensive experience in the communications field, he is A.C.T.'s chief administrative and financial advisor. In addition, as senior vice president of managing director, he is serving as A.C.T.'s Press Representative, he became General Director William Ball's executive assistant and, later, Dramaturg and Artistic Director. He has served for two years as deputy director of the California Arts Council, overseeing the awarding of $14 million in grants to more than 800 artists and arts institutions. From 1979 through 1983, he headed John Huston's Communications in Lander, WY. In the late 1970s, he spent three seasons at Los Angeles' Mark Taper Forum, where he produced and directed several plays that directed his major stage. His work in films includes educational projects, three special films for National Geographic and a dramatization of commercial features. He was a member of the Advisory Board for last June's San Francisco New Vaudeville Festival and, in association with the Magic Theatre, produced The Detective, a collaboration between Joseph Chalkin and Vaudeville Nouveau, in 1985. Among his writings are the National Outdoor Leadership School's Wilderness Guide, published by Simon and Schuster in 1983, and numerous articles for major magazines and newspapers. He is a member of the California Theatre Council, an attorney. They have two children.

ROSALIND PRICE (Associate Director) was born in San Francisco and grew up in the city. She has been with A.C.T. since 1965, when she began as a stage manager. She is now the head of the company's administrative staff, which includes the box office, human resources, marketing and development departments. She has been instrumental in the growth of A.C.T. and has played a key role in the company's financial success. She is a graduate of the University of California, Berkeley, with a degree in English. She has been married for 20 years to playwright John Logan, with whom she has two children, ages 10 and 7. She is currently working on a new play called "The Mirror Pool."
EDWARD HASTINGS (Artistic Director), a graduate of Yale College and the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, is a founding member of A.C.T. whose productions of Charley's Aunt and Our Town were seen during the company's first two San Francisco seasons, has staged many shows for A.C.T. since 1965, including The Time of Your Life, The House of Blue Leaves, All the Way Home and Fifth of July. In 1972, he founded the A.C.T. Plays-in-Progress Group and A.C.T. About A Life and directed all of its productions. His work in films includes educational projects, three special films for the National Association of Broadcasters, and commercial features. He was a member of the Advisory Board for last June's San Francisco New Vaudeville Festival and, in association with the Magic Theatre, produced The Detective, a collaboration between Joseph Chalkin and Vaudeville Nouveau, in 1985. Among his writings are The National Outdoor Leadership School's Wilderness Guide, published by Simon and Schuster in 1983, and numerous articles for major magazines and newspapers. He is a member of the state bar of California, an attorney. They have two children.

LAWRENCE HECHT (Conservatory Director) continues this year as head of A.C.T.'s Advanced Training Program. In addition to staging such A.C.T. productions as The Dolly, Translations and 'right, Mother, he has also served as resident director and Director of Actor Training for the Pacific Repertory Theatre, the Tempest for the Performing Arts in Santa Maria, California, where his directing credits include Harvey, Major Bar- tons and Bus Stop. This will be Mr. Hecht's 15th season with A.C.T. A graduate of the University of San Francisco and A.C.T.'s Advanced Training Program, Mr. Hecht has also served as an actor with the Playhouse-in-Progress Series and is an instructor in the Advanced Training Program. He is also a member of the acting company of Heartbreak House for the Yale Repertory Theatre, directed and played the leading role of Hector Nations in Farfra with the Missouri Repertory Company and directed and played two leading roles in the 1986-1987 Season with the Hartford Stage Company. He played the Doctor in The Three Sisters and Ernest in Bedroom Farce for the Hartford Stage Company, Box Mangin in the Tennessee Williams Production of the University of Iowa Repertory Theatre, and performed the leading role in Ronald Harwood's new play Tramway Road for Lucille Lortel. Mr. Hecht is especially glad to be renewing a long association with the works of Anton Chekhov. Apart from having directed or acted leading roles in all five major plays, it was here in A.C.T. that he was first introduced to director Laurence Albinson, Long Live Life, received its world premiere with Ken Ruton as Antus. He was of the Geoffrey stage, was chosen as the main presentation to celebrate Stanislavsky's centenary in 1963. On that occasion the Moscow Art Theatre toured the world, both the British and Soviet Union and Mr. Hecht was made an honorary member of that great institution.

CHERRY ORCHARD and The Bourgeois Gentleman, Willis D. Hall as V Funeral Director, he adapted A Christmas Carol for the stage, and the production has been presented annually by A.C.T. since 1976. As Director of Communications, he provides writing and editorial supervision for several departments as well as working with Artistic Director Edward Hastings on season planning, play selection and all other matters. His 1975 dramatization of Dracula was premiered at the Pacific Conservatory of the Performing Arts and subsequently produced by some thirty theatres and schools. In 1985, he and Williamson wrote Christmas Miracles, which had its world premiere at the Denver Center Theatre Company. Both Cherry Orchard and A Christmas Carol have been adapted for television. Mr. Powers is a member of the 1986 National Endowment for the Arts Theatre Panel and the Dramatists Guild.

ROBERT FLETCHER (Scenery and Costume) was one of the four founding directors of the famous Brattle Theatre Company in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Their first season started in the fall of 1947, and took place in a building that had been home for forty years to a number of different communities. In it was to be the site of the first public performance of the play Shadow Box, a production that was to become one of the major theatrical events of the 1950s. The company was founded by four men: Robert Fletcher, Donald Preiss, and Paul Rubell. They were inspired by a play called 'Ringling,' which had been performed at the Brattle Theatre Company in 1956, and decided to form their own company. The first production was a revival of 'Ringling,' which was sold out for almost every performance. They were able to get the rights to the play through the efforts of one of the company's members, who had been working in the theatre business for several years. The success of the first production led to the formation of the company, which became known as the Brattle Theatre Company.
TO THE AUDIENCE

HOW TO BUY TICKETS:

Tickets by Telephone—Call (415) 673-6440 and charge your tickets to AMEX, Visa, or MasterCard ($2 service charge per order).

Window Sales—Visit A.C.T.'s Geary Theatre Box Office at Geary and Mason Streets.
Box Office Hours: 10 a.m. through the first intermission of the evening performance.

For information call 673-6440.

Mail Orders—Write A.C.T. at 450 Geary Street, San Francisco 94102, or sign up for A.C.T.'s mailing list in the Geary Theatre lobby.

Ticket Agencies—Most ticket agencies handle tickets for A.C.T. (service charges vary). If you buy through your local agency, you'll get either tickets or a receipt to present prior to the performance at the Geary Theatre in exchange for your ticket. If tickets are sold out, you'll get only the receipt to present prior to the performance at the Geary Theatre in exchange for your ticket.

NOTICES

Please observe the no-smoking regulations. The use of cameras or tape recorders is not permitted. Kindly refrain from carrying in refreshments. In respect for the health of our performers it is the policy of this company not to actually light cigarettes during the play. The management reserves the right to change the attraction without prior notice to the patrons.

WHEELCHAIR ACCESS

Boxes are available for wheelchairs the week of the performance at $5 a ticket. Tickets may also be purchased more than a week in advance at full price. A wheelchair accessible restroom is available on the main floor.

A.S.L. AT A.C.T.

A.C.T. has a special series of plays interpreted in American Sign Language for the hearing-impaired. For information call TTY (415) 771-0338 or 771-3880 (Voice).

CHILDREN

Patrons are discouraged from bringing very young children or infants to regular performances. Every person, regardless of age, must have a ticket.

CREDITS

A.C.T. photography is by Larry Merkle (415) 626-2267. American Sign Language interpretations are performed at selected performances by Charlotte Toothman and Stephanie Feyne.

ANY DISCARDS?

The A.C.T. props department welcomes the donation of any useable furniture, clothing, books and other household items. Please call the production office, 771-3880.
and costumes for Haiflain VII and for producing High Spirits, the musical version of Nicole Coward’s Ballys Spirit. An Emmy award-winner as well as a veteran of film—his film credits include all four Star Trek movies from Paramount and The Last Starfighter from Lorimar—Mr. Fletcher’s designs for A.C.T. include The Teming of the Shrew, Cyno de Berger, The Circle and The Matchmaker. The Real Thing and The Seagull mark his twenty-first and twenty-second productions for the American Conservatory Theatre.

DEREK DUARTE (Lighting) returns to A.C.T. for a second season as resident lighting designer after designing seven productions last season, including Open Comique and Passion Cycl. Most recently Mr. Duarte designed lighting for The Normal Heart at Berkeley Repertory Theatre. His work has been seen at Milwaukee Repertory Theatre, San Jose Rep, Berkeley Shakespeare Festival, The Fringe Festival in Edinburgh, Scotland and at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. Mr. Duarte holds an M.F.A. in theatre technology from U.C.L.A.

RICHARD SEGER (Scenery) recently designed A.C.T.’s Sunday in the Park with George. Among his A.C.T. credits are The Three Sisters, The Hothup, Hotel Paradiso, The Little Fire, The Chilk Garden, Much Ado About Nothing, The Trojan War Will Not Take Place, Buried Child, The God of the Golden West, The Winter’s Tale, 5th of July, The Importance of Being Earnest, The Bourgeois Gentleman, Cat Among the Pigeons, Macbeth and Something’s Afoot, which went on to Broadway. A graduate of Chicago’s School of the Art Institute, Mr. Seger has also created sets for the Broadway production of Butterflies Are Free and several off-Broadway productions. Mr. Seger’s other credits include the Old Globe Theatre’s productions of The Country Wife, Othello, Rashomon, The Importance of Being Earnest, Kiss Me Kate and Pygmalions; the Ahmanson Theatre’s productions of Hay Fever and The Unmarried Truth; ‘night, Mother at the Mark Taper Forum and new productions of La Trinatia and Rigollete for the Central City Opera Association in Central City, Colorado.

JAMES HAIRE (Production Manager) began his career on Broadway with the famed Eva Le Gallienne’s National Repertory Theatre. Among the productions he managed were The Merchant of Castile with Eva Le Gallienne, Sylvia Sydney and Leora Dana, The Rivals, John Brown’s Body, She Stoops to Conquer and A Comedy of Errors. Mr. Haire also stage managed the Broadway productions of George, a new musical by Carol Bayer Sager at the Wintergarden Theatre, and Miss Radnom Drnita at a Little with Julie Harris and Estelle Parsons, and the national tour of A Christmas Carol.

HOw TO BUY TICKETS

Tickets by Telephone—Call (415) 673-6440 and charge your tickets to AMEX, Visa, or MasterCard ($2 service charge per order).

Window Sales—Visit A.C.T.’s Geary Theatre Box Office at Geary and Mason Streets.

Box Office Hours: 10 a.m. through the first intermission of the evening performance.

For information call 673-6440.

Mail Orders—Write A.C.T. at 450 Geary Street, San Francisco 94102, or sign up for A.C.T.’s mailing list in the Geary Theatre lobby.

Ticket Agencies—Most ticket agencies handle tickets for A.C.T. (service charges vary). If you buy through your local agency, you’ll get either tickets or a receipt to present prior to the performance at the Geary Theatre in exchange for your ticket. If you buy from any other agency, you may make a tax-deductible contribution to the theatre by turning in your tickets at the box office prior to the curtain. Donations are accepted by telephone only on the day of the performance. A receipt for tax purposes will be issued in exchange for the tickets.

 lure with Julie Harris and Estelle Parsons, and the national tour of A Christmas Carol.

TO THE AUDIENCE

LATE ARRIVAL AT THE THEATRE

A.C.T. performances start on time!

Curtain times vary, so please check your tickets! Latecomers will not be seated until intermission or a suitable break in the performance so those who have arrived on time are not disturbed.

NOTICES

Please observe the no-smoking regulations. The use of cameras or tape recorders is not permitted. Kindly refrain from carrying in refreshments. In respect for the health of our performers it is the policy of this company not to actually light cigarettes during the play. The management reserves the right to change the attraction without prior notice to the patrons.

WHEELCHAIR ACCESS

Boxes are available for wheelchairs the week of the performance at $5 a ticket. Tickets may also be purchased more than a week in advance at full price. A wheelchair accessible restroom is available on the main floor.

A.S.L. AT A.C.T.

A.C.T. has a special series of plays interpreted in American Sign Language for the hearing-impaired. For information call TTY (415) 771-0338 or 771-3880 (Voice).

CHILDREN

Patrons are discouraged from bringing very young children or infants to regular performances. Every person, regardless of age, must have a ticket.

CREDITS

A.C.T. photography is by Larry Merkle (415) 626-2267. American Sign Language interpretations are performed at selected performances by Charlotte Tothman and Stephanie Feyne.

ANY DISCARDS?

The A.C.T. props department welcomes the donation of any useable furniture, clothing, books and other household items. Please call the production office, 771-3880.

ACT 14

ACT 15
THE REAL THING
(1982)
by Tom Stoppard
Directed by Edward Hastings

Scenery by Michael Olich
Costumes by Robert Fletcher
Lighting by Derek Duarte
Sound by Stephen LeGrand
Associate Director Christina Yao

Cast
Max Rick Hamilton
Charlotte Fredi Olster
Henry Mark Harelik
Annie Margaret Klenck
Billy Richard Butterfield
Debbie Natalie Browne
Brodie Ed Hodson

There will be one intermission.

Two years elapse between Acts I and II

UNDERSTUDIES
Max — Stephen Rockwell; Charlotte — Kate Brickley; Henry — Howard Swain;
Annie — Nancy Carlin; Billy — Tim Greer; Debbie — Deidre Fouts; Brodie — Peter Bradbury.

Stage Management: Karen Van Zandt and Duncan W. Graham

René Magritte, Le Fils de l'homme (The son of man), 1964.
THE REAL THING
(1982)
by Tom Stoppard
Directed by Edward Hastings

Scenery by Michael Olich
Costumes by Robert Fletcher
Lighting by Derek Duarte
Sound by Stephen LeGrand
Associate Director Christina Yao

Cast
Max Rick Hamilton
Charlotte Fredi Olster
Henry Mark Harelik
Annie Margaret Klenck
Billy Richard Butterfield
Debbie Natalie Browne
Brodie Ed Hodson

There will be one intermission.
Two years elapse between Acts I and II

UNDERSTUDIES
Max — Stephen Rockwell; Charlotte — Kate Brickley; Henry — Howard Swain;
Annie — Nancy Carlin; Billy — Tim Greer; Debbie — Deidre Fouts; Brodie — Peter Bradbury.

Stage Management: Karen Van Zandt and Duncan W. Graham

Rene Magritte, Le Fils de l'homme (The son of man), 1964.
A Look At Love
by Dennis Powers

It is "not only Mr. Stoppard's most moving play," wrote critic Frank Rich in the New York Times on January 6, 1984, the intellectual in their passions — however brilliant and hilarious they might be. The Real Thing revealed a new aspect of Stoppard the playwright, a willingness as well as an ability to deal with deep emotion and passionate commitment and to do so without sacrificing his characteristic wit and playfulness.

The Real Thing also continues Stoppard’s productive preoccupation with the mysteries of language and perception. And, like several of his best-known earlier works, it incorporates fragments of a famous play — in this case, John Ford’s seventeenth-century Ffis Pity She’s A Whore. Stoppard’s first international success, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead, made ingenious use of Hamlet as a dramatic context for what critic Thomas Whitaker calls "a backstage Beckett’s-eye-view" of Shakespeare’s tragedy. When it opened in London at the National Theatre in 1967, Sunday Times critic Harold Hobson labelled it "the most important event in the British professional theatre of the last nine years."

Stoppard’s 1968 comedy, The Real Inspector Hound, embodies an affectionate parody of Agatha Christie’s long-running thriller, The Mousetrap. His 1974 Travesties makes memorable use of scenes and characters from Oscar Wilde’s The Importance of Being Earnest to tell the story of a minor British official and his highly suspect “personal” recollections of Lenin, James Joyce and Tristan Tzara. Travesties and its dazzling 1973 predecessor, Jumpers, were undoubtedly on Stoppard’s mind when he told critic Ronald Hayman in 1974, “One’s energy as a writer is going into theatricality and that’s okay, but one doesn’t want to do that each time, and ideally what I’d like to write now is something . . . with no music and no jumping about . . . a literary piece, so that the energy can go into the literary side of what I do. I’d like to write a quiet play.”

As it turned out, that play was to be The Real Thing, and, like Rosencrantz and Guildenstern and Travesties, it would win both the Tony and New York Drama Critics Circle Awards as best new play of the season. But even before The Real Thing, Stoppard had begun to tackle social and moral issues as well as human problems in his work. In 1977, his play for actors and orchestra, Every Good Boy Deserves Favour, and the TV play Professional Foul, were passionate outcries against the denial of human rights by repressive governments. Night and Day (1978), with its portraits of an Idi Amin-like African tyrant and the journalists
A Look At Love
by Dennis Powers

It is "not only Mr. Stoppard's most moving play," wrote critic Frank Rich in the New York Times on January 6, 1984, the intellectual in their passions — however brilliant and hilarious they might be. The Real Thing revealed a new aspect of Stoppard the playwright, a willingness as well as an ability to deal with deep emotion and passionate commitment and to do so without sacrificing his characteristic wit and playfulness.

The Real Thing also continues Stoppard's productive preoccupation with the mysteries of language and perception. And, like several of his best-known earlier works, it incorporates fragments of a famous play — in this case, John Ford's seventeenth-century "Tis Pity She's A Whore. Stoppard's first international success, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead, made ingenious use of Hamlet as a dramatic context for what critic Thomas Whitaker calls "a backstage Beckett's-eye-view" of Shakespeare's tragedy. When it opened in London at the National Theatre in 1967, Sunday Times critic Harold Hobson labelled it "the most important event in the British professional theatre of the last nine years."

Stoppard's 1968 comedy, The Real Inspector Hound, embodies an affectionate parody of Agatha Christie's long-running thriller, The Mousetrap, and his 1974 Travesties makes memorable use of scenes and characters from Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest to tell the story of a minor British official and his highly suspect "personal" recollections of Lenin, James Joyce and Tristan Tzara. Travesties and its dazzling 1973 predecessor, Jumpers, were undoubtedly on Stoppard's mind when he told critic Ronald Hayman in 1974, "One's energy as a writer is going into theatricality and that's okay, but one doesn't want to do that each time, and ideally what I'd like to write now is something . . . with no music and no jumping about . . . a literary piece, so that the energy can go into the literary side of what I do. I'd like to write a quiet play."

As it turned out, that play was to be The Real Thing, and, like Rosencrantz and Guildenstern and Travesties, it would win both the Tony and New York Drama Critics Circle Awards as best new play of the season. But even before The Real Thing, Stoppard had begun to tackle social and moral issues as well as human problems in his work. In 1977, his play for actors and orchestra, Every Good Boy Deserves Favour, and the TV play Professional Fool, were passionate outcries against the denial of human rights by repressive governments. Night and Day (1978), with its portraits of an Idi Amin-like African tyrant and the journalists
Tom Stoppard got his first writing job in 1954 as a reporter on a Bristol daily. He also wrote reviews, short stories, radio and TV plays and a novel, Lord Malquist and Mr. Moon. His first full-length play, written in 1960 when he was twenty-three, was A Walk on the Water. Stoppard later changed its title to Enter a Free Man. Retaining custody of his two sons from a first marriage that had ended in divorce, Stoppard married Dr. Miriam Moore-Robinson in 1972. They subsequently had two more sons.

In addition to his own plays (inspired though some of them were by existing works), Stoppard has done English adaptations of Federico García Lorca’s House of Bernarda Alba; Undiscovered Country and Daliance, both based on plays by Arthur Schnitzler; Slawomir Mrozek’s Tango; and On the Razzle, from the same 1842 Austrian farce by Johann Nestroy that Thornton Wilder used as the source for The Matchmaker. Stoppard’s screenplays — on some of which he was a collaborator — include Rainer Werner Fassbinder’s Despair, from a Nabokov novel; The Romantic Englishwoman, from Thomas Wiseman’s novel; Otto Preminger’s The Human Factor, based on a Graham Greene novel; and Terry Gilliam’s Brazil. In between writing assignments, he found time to direct a British production of Born Yesterday in 1973.

Any way you look at Stoppard’s career to date, it’s been a long and utterly extraordinary journey from Rosencrantz and Guildenstern to The Real Thing, with its searching look at contemporary love and marriage and its striking blend of high-flying romantic comedy and emotionally charged dramatic scenes that illuminates the complex relationship of Henry, a successful London playwright, and Annie, his actress wife. As Frank Rich puts it, “The Real Thing is as much about how a writer learns to write The Real Thing as about how he learns to experience the real thing.”

who cover his regime, spoke out not only for freedom of the press but the moral imperatives that it presupposes. Stoppard’s method? “I don’t write plays with heroes who express my point of view,” he explains. “I write argument plays. I tend to write for two people rather than for One Voice.” Whitaker sees these plays as evidence of Stoppard’s “emerging recognition of his own convictions.”

Born Tomas Straussler in Czechoslovakia in 1932, on the eve of the Nazi invasion, he was taken by his parents in 1939 to Singapore, where his father practiced medicine. (In later years, Stoppard would refer to himself as a “bounced Czech.”) When Tomas, his mother and brother were evacuated to India during World War II, Dr. Straussler stayed behind. The family never saw him again; he was killed when Singapore became a battleground during the Japanese invasion. His widow later married Kenneth Stoppard, a British army major, and the family went to England at the end of the war.

Tom Stoppard got his first writing job in 1954 as a reporter on a Bristol daily. He also wrote reviews, short stories, radio and TV plays and a novel, Lord Malquist and Mr. Moon. His first full-length play, written in 1960 when he was twenty-three, was A Walk on the Water. Stoppard later changed its title to Enter a Free Man. Retaining custody of his two sons from a first marriage that had ended in divorce, Stoppard married Dr. Miriam Moore-Robinson in 1972. They subsequently had two more sons.

In addition to his own plays (inspired though some of them were by existing works), Stoppard has done English adaptations of Federico García Lorca’s House of Bernarda Alba; Undiscovered Country and Daillance, both based on plays by Arthur Schnitzler; Slawomir Mrozek’s Tango; and On the Razzle, from the same 1842 Austrian farce by Johann Nestroy that Thornton Wilder used as the source for The Matchmaker. Stoppard’s screenplays — on some of which he was a collaborator — include Rainer Werner Fassbinder’s Despair, from a Nabokov novel; The Romantic Englishwoman, from Thomas Wiseman’s novel; Otto Preminger’s The Human Factor, based on a Graham Greene novel; and Terry Gilliam’s Brazil. In between writing assignments, he found time to direct a British production of Born Yesterday in 1973.

Any way you look at Stoppard’s career to date, it’s been a long and utterly extraordinary journey from Rosenmünz and Guedenste in the Real Thing, with its searching look at contemporary love and marriage and its striking blend of high-flying romantic comedy and emotionally charged dramatic scenes that illuminates the complex relationship of Henry, a successful London playwright, and Annie, his actress wife. As Frank Rich puts it, “The Real Thing is as much about how a writer learns to write The Real Thing as about how he learns to experience the real thing.”

CONTRIBUTORS

The American Conservatory Theatre is grateful for its continuing support from individuals, local and national foundations and corporations, the California Arts Council, the City and County of San Francisco Hotel Tax Fund, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Our donors make great theatre possible. We salute them by associating their names with the literary giants of our rich dramatic heritage. This list reflects gifts received between January 1, 1986 and December 31, 1986

SOPHOCLES CIRCLE
($25,000 AND ABOVE)
William and Flora Hewlett Foundation
James Irvine Foundation
Andrew W. Mellon Foundation
National Corporate Theatre Fund
Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company
San Francisco Foundation
Shubert Foundation

SHAKESPEARE CIRCLE
($10,000-$24,999)
An Anonymous Benefactor
ABIG Foundation
Arthur Andersen & Co.
Chevron U.S.A.
Catherine Davis Irrevocable Trust
Mrs. Franklin P. Johnson, Jr.
Los Angeles Foundation
Mary’s California
Mr. Cyril Magnin
Mr. & Mrs. Albert J. Moorman
Pacific Telesis Foundation
David and Lucille Packard Foundation
Shaldbra Corporation
Simpson Paper Company
Xerox Foundation

WILLIAMS CIRCLE
($5,000-$9,999)
Merryn L. Brenner Foundation
Carter Hawley Hale Stores
Crown Zellerbach Foundation
Wallace Alexander Gerbode Foundation
Goethe Institute of San Francisco
Dr. Margot Hadden Green
Stuart and Mabel Hadden Trust
Mr. & Mrs. Burton J. McMurtry
Mr. Robert M. Moore
Performing Arts Network
Princess Grace Foundation
Rose Night Revocable Trust
Dr. & Mrs. H. Harrison Sadler

L.J. and Mary C. Skaggs Foundation

O’NEILL CIRCLE
($2,500-$4,999)
An Anonymous Benefactor
Mr. & Mrs. Ray Dolby
Mrs. Morris M. Doyle
Embarcadero Center
Richard and Rhoda Goldman Foundation
Mr. & Mrs. Douglas Grigg
Mr. William R. Hambrecht
Mrs. Ada Glover Jackson
Bernard Osher Foundation
Edna M. Reichmuth Fund
Mrs. Sylvia Coe Tolk
Mr. & Mrs. Gary J. Torre

WILDER CIRCLE
($1,000-$2,499)
An Anonymous Benefactor
Akonax, Inc.
Ms. Ruth Barton
Mrs. Janet Fleishacker Bates
Mr. & Mrs. Ernest A. Benesch
Robert and Alice Bridges Foundation
John M. Bryan Family Fund
Carlin Fund
Mr. Bill Cawley and Ms. Nancy Austin
Mr. H. Brooke Clyde
The Distribution Fund
Eldorado Foundation
Mr. Werner Erhardt
First Myrline Fund
Mortimer Fleishacker Foundation
Dr. & Mrs. M. Wallace Freedman
Mr. Ralph R. Garrow, Jr. and Ms. Laurie Rolf
Mr. & Mrs. Helmut Gerson
Mr. & Mrs. Edward L. Ginutz
Mrs. Sylvan David Gross
ITT Corporation
Mrs. Paul B. Kelly
Mrs. John R. Kiely
Komes Foundation
Lakeside Foundation

ACT-20

Richard Turner and Robert Diven / Mr. Joe K. Tuttle / Mrs. Willie Grey Tyrre / Mr. Frank T. Upham / Mr. Michael M. Vacheron / Ms. Barbara Vali / Mr. J. Dean Vali / Ms. Lisa Vanderfin / Mr. & Mrs. Leland H. Van Winkle / Mr. & Mrs. Bernard Vash, Sr. / Ms. Mansako W. Velasquez / Mr. Joe Vincent / Mr. & Mrs. J. Vickstedt / Ms. Jan Vinkelt / Mr. & Mrs. Gardiner Von der Lieth / Mr. & Mrs. Alex Von Hafften / Mr. H. Duane Wadsworth / Mrs. Ann Wagner / Mr. & Mrs. Gary Robert Wagner / Mr. & Mrs. William Wahnhafft / Mr. Stephen Waldman / Mr. & Mrs. James L. Walker / Mr. Winona Walker / Mr. Rita WALLA spir / Mr. & Mrs. Ken Walters / William and Diame Werda / Mr. Felix M. Warburg / Mr. & Mrs. Douglass J. Warner / Mrs. Clara S. Wissel / Mrs. Malcolm Watts / Dr. & Mrs. Douglas Wayman / Mr. Theodore Weber / Dr. & Mrs. Charles Webster / Mr. & Mrs. Norm van Wechsler / Ms. Marianne Wegel / Mr. & Mrs. Marshall J. Wegel / Dr. & Mrs. Harry Weinstein / Mr. Jack K. West / Mr. Jack C. West / Ms. Josephine West / Dr. Kevin R. Wheaton / Mr. & Mrs. W. Stanley Whittaker / Mr. & Mrs. Nancy G. White / Mr. Sydney Chute White / Mr. C. Brooks Whittingfield / Ms. Victoria L. Whitman / Dr. & Mrs. Harvey R. Widrow / Mr. & Mrs. Irving Wiener / Ms. Clare Carey Willard / Mr. Henry Willard / Mr John Willbroad / Mr. John A. William / Mr. John R. Williams / Mr. & Mrs. David C. Willson, III / Mr. Florine Wilson / Ms. Greta O. Wilson / Ms. Marion W. Willjfer / Mr. & Mrs. Jeffrey Winters / Mr. & Mrs. David Wodlinger / Mr. & Mrs. William R. Wolshott / Mr. & Mrs. John Wolpesurger / Mr. Paul Deltreue Wolf / Ms. Linda Ying Wong / Ms. Almer A. Wood / David and Caroline Wood / Mr. & Mrs. Robert B. Woodhull / Ms. Ernestine V. Woolfolk / The Wyatt Company / Mr. & Mrs. Loring A. Wyllle, Jr. / Mr. Robert H. Wyman / Ms. Patricia Yakutis / Mr. & Mrs. Herbert Yanowitz / Mr. Bill Yee / Ms. Shannon Zachs / Mr. & Mrs. Edward M. Zeller / Mr. Bryant K. Zimmerman / Dr. & Mrs. R. E. Zimmerman / Mr. & Mrs. Peter H. Zischke

TRUSTEES OF THE AMERICAN CONSERVATORY FOUNDATION

Mr. Barth Barton
Mr. Richard Carreon
Mrs. Peter Donat
Mrs. L.H. Erlendson
Mr. Anthony Frank
Mr. Edward Hastings
Mr. Lawrence Hecht
Mr. Phillip Larson
Mr. Albert Moorman
Mr. Howard Neumenovski
Mrs. Maurice Oppenheimer

American Can Company Foundation
American Express Foundation
Arthur Andersen & Co.
Ashland Chemical Foundation
Batus, Inc.
Brown-Forman Corporation
CBST Foundation
Container Corporation of America
DFS Dorland Worldwide, Inc.
Exxon Corporation
GTE Foundation
General Electric Foundation
General Foods Foundation
Gulf & Western Foundation
H.J. Heinz Company Foundation
John W. Hill
Hill & Knowlton Foundation
International Business Machines Corporation
Danny Kaye and Sylvia Fine Foundation
George M. Klein Foundation
Lone Star Industries, Inc.
McGraw Hill Foundation
Metropolitan Life Foundation
Mobil Foundation
NL Industries Foundation
Nabisco Brands, Inc.
Newsweek
New York Life Foundation
New York Times Company Foundation
Ogilvy & Mather Advertising
Pfizer Foundation
Philip Morris Incorporated
Price Waterhouse & Co.
RCI
Sterling Drug, Inc.
Subaru of America Foundation
J. Walter Thompson U.S.A., Inc.
Time, Inc.
Union Carbide Corporation
Xerox Foundation

CONSERVATORY FUNDS

The following donors have contributed to funds earmarked for specific projects benefiting A.C.T.'s training programs, such as underwriting Master Trainer positions and creating a computerized admissions and financial aid system. We thank them for their commitment to maintaining the excellence of professional actor training at A.C.T.

Ms. Carolyn McCormick
Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Novak
Ms. Jennifer M. Robin
Mr. and Mrs. Hays R. Rockwell
Mr. David N. Schwartz
Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Walker
Mr. Scott Williams

CORPORATE MATCHING GIFTS

The following corporations have generously matched gifts made to A.C.T. by their employees in the past year, thus doubling the impact of many individual contributions.

A.C.T. extends its gratitude to these companies and invites all of their employees to join in supporting live theatre in San Francisco.

BankAmerica Foundation
Chevron U.S.A.
CPC North America
Del Monte Corporation
Digital Equipment Corporation
Equitable Life Assurance Society
Exxon Corporation
Federated Department Stores
Fireman’s Fund Insurance Company
Gap Foundation
IBM Corporation
International Data Corporation
Levi Strauss Foundation
R.J. Reynolds Industries
R.H. Macy & Co.
Security Pacific Foundation
Sohio Petroleum Company
Southern Pacific Transportation Company
Transamerica Corporation
TRW Foundation
United Technologies
Westinghouse Electric Fund
Xerox Foundation

SPECIAL THANKS

Amorous Archives
Arthur Andersen & Co.
Meredith Boyd
Bruce Cole
Computers for Marketing
Macy's California
Peter Johns & Partners Advertising
Pettit & Martin
 Shapiro, Okno, Hom & Associates
Williams & Burrows, Inc.

This theatre operates under an agreement between the League of Resident Theatres and Actors' Equity Association, the union of professional actors and stage managers in the United States.

If you carry a beeper, watch, or calculator with alarm, please make sure that it is set to the "OFF" position while you are in the theatre to prevent any interruption in the performance.
Richard Turner and Robert Diver / Mr. Joey K. Tuttle / Mrs. Willie Grey Tyree / Mr. Frank T. Upham / Mr. Michael M. Vacheron / Mrs. Barbara Vail / Mr. J. Dean Vail / Mrs. Lisa Vanderlin / Mr. & Mrs. Leland H. Van Winkle / Mr. & Mrs. Bernard Vash, Sr. / Ms. Mansako W. Walizer / Mr. & Mrs. J. Vazquez / Ms. Jan Veltrek / Mr. & Mrs. Gardner Von der Lieht / Mr. & Mrs. Alex Von Haffner / Mr. & Mrs. James L. Walker / Ms. Winona Walker / Mr. Rita Wallajper / Mr. & Mrs. Ken Walters / William and Diane Wares / Mr. Felix M. Warburg / Mr. & Mrs. Douglas J. Warner / Mrs. Clara S. Wiesley / Mrs. Malcolm Watts / Dr. & Mrs. Douglas Wayman / Mrs. Theodore Weber / Dr. & Mrs. Charles Webster / Mr. & Mrs. Norman V. Wechsler / Ms. Mariasimme Weigel / Mr. & Mrs. Marshall L. Weigel / Dr. & Mrs. Harry Weinstein / Mr. Jack K. West / Mr. Jay C. West / Ms. Josephine West / Dr. Kevin R. Wheaton / Mr. & Mrs. W. Stanley Whittaker / Mrs. Nancy C. White / Mrs. Sydney Chute White / Mr. C. Brooks Whitefield / Ms. Victoria L. Whitman / Dr. & Mrs. Harvey R. Widow / Mr. & Mrs. Irving Winer / Mrs. Clare Carey Willard / Mr. Henry Willard / Mr. John Willbrant / Mr. John A. Willhelm / Mr. John R. Williams / Mr. & Mrs. David C. Willmeron, III / Ms. Florine Wilson / Ms. Greta O. Wilson / Mr. Marion W. Williper / Mr. & Mrs. Jeffrey Winter / Mr. & Mrs. David Wodlinger / Mr. & Mrs. William R. Wohlstort / Mr. & Mrs. John Wollesperger / Mr. Paul Delruee Wolfe / Ms. Linda Ying Wong / Ms. Almer A. Wood / Mr. David and Caroline Woodward / Dr. & Mrs. Robert B. Woodhull / Ms. Ernestine V. Woolfolk / The Wyatt Company / Mr. & Mrs. Loring A. Wyllie, Jr. / Mr. Robert H. Wyman / Ms. Patricia Yakutis / Mr. & Mrs. Herbert Yenowitz / Mr. Bill Yoo / Ms. Shannon Zachs / Mr. & Mrs. Edward M. Zeller / Mr. Bryant K. Zimmerman / Dr. & Mrs. R. E. Zimmerman / Mr. & Mrs. Peter H. Zischke

Mr. Frank Ottolives, President
Mr. Howard D. Palesky
Mr. William Peterson
Mr. John H. Peabody
Mrs. H. Harrison Saddler, Vice President
Ms. Michelle Sanchez
Mr. Anthony Schiavon, Treasurer
Mr. Philip Schlein
Mr. John Sullivan
Mrs. Pamela Siem Watts, Secretary

HONORARY TRUSTEES

In recognition of their vision and unflagging support.

Mr. Cyril Magnus
Mrs. Edith Markson

The American Conservatory Theatre was founded in 1965 by William Ball.

SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS

A.C.T. has established a scholarship fund in the names of the following individuals to pay tribute to their profound impact on the company's development. Donations should be made payable to A.C.T. with a notation appearing on the check or money order mentioning the individual's name. We honor the memories of:

Ann Benson
Henry Boetcher
Stuart Reedy
Edna Clifford
Thomas Edwards
Allen Fletcher
Helen Golden
Paine Kneckerbocker
Mrs. Charles B. Huhn
Michael W. Leibert
Fae McNally
Richard Osborne
Edith Skinner
Carol Teitel
Nitya Vance
Alma Brooks Walker

SMALL TRUSTEES OF THE AMERICAN CONSERVATORY FOUNDATION

Mr. Ruth Barton
Mr. Richard Carreon
Mrs. Peter Donat
Mrs. J.H. Erlendson
Mr. Anthony Frank
Mr. Edward Hastings
Mr. Lawrence Heath
Mr. Phillip Larson
Mr. Albert Moorman
Mr. Howard Nemerson
Mrs. Maurice Oppenheimer

ACT-29

American Can Company Foundation
American Express Foundation
Arthur Andersen & Co.
Ashland Chemical Foundation
Batus, Inc.
Brown-Forform Corporation
CBS
Container Corporation of America
DFS Dorland Worldwide, Inc.
Exxon Corporation
GTE Foundation
General Electric Foundation
General Foods Fund
Gulf & Western Foundation
H.J. Heinz Company Foundation
John W. Hill
Hill & Knowlton Foundation
International Business Machines Corporation
Danny Kaye & Sylvia Fine Foundation
George A. Klein Foundation
Lone Star Industries, Inc.
McGraw Hill Foundation
Metropolitan Life Foundation
Mobil Foundation
NL Industries Foundation
National Brands, Inc.
Newsweek
New York Life Foundation
New York Times Company Foundation
Ogilvy & Mather Advertising
Pfizer Foundation
Philip Morris Incorporated
Price Waterhouse & Co.
RCN
Sterling Drug, Inc.
Subaru of America Foundation
J. Walter Thompson U.S.A., Inc.
Time, Inc.
Union Carbine Corporation
Xerox Foundation

CONSERVATORY FUNDS

The following donors have contributed to funds earmarked for specific projects benefiting A.C.T.'s training programs, such as underwriting Master Trainer positions and creating a computerized admissions and financial aid system. We thank them for their commitment to maintaining the excellence of professional actor training at A.C.T.

Ms. Carolyn McCormick
Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Novak
Ms. Jennifer M. Robin
Mr. and Mrs. Hays H. Rockwell
Mr. David N. Schwartz
Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Walker
Mr. Scott Williams

CORPORATE MATCHING GIFTS

The following corporations have generously matched gifts made to A.C.T. by their employees in the past year, thus doubling the impact of many individual contributions. A.C.T. extends its gratitude to these companies and invites all of its employees to join in supporting live theatre in San Francisco.

BankAmerica Foundation
Chevron U.S.A.
CPA, North America
Del Monte Corporation
Digital Equipment Corporation
Equitable Life Assurance Society
Exxon Corporation
Federated Department Stores
Fireman's Fund Insurance Company
Gap Foundation
IBM Corporation
International Data Corporation
Levi Strauss Foundation
R.J. Reynolds Industries
R.H. Macy & Co.
Security Pacific Corporation
Sohio Petroleum Company
Southern Pacific Transportation Company
Transamerica Corporation
TRW Foundation
United Technologies
Westinghouse Electric Fund
Xerox Foundation

SPECIAL THANKS

Amorose Archives
Arthur Andersen & Co.
Meredith Boyd
Bruce Cole
Computers for Marketing
Macy's California
Peter Johns & Partners Advertising
Pettit & Martin
Shapiro, Okino, Horn & Associates
Williams & Burrows, Inc.

This theatre operates under an agreement between the League of Resident Theatres and Actors' Equity Association, the union of professional actors and stage managers in the United States.

If you carry a beeper, watch, or calculator with alarm, please make sure that it is set to the "OFF" position while you are in the theatre to prevent any interruption in the performance.
CONSERVATORY
Lawrence Hecht, Conservatory Director
J. Steven White, Dean of Academic Affairs
Emily Cachapero, Conservatory Administrator
John Hartnett, Financial Aid Director
Rebecca Merrill, Registrar
John Lohschmeh, Assistant Conservatory Director
Lisa Mclntier, Conservatory Assistant

TRAINERS
Adidah Barnes, Acting
Bonita Bradley, Voice
Kate Bricklely, Voice
Joy Carlin, Acting
Dell’Arte Players Co., Physical Comedy
Beverly Duncan, Tap
Rick Echols, Make-up
Sabin Epstein, Activation
Rose Glickman, Humanities
Edward Hastings, Acting
Lawrence Hecht, Acting
Nanu Houshek, Voice
John Johnson, Singing
Rhodia Kaufman, Humanities
Marcia Kimmel, Improvisation
Barry Kraft, Text
Joyce Livergood, Script Reading
John Losohnmeh, Ballet

ACT-30

PRODUCTION DESIGNERS
Beaver D. Bauer, Costumes
Robert Blackman, Scenery
Darre Duarte, Lighting
Robert Fletcher, Costumes
Ralph Furluenco, Scenery
Jesse Hollis, Scenery
Fritza Knudsen, Costumes
Stephen LeGrand, Sound
Robert Morgan, Costumes
Michael Ohlich, Scenery
Richard Seger, Scenery

STAGE MANAGEMENT
James Haire
Eugene Barone
Duncan W. Graham
Alice Elliott Smith
Karen Van Zandt
Bruce Phillips, Intern
Meg Slavin, Intern
Cynthia McCain, Production Coordinator

FRONT OF HOUSE
Robert Edney, House Manager
Fred Geick, Doorman
Mary Fiala, Assistant House Manager
Julie Konop, Food Service Manager
Donna Brown, Susanah Owing
David Engelmann
Beth Fritschler
Nancy Hodges
Susanne Hornberger
Isak Leftkowitz
Sue Maroxx

THE AMERICAN CONSERVATORY THEATRE
EDWARD HASTINGS
Artistic Director
JOHN SULLIVAN
Managing Director
LAWRENCE HECHT
Conservatory Director
JOH CARLIN
Resident Director

ACTORS AND DIRECTORS
Hope Alexander-Williams
Tony Amendola
Joseph Bird
Peter Bradbury
Kate Bricklely
Richard Butterfield
Joy Carlin
Nancy Carlin
Peter Donat
Drew Esthelman
Gina Ferrall
Timothy Greer
Rick Hamilton
Lawrence Hecht
Ed Hodaon
Margaret Klein
Ruth Kobar
Barry Kraft
Kimberly LaMarque
Deidre Mitchel
Robin Goodin Nordi
Liam O'Brien
Paula Olster
Frank Ottwell
William Paterson
Stephen Rockwell
Ken Ruta
Jack Shearer
Ken Sonkin
Lannyl Stephens
Howard Swain
Beverly Vash
Sydney Walker
J. Steven White
Kelvin Yee

REPERTORY DIRECTORS
Joy Carlin
Edward Hastings
Jerome Kilty
Claude Puddy
Michael Smuin
Albert Takazasaks
Land Williams

ASSOCIATE DIRECTORS
Michael Puliziano
Anna Deavere Smith
J. Steven White
Christina Yao

MUSIC
John Johnson, Musical Director

SCENE SHOP
Ed Raymond, Shop Foreman
Randy Reid, Layout
Dale Haugu, Lead Scenic Artist
Leo Lowren, Mechanic
Don Korns, Mechanic
Eric Norton, Shop Coordinator
Bruce Hill, Design Assistant

COSTUMES AND WIGS
Fritza Knudsen, Supervisor
Barbara Blair, Seamstress
Carolyn Doud, Men's Cutter/Dresser
Rick Echols, Wig Master
Leisa Ellenbe, Design Assistant
Lisa Jorgensen, Seamstress
Kitty Muntz-Kyeoeye, Women's Cutter/Dresser
James W. Fonder, Accessories
Sonja Thackedjian, Head Seamstress
Marie Jo Caputi, Intern

PROPERTY
Oliver C. Olsen, Properties Director
Stephen L. Siegelman, Artisan

WARDROBE
Donald Long-Hurst, Repertory Supervisor
Thea Heinz, Assistant Supervisor
Jean Fredrickson, Staff Dresser
Kristi Oleseh, Staff Dresser

BACKSTAGE STAFF
Dante Delchi, Master Carpenter
Daniel Michalske, Master Electrician
David Belford, Properties Master
Robert Barnard, Flyman
Michael Whitehurst, Assistant Carpenter
George Oldham, Sound Man
James T. Storey, Assistant Flyman
James Kershaw, Stage Door
June Bergstrom, Assistant Stage Door

FOURTH OF JULY
Robert Edney, House Manager
Fred Geick, Doorman
Mary Fiala, Assistant House Manager
Julie Konop, Food Service Manager
Donna Brown, Susanah Owing
David Engelmann
Beth Fritschler
Nancy Hodges
Susanne Hornberger
Isak Leftkowitz
Sue Maroxx

ADMINISTRATION
Diane M. Prichard, General Manager
Mary Garrett, Company Manager
Minako Dow, Executive Assistant
Besalul Steenv, Receptionist
Eve Czersodsky, Volunteer Coordinator
Petit & Martin, Legal Counsel

FINANCE
Joseph Patterson, Director
Wendi Adler, Business Manager
Robert Holloway, Business Associate
Caryl Kuhn, Business Associate
Arthur Anderson & Co., Accountants

DEVELOPMENT & COMMUNITY AFFAIRS
Christine Fiedler, Director
Pamela Simi Walt, Community Affairs Manager
John Wilk, Grants Administrator
Stephen Dunato, Information Systems Manager
Darcy Butterfield, Donor Records Coordinator

COMMUNICATIONS & MARKETING
Ralph Hoskins, Press and Public Relations
Amy Bergener, Graphic Design
Richard Bernier, Marketing Assistant
Gwen Baruch, Telemarketing Manager
Joe Duffy, Student Sales Manager
Michael Beidler, Mail Room Manager
Janice Kosky, Telemarketing Procedures
Rita M. Zeichner, Group Sales
Cleo Fouldnus, A.C.T. 400

BOX OFFICE
John Dixon, Manager
Gilda Solve, Assistant Manager
Steve Alexander, Christopher Morris
Freida Batten, Mary Beth Smith
Sharon Cox, Jane Toby
Michael McCarthy

SUBSCRIPTION
Patty Costa, Manager
Ellen Mathews
Eileen B. Anderson

FACILITIES
Lesley Pierce, Manager
David Maier
David Seibold
Curtis Carr, Jr., Security
Robert A. Davis, Security
Edward Hudson directed The Promise, by Aleksei Arbuzov, a drama set in World War II Leningrad.
Featured were, left to right, David Duke, Mark Bramhall, Diana Lavine.
Edward Hastings directed The Promise, by Aleksei Arbuzov, a drama set in World War II Leningrad. Featured were, left to right, David Dukes, Mark Bramhall, Elena Larina.
Top left: Robert Gerringer and Patricia Falkenhain (both seated) headed the cast of Allen Fletcher’s staging of The Hostage, by Brendan Behan.

Top right: Nagle Jackson’s production of the classic American farce, Room Service, by John Murray and Allen Boretz, featured (from left) Barry MacGregor, William Paterson and Ray Reinhardt.

Bottom left: Nagle Jackson directed Iules Feiffer’s black comedy, Little Murders with, left to right, Mark Bramhall, G. Wood, Michael Learmod, John Schuck and Angela Paton.

Bottom right: Gower Champion’s production of A Flea in Her Ear, by Georges Feydeau, recalled the comedies of the silent film era. The cast included, from left to right, Barry MacGregor, Philip Kerr, Ann Weldon, Carol Taitel, Robert Gerringer and Harry Frazier.
Top left: Robert Gerringer and Patricia Falkenhain (both seated) headed the cast of Allen Fletcher’s staging of The Hostage, by Brendan Behan.

Top right: Nagle Jackson’s production of the classic American farce, Boom Service, by John Murray and Allen Boretz, featured (from left) Barry MacGregor, William Petison and Ray Reinhardt.

Bottom left: Nagle Jackson directed Jules Feiffer’s black comedy, Little Murders with, left to right, Mark Brumhall, G. Wood, Michael Learin, John Schuck and Angela Paton.

Bottom right: Gower Champion’s production of A Flea in Her Ear, by Georges Feydeau, recalled the comedies of the silent film era. The cast included, from left to right, Barry MacGregor, Philip Kerr, Ann Weldon, Carol Tolsted, Robert Gerringer and Harry Frazier.
Critics were divided about the merits of Fernando Arriah’s controversial The Architect and the Emperor of Assyria, but Peter Donat (left) and Michael O’Sullivan won acclaim for their performance.

Gershwin on Canvas

by Herbert Glass

It is interesting, and somewhat ironical, that George Gershwin’s accomplishments as a painter are perpetuated today chiefly through his often-reproduced portrait of Arnold Schoenberg—a composer whose aims could be considered the very antithesis of Gershwin’s. Schoenberg was a musical revolutionist, writing for “the few” and to this day, accepted only by the comparatively few. Gershwin, on the other hand, in spite of his unquestioned originality and genius, was a “popular” composer in the most flatteringly literal sense of that much-abused term. Yet the two men had a profound interest in and admiration for each others’ works, an admiration which is mirrored on Gershwin’s part, in his last painting—“Arnold Schoenberg” (1937).

That Gershwin should choose Schoenberg for a subject is typical of his deep interest in all that was meaningful and challenging in the art of his time. But the Schoenberg portrait by no means represents the sum total of Gershwin’s accomplishments as a painter. It is, rather, one of over a hundred paintings (and countless drawings) of friends and associates, relatives, chance acquaintances, and places he visited—all produced during the last nine years of his life, 1929-1937.

Gershwin had always displayed an avid interest in painting. This interest initially manifested itself in visits to galleries in this country and in Europe, often in the company of his cousin Henry Botkin, himself a painter. Studying the works of nineteenth and twentieth century masters eventually led him to try his own hand at paint and canvas. His first instructor was Botkin. And studies with Botkin, as well as a natural feeling for the medium, led him to produce what has come to be considered (by the few who have seen it) an important body of American art.

The world still thought of Gershwin as strictly a composer until shortly after his death, when, in December of 1937, a one-man show was presented at the Marie Harriman Gallery on New York’s East 57th Street. The same collection was sub-
Gershwin on Canvas

by Herbert Glass

It is interesting, and somewhat ironical, that George Gershwin's accomplishments as a painter are perpetuated today chiefly through his often-reproduced portrait of Arnold Schoenberg—a composer whose aims could be considered the very antithesis of Gershwin's. Schoenberg was a musical revolutionary, writing for "the few" and to this day, accepted only by the comparatively few, Gershwin, on the other hand, in spite of his unquestioned originality and genius, was a "popular" composer in the most flatteringly literal sense of that much-abused term. Yet the two men had a profound interest in and admiration for each others' works, an admiration which is mirrored, on Gershwin's part, in his last painting—"Arnold Schoenberg" (1937).

That Gershwin should choose Schoenberg for a subject is typical of his deep interest in all that was meaningful and challenging in the art of his time. But the Schoenberg portrait by no means represents the sum total of Gershwin's accomplishments as a painter. It is, rather, one of over a hundred paintings (and countless drawings) of friends and associates, relatives, chance acquaintances, and places he visited—all produced during the last nine years of his life, 1929-1937.

Gershwin had always displayed an avid interest in painting. This interest initially manifested itself in visits to galleries in this country and in Europe, often in the company of his cousin Henry Botkin, himself a painter. Studying the works of nineteenth and twentieth century masters eventually led him to try his own hand at paint and canvas. His first instructor was Botkin. And studies with Botkin, as well as a natural feeling for the medium, led him to produce what has come to be considered (by the few who have seen it) an important body of American art.

The world still thought of Gershwin as strictly a composer until shortly after his death, when, in December of 1937, a one-man show was presented at the Marie Harriman Gallery on New York's East 57th Street. The same collection was subsequently exhibited at the Arts Club in Chicago.

The paintings had to wait another full quarter century to be assembled again on one spot, when in the spring of 1963, the New York Philharmonic (with the assistance of Henry Botkin) held a major showing of Gershwin's paintings and drawings at Philharmonic Hall in Lincoln Center.

Gershwin frequently suggested to his intimates that he looked forward to the time when he could devote his entire creative energy to painting. "What a great advantage painting has over composing," he once remarked to Botkin. "When I finish a canvas it's there. That's the end. But a composition...after writing it, I have to assemble 60 musicians, and make arrangements of the music before I can hear the results of my efforts."

In discussing Gershwin's progress from amateur to practitioner, Botkin noted the following: "George himself began painting in 1929, and after some encouragement and assistance on my part, revealed a profound and genuine talent. As his painting progressed, he displayed how the specific moods of his musical compositions had given a vital form and emotional strength to his paintings...he was a good student and as his talent began to assert itself, he spent more and more time in the art galleries and museums. He permitted himself to become soaked in the culture of painting and made many visits to the...studios of painters so that he could acquaint himself more fully with the different principles and techniques...he was especially interested in people and portraiture, and he had a decided talent for presenting a whole personality in a small sketch...He always made me believe that painting was a little in advance of music in expressing ideas and moods. If he was interested in modern trends in art, it was because they had the same qualities as the music with which he was concerned. He once told me when we were discussing the French painter Rouault [whom Gershwin particularly admired]: 'I am keen for dissonance; the obvious bores me. The new music and the new art are similar in rhythm, they share a sombre power and fine sentiment.'"

Isamu Noguchi, the noted sculptor, for whom Gershwin once sat, could not contain his amazement at the phenomenally successful composer's passion for painting. In attempting to explain (one might almost say explain away) the duality of his subject's creative drives, Noguchi stated: "Perhaps fleeing from the exorbitant expectations which are heaped upon genius in the 'public eye', painting was his solace.

But this befits Gershwin's accomplishments as a painter. It would be more meaningful to speculate on the probability that Gershwin discovered the larger musical forms to be basically uncongenial to his talents and beyond his reach. He thus had to find an entirely new medium in which to create. The old one may no longer have presented a sufficiently great challenge..."
sequently exhibited at the Arts Club in Chicago.

The paintings had to wait another full quarter century to be assembled again on one spot, when in the spring of 1963, the New York Philharmonic (with the assistance of Henry Botkin) held a major showing of Gershwin's paintings and drawings at Philharmonic Hall in Lincoln Center.

Gershwin frequently suggested to his intimates that he looked forward to the time when he could devote his entire creative energy to painting. "What a great advantage painting has over compos-

Gershwin painting the finishing touches to the Schoenberg portrait—Beverly Hills, 1937—"I am keen for dissonance; the obvious bores me. The new music and the new art are similar in rhythm, they have a sombre power and fine sentiment."

Isamu Noguchi, the noted sculptor, for whom Gershwin once sat, could not contain his amazement at the phenomenally successful composer's passion for painting. In attempting to explain (one might almost say explain away) the duality of his subject's creative drives, Noguchi stated: "Perhaps fleeing from the exorbitant expectations which are heaped upon geniuses in the 'public eye', painting was his solace."

But this belittles Gershwin's accomplishments as a painter. It would be more meaningful to speculate on the probability that Gershwin discovered the larger musical forms to be basically uncongenial to his talents and beyond his reach. He thus had to find an entirely new medium in which to create. The old one may no longer have presented a sufficiently great challenge.
Wool: Always in Fashion

by Deborah Leggat

For spring '87 the fashion industry has produced clothing with an emphasis on body awareness, femininity and elegance: dresses are flirty or sophisticated, suits and jackets are clean and straightforward. Silhouettes are refined and simplified—gone are the exaggerated shoulders, the second-skin constructions, the extraneous details. In fact, the only design element that goes to extremes is the hemline, and the choice to go high or low is entirely individual. Colors are also of the easy-to-look-at, easy-to-wear variety with white remaining important, along with a broad selection of primary colors being joined by an interesting group of the naturals: tile, terra cotta and saffron yellow to name only a few.

The shapes and colors of spring's clothing are, however, not the whole story for the season's fashion. After all, the industry changes those several times a year. What is unusual about this spring's offerings is that more than ever before, they are made of pure, lightweight wool fabrics that are perfectly suited for the California climate.

The initial reaction to the idea of wool for spring and for warm climates is generally one of disbelief: how can a fabric that...
Wool: Always in Fashion

by Deborah Leggat

For spring '87 the fashion industry has produced clothing with an emphasis on body awareness, femininity and elegance: dresses are flirty or sophisticated, suits and jackets are clean and straightforward. Silhouettes are refined and simplified—gone are the exaggerated shoulders, the second-skin constructions, the extraneous details. In fact, the only design element that goes to extremes is the hemline, and the choice to go high or low is entirely individual. Colors are also of the easy-to-look-at, easy-to-wear variety with white remaining important, along with a broad selection of primary colors being joined by an interesting group of the naturals: tile, terra cotta and saffron yellow to name only a few.

The shapes and colors of spring's clothing are, however, not the whole story for the season's fashion. After all, the industry changes those several times a year. What is unusual about this spring's offerings is that more than ever before, they are made of pure, lightweight wool fabrics that are perfectly suited for the California climate.

The initial reaction to the idea of wool for spring and for warm climates is generally one of disbelief: how can a fabric that

Pure wool elegance in a red gabardine suit by Yohji Yamamoto. The pleated slacks feature a square neckline and self fabric covered buttons, and is worn over a slim, back-slit skirt.
is traditionally associated with cold weather, winter and warmth be associated with their antitheses? They can because what is being described here are non-traditional fabrics for different seasons and climates. Wool, the fiber, is a natural insulator, so the same qualities that make it so warm for winter also make it cool for spring. Wool is still one of the most comfortable fabrics to wear because of its breathability, and its long-lasting cross the time barriers; these are lightweight, luxurious fabrics to live in all year. It is a concept that requires a change of attitude about wool, but one that will make most women's lives easier once they adopt it. The calendar will no longer mandate the times for overhauling the closet, and favorite pieces will be wearable for a greater part of the year.
Lightweight wool, while not new, was brought into focus again about five years ago. Originally known as "tropical weights," they were first developed in the '20s and '30s. With the development of synthetics the use of these fabrics was relegated almost exclusively to men's business suits. It took a while for the country to realize the shortcomings of synthetics, particularly for warm weather wear, but once it did, there was a rapid return to, and demand for, natural fibers.
Some of America's best known designers can be credited in large part with bringing back pure lightweight wool for summer wear, and for beginning to convince retailers and consumers that these fabrics are light enough, thin enough and cool enough to wear all year long. Designers such as Oscar de la Renta and Calvin Klein have always understood and appreciated the value and the beauty of pure wool fabrics for spring. Donna Karan, whose premiere collection for fall '85 made the entire fashion industry sit up and take notice, will always be remembered for her signature pure wool jersey bodysuit, wrap skirt and dress. The same pure wool jersey, in a lighter weight, appeared in substantial quantities in an equally successful spring collection, and then spent a very brief time in the stores before it was snatched up by consumers. "I feel very strongly about wool," says Donna Karan. "The woman I am designing for leads an active, busy life; she's working and traveling and has no time to worry about her clothes. My designs in pure wool assure her of comfort and good looks without a lot of fuss-

David Hayes has created a spring suit in nautical navy and white of pure wool gabardine. The collarless navy jacket is detailed with stitched-in tabs and slit pockets, worn with white, woven slacks. The coordinating blouse and headwrap are of silk.

good looks ensure that this season's lightweight clothing will be a pleasure to wear for a long time to come. Moreover, even though these designs are intended for spring wearing, they are simultaneously part of a new category known as "seasonless dressing," or clothes that is traditionally associated with cold weather, winter and warmth be associated with their antitheses? They can because what is being described here are non-traditional fabrics for different seasons and climates. Wool, the fiber, is a natural insulator, so the same qualities that make it so warm for winter also make it cool for spring. Wool is still one of the most comfortable fabrics to wear because of its breathability, and its long-lasting

cross the time barriers: these are lightweight, luxurious fabrics to live in all year. It is a concept that requires a change of attitude about wool, but one that will make most women's lives easier once they adopt it. The calendar will no longer mandate the times for overhauling the closet, and favorite pieces will be wearable for a greater part of the year.

Lightweight wool, while not new, was brought into focus again about five years ago. Originally known as "tropical weights," they were first developed in the '20s and '30s. With the development of synthetics the use of these fabrics was relegated almost exclusively to men's business suits. It took a while for the country to realize the shortcomings of synthetics, particularly for warm weather wear, but once it did, there was a rapid return to, and demand for, natural fibers.

Some of America's best known designers can be credited in large part with bringing back pure lightweight wool for summer wear, and for beginning to convince retailers and consumers that these fabrics are light enough, thin enough and cool enough to wear all year long. Designers such as Oscar de la Renta and Calvin Klein have always understood and appreciated the value and the beauty of pure wool fabrics for spring. Donna Karan, whose premiere collection for fall '85 made the entire fashion industry sit up and take notice, will always be remembered for her signature pure wool jersey bodysuit, wrap skirt and dress. The same pure wool jersey, in a lighter weight, appeared in substantial quantities in an equally successful spring collection, and then spent a very brief time in the stores before it was snatched up by consumers. "I feel very strongly about wool," says Donna Karan. "The woman I am designing for leads an active, busy life; she's working and traveling and has no time to worry about her clothes. My designs in pure wool assure her of comfort and good looks without a lot of fuss-sing. After all, she has more important things to think about than her clothes."

There are several practical reasons for the renewed interest in these fabrics, among them being: a requirement of women that they get the best value for the money they have to spend on clothing; the easy-to-care-for aspects of clothes made from fabrics that naturally resist soil and wrinkling; and the trend toward

THEATER CROWD APPLAUDS "CORINTIA & PARKING"!

Stepping out to a show?
Before curtain time,
dine at the elegant Corintia, and have your parking validated for the entire evening!
Just blocks from all of San Francisco's major theaters.
Serving northern Italian fare from 5:30 - 9:00.
Reservations please.

CORINTIA
RAMADA RENAISSANCE HOTEL
392-8000, EXT. 6530
55 Cyril Magnin, San Francisco

March 24, 1909 The Portola Club celebrates the restoration of San Francisco. Catering. St. Francis style.

We make it memorable.

St. Francis Catering. We deliver.
For more information call the Catering Manager at (415) 774-0126.
sing. After all, she has more important things to think about than her clothes."

There are several practical reasons for the renewed interest in these fabrics, among them being: a requirement of women that they get the best value for the money they have to spend on clothing; the easy-to-care-for aspects of clothes made from fabrics that naturally resist soil and wrinkling; and the trend toward

---

THEATER CROWD APPLAUDS

"CORINTIA & PARKING"!

Stepping out to a show?
Before curtain time, dine at the elegant Corintia, and have your parking validated for the entire evening!
Just blocks from all of San Francisco's major theaters.
Serving northern Italian fare from 5-30.
Reservations please.

CORINTIA

RAMADA RENAISSANCE HOTEL
392-8000, EXT. 6530
55 Cyril Magnin, San Francisco

---

Wool jersey, the new, perennial favorite, shows up here in a pineapple yellow outfit by Jill Martin. This new version of the three piece suit includes a long cardigan with gold buttons, a drop torno turtleneck over a full, wool skirt, all in pure mohair wool.

"seasonless" dressing. More importantly, there are several aesthetic reasons as well. Designers and manufacturers agree that no other fabric drapes like pure wool or feels better on the body. One manufacturer even observed that with the current emphasis placed on health and fitness, women are interested in showing off their figures in “slinky fabrics, and wool jersey in particular can be a very slinky fabric.” Wool, long taken for granted for its practical, wearable qualities, is now being seen in a new light.

While many designers have been committed to wool for spring for quite a while, there are still several recent converts. California designer Jill Martin, for example, is using wool in her spring collection for the second time. This year she is increasing dramatically the amount of wool she is using because “Last year’s wool for fall was the fastest moving group they ever merchandised.” Martin, who is best known for her comfortable, easy knitwear, has been developing a system of component dressing made up of individual pieces that work together. The majority of the collection is in pure wool both because of its comfort and good looks, and because, as Martin says, “I’m designing for an updated customer, someone who understands the quality of wool.”

Martin’s collection for spring includes two concepts in wool: one is a yarn-dyed stripe program and the other is a solid wool jersey group. She is concentrating on the pastel shades, white and taupe, and this year she is adding heathers.

David Hayes, another prominent California designer who dresses some of the country’s most sophisticated women, has been selling wool for spring since he went into business for himself ten years ago. “I always use natural fabrics, and wool is the best! It is so wonderful and can be so lightweight that I can sell it year round,” says Hayes. Hayes works predominantly in wool gabardines, many of which he designs himself in order to have exclusive use of them. The fabrics frequently feature pin-stripes, checks and dots, although Hayes’s close attention to detail make solid colors a viable option as well.

When wool for spring started gaining attention and momentum, the majority of fabrics were jerseys and gabardines. Today, there is a wealth of weaves and structures, from elegant superfine merino poplins and jerseys (the highest quality, favored by Donna Karan), to light, pebbly, crepes, broadcloths and plain weaves. These, according to Escada, are the kinds of “lightweight, luxurious fabrics you can live in, virtually all year through . . . all in summerweights that give you the sense of polish you want, the coolness you need.”

That description sums up the concept of wool for summer—elegant fabrics that are so light, it is difficult to believe they are wool, yet so beautiful they could not be anything else.
women are interested in showing off their figures in 'slinky fabrics, and wool jersey in particular can be a very slinky fabric.' Wooll, long taken for granted for its practical, durable qualities, is now being seen in a new light.

While many designers have been committed to wool for spring for quite a while, there are still several recent converts. California designer Jill Martin, for example, is using wool in her spring collection for the second time. This year she is increasing dramatically the amount of wool she is using because "Last year's wool for fall was the fastest moving group they ever merchandised." Martin, who is best known for her comfortable, easy knitwear, has been developing a system of component dressing made up of individual pieces that work together. The majority of the collection is in pure wool both because of its comfort and good looks, and because, as Martin says, 'I'm designing for an updated customer, someone who understands the quality of wool.'

Martin's collection for spring includes two concepts in wool: one is a yarn-dyed stripe program and the other is a solid wool jersey group. She is concentrating on the pastel shades, white and taupe, and this year she is adding heathers.

David Hayes, another prominent California designer who dresses some of the country's most sophisticated women, has been selling wool for spring since he went into business for himself ten years ago. "I always use natural fabrics, and wool is the best! It is so wonderful and can be so lightweight that I can sell it year round," says Hayes. Hayes works predominantly in wool gabardines, many of which he designs himself in order to have exclusive use of them. The fabrics frequently feature pin-stripes, checks and dots, although Hayes's close attention to detail make solid colors a viable option as well.

When wool for spring started gaining attention and momentum, the majority of fabrics were jerseys and gabardines. Today, there is a wealth of weaves and structures, from elegant superfine merino poplins and jerseys (the highest quality, favored by Donna Karan), to light, pebbly, crepes, broadcloths and plain weaves. These, according to Es-cada, are the kinds of "lightweight, luxurious fabrics you can live in, virtually all year through ... all in summeerweights that give you the sense of polish you want, the coolness you need."

That description sums up the concept of wool for summer—elegant fabrics that are so light, it is difficult to believe they are wool, yet so beautiful they could not be anything else.
We set the table before they set the stage.

At Sutter Garden, dinner begins at 5:30. Our food gets rave reviews, and we're within walking distance of your favorite theaters.

SUTTER GARDEN

562 Sutter btw. Powell and Mason
(415) 433-4434

WYNN HAYAKAWA
WILLIAM MOREHOUSE

3 February–27 February
Opening Reception 3 February, 5:30-7:30
Gallery Hours: Tuesday–Saturday 11:30-5:30
San Francisco Museum of Modern Art Building A Front Mason Street
Laguna Street Entrance
San Francisco, CA 94123
(415) 703-3010

LAVISH REVIEWS featuring Female Impersonators for a night for an evening
of fun and entertainment world re-knowned finocchio's

MUSICALS (Continued from page 38)
be worth a trip to London just for that.
Stephen Sondheim, himself, would seem not to fit in any particular category. An artistic loner, his musicals have usually been a succès d'estime, but few of them have made much money. He has been criticized also for having such integrated scores that hit songs from his works are hard to come by. That may be the case while the shows actually are running, but with the passage of time, his numbers often achieve a life of their own. Send in the Clowns is already a classic and such others as Not While I'm Around, Putting It Together, Joanna, Being Alive and Pretty Women have found success. It is interesting to note that the majority of songs on Barbra Streisand's latest triumph, The Broadway Album, are his.

He is definitely his own man. In "The Best Man in London" from Sweeney Todd, there is a musical quotation that is almost note for note a phrase from a rival's hit song in another musical. Whether this showed outright contempt or merely his tongue placed pretty far in the cheek is open to conjecture.

Whether in London or New York, there is no possibility of understimating the old word of mouth. Phantom of the Opera, for example, divided the critics, but the public is eating it up. Me and My Girl did not have a heavy advance sale and few knew Robert Lindsay, but preview performances caused a steady building of interest even before the reviews, mostly favorable, came out. Some years ago, The Wiz was pretty well savaged by the press, but against all odds, the show found an audience.

If, as Mr. Mackintosh contends, the musical comedy has become internationalized, writers must find a new way of reaching a worldwide audience. It is amazing to discover that new immigrants to this country know our pop music, in translation, of course. They do not seem to know the oeuvres of Webber and Rice, however.
We set the table before they set the stage.

At Sutter Garden, dinner begins at 5:30. Our food gets rave reviews, and we're within walking distance of your favorite theaters.

LAVISH REVIEWS featuring Female Impersonators

for years *
* for an evening *
+ of fun and entertainment world renowned

562 Sutter btw. Powell and Mason
(415) 433-4434

MUSICALS (Continued from page 38)

be worth a trip to London just for that.

Stephen Sondheim, himself, would seem not to fit in any particular category. An artistic loner, his musicals have usually been a success d'estime, but few of them have made much money. He has been criticized also for having such integrated scores that hit songs from his works are hard to come by. That may be the case while the shows actually are running, but with the passage of time, his numbers often achieve a life of their own. Send in the Clowns is already a classic and such others as Not While I'm Around, Putting It Together, Joanna, Being Alive and Pretty Women have found success. It is interesting to note that the majority of songs on Barbra Streisand's latest triumph, The Broadway Album, are his.

He is definitely his own man. In "The Best Pets in London," from Sweeney Todd, there is a musical quotation that is almost a note in a rival's hit song in another musical. Whether this showed outright contempt or merely his tongue placed pretty far in the cheek is open to conjecture.

Whether in London or New York, there is no possibility of underestimating the old word of mouth. Phantom of the Opera, for example, divided the critics, but the public is eating it up. Me and My Girl did not have a heavy advance sale and few knew Robert Lindsay, but preview performances caused a steady building of interest even before the reviews, mostly favorable, came out. Some years ago, The Wiz was pretty well savaged by the press, but against all odds, the show found an audience.

If, as Mr. Mackintosh contends, the musical comedy has become internationalized, writers must find a new way of reaching a worldwide audience. It is amazing to discover that new immigrants to this country know our pop music, in translation, of course. They do not seem to know the oeuvres of Webber and Rice, however.

The AMERICAN PATRIOTS CLUB

IF YOU ARE 60 OR OVER IT PAYS TO JOIN, TODAY!

Minimum deposit only $2,500
(That's half what some others require)
BONUS INTEREST...1/2% over current rate on deposits of $5,000 in one year term account.

FREE INTEREST CHECKING
No Service Charges

FREE TRAVELERS CHECKS
American Express (Unlimited)

FREE DIRECT DEPOSIT
Retirement, S. S., Trust

UNLIMITED FREE CHECKS
Corporate Style Only

FREE NOTE COLLECTION
One Per Year

FREE PHOTO COPIES
Legal Documents Only

FREE MONEY ORDERS
Limited

FREE DEBIT CARD
No Fee

FREE SAFE DEPOSIT BOX
Small, Where Available

PLUS
CRUISE TRAVEL DISCOUNTS UP TO 50%...
Discounts on land travel, car rental, hotel, merchandise, entertainment and much more.

Consult Your Local Directory For The Branch Nearest You.
The talent is by no means waning in this country and blossoming in England. It’s just that the composers and lyricists here have not gone into the theatre. The Frenchmen responsible for Les Miserables aside, there are no million masterpieces in London waiting to be put on. That may explain why Mackintosh has declared he only wants to do one show a year from now on in. He doesn’t need the money. He is simply bitten with the production bug and a love of the musical theatre, which is American based.

The American musical or the international musical, if you prefer, has never stood still, any more than any other art form, but traditions can stand still, and indeed, die. The world of opera in the 18th and 19th centuries was the pop culture of the day. It is precisely when composers stopped writing for the public that opera as a living art form began to die. Since Puccini’s Turandot in 1921, there has been precious little. We are beginning to discover late Richard Strauss, and Poulenc and Britten have contributed to the international repertory, but there are few other works of individuality or strong profile.

Thus one may ask if the musical is similarly doomed and Broadway is relegated to the function of the Metropolitan or Covent Garden or La Scala in becoming museums for past works of art. It is always difficult to have perspective in one’s own time. Perhaps we may hope that the Rupert Holmeses, the David Byrnes, the David Bowies may find it challenging to write for the theatre, to give us new paths and directions.

One thing is certain. There will be at least some producers like a Cameron Mackintosh to engage in a labor of love and some critic like a Clive Barnes waiting hopefully to acclaim and, above all, a public ready to fill the theatres. It doesn’t matter much on which side of the Atlantic the efforts originate.

"Oh, Harrods, what have ye done?"

Since 1824, word of The Macallan has ever so humbly spread from one scotch fancier to another. But now we hear that Harrods Book of Spirits has called our single malt “The Rolls Royce of Scotch.” We δinna know the effect this will have upon our sales, but just to be safe we’ve got Willie MacPherson makin’ a few extra barrels.

The Macallan.
Premium Single Malt Scotch.
The talent is by no means waning in this country and blossoming in England. It's just that the composers and lyricists here have not gone into the theatre. The Frenchmen responsible for Les Miserables aside, there are no million masterpieces in London waiting to be put on. That may explain why Mackintosh has declared he only wants to do one show a year from now on in. He doesn't need the money. He is simply bitten with the production bug and a love of the musical theatre, which is American based.

The American musical or the international musical, if you prefer, has never stood still, any more than any other art form, but traditions can stand still and, indeed, die. The world of opera in the 18th and 19th centuries was the pop culture of the day. It is precisely when composers stopped writing for the public that opera as a living art form began to die. Since Puccini's Turandot in 1921, there has been precious little. We are beginning to discover late Richard Strauss, and Poulenc and Britten have contributed to the international repertory, but there are few other works of individuality or strong profile.

Thus one may ask if the musical is similarly doomed and Broadway is relegated to the function of the Metropolitan or Covent Garden or La Scala in becoming museums for past works of art. It is always difficult to have perspective in one's own time. Perhaps we may hope that the Rupert Holmeses, the David Byrnes, the David Bowies may find it challenging to write for the theatre, to give us new paths and directions.

One thing is certain. There will be at least some producers like a Cameron Mackintosh to engage in a labor of love and some critic like a Clive Barnes waiting hopefully to acclaim and, above all, a public ready to fill the theatres. It doesn't matter much on which side of the Atlantic the efforts originate.

"Oh, Harrods, what have ye done?"

Since 1824, word of The Macallan has ever so humbly spread from one scotch fancier to another. But now we hear that Harrods Book of Spirits has called our single malt "The Rolls Royce of Scotch". We dinna know the effect this will have upon our sales, but just to be safe we've got Willie MacPherson makin' a few extra barrels.

Cavalier by Chevrolet.
Just the Ticket!

Stepping out with your baby? Then don’t forget your tickets to one of the Bay Area’s longest running hits: BART! Always a crowd pleaser, BART helps you avoid the hassle of traffic and the expense of parking. So next time you’re out for an evening of music or theatre, take BART. You’ll discover we’re just the ticket when you want fun to go further.

A Sweet Finale
At the S. Holmes Cocktail Lounge

• Sparkling Jazz
• Spectacular View
• Delicious Cappuccino

TRADER VIC’S
20 Carson Place, San Francisco
776-2332

An International Experience

• Spicy Chicken
• Sushi
• Delicious Sushi

LUXURY SQUARE
Centre of office & Powell St.
(415) 901-9000

S AN F R A N C I S C O

Restaurant Guide

THE CARNELLIAN ROOM, 1025 California St., 52nd Fl. (415)433-5002, D 3:30 Mon-Fri, 4:30 Sat, BR 10:30 A.M. Sun., Seasonal American cuisine. Award winning wine list. Breathtaking views of SF. Private banquet suites. AE DC CB V MC DIS.

CIACO, 210 Jackson St. (415)982-9900. L-D 11-12 Mon-Sat., 4-12 Sun., Chiz, bright & lively, Northern Italian trattoria. Milanese menu features charcoal grilled fresh seafood & meats. Pasta made as you watch. For dessert, try Italian ice with expresso. Full bar. AE DC CB V MC.

CORINTIA-RAMADA RENAISSANCE HOTEL, Market at Fifth (415)922-4000. D 5:30-11 Tues-Sat. Even among discerning San Franciscans, the Ramada Renaissance is known for fine dining. Consider the Corintia. Here the mood is shadow-blue, highlighted by etched glass, sambonet silver & fine imported crystal. Dinner menus offer innovative expressions of Northern Italian cuisine. The wine list features over 150 domestic & imported labels. Reservations suggested. AE DC CB V MC DIS.

KEY
B Breakfast; L Lunch; D Dinner; BR Brunch

CREDIT CARDS
AE American Express; MC MasterCard; DC Diners Club; DIS Discover CB Carte Blanche; V Visa

GAYLORD

Simply elegant dining.

One Embassadia Court, 4883-30777
Orinda Square 488-3177
Shopping Center, 488-3177

GAYLORD

intra restaurant

Uncover French Country Dining

820 Dairy Ave, Petaluma, CA 94954

L’Olivier

49
Just the Ticket!
Stepping out with your baby? Then don't forget your tickets to one of the Bay Area's longest running hits: BART! Always a crowd pleaser, BART helps you avoid the hassles of traffic and the expense of parking. So next time you're out for an evening of music or theatre, take BART. You'll discover we've just the ticket when you want fun to go farther.

A Sweet Finale
At the S. Holmes Cocktail Lounge
• Finishing Desserts
• Artisanal Jazz
• Spectacular View
• Delicious Cocktails

Trader Vic's
20 Cosmo Plaza, San Francisco
776-2232

An International Experience

S A N F R A N C I S C O

Restaurant Guide

THE CARNELIAN ROOM, 355 California St., 52nd Fl. (415/633-7000), D 3-12 Mon.-Fri., 4-2 Sat., BR 11:30 A.M. Sun.; Seasonal American cuisine. Award-winning wine list. Breathtaking views of SF. Private banquet suites. AE DC CB V MC DIS.

CHINA STATION, 700 University Ave., Berkely (415/546-7888), L-D 11-1:30 Daily, Cocktails till 2; Extensive menu featuring fresh seafood, located in the historic So. Pacific railroad depot. Full bar. Free parking AE DC V MC.

CLIO, 230 Jackson St. (415/982-9500), L-D 11-12 Mon.-Sat., 4-2 Sun., Chiz, bright & lively. Northern Italian, trattoria. Milanese menu features charcoal grilled fresh seafood & meats. Pasta made as you watch. For desserts, try Italian ice with espresso. Full bar. AE DC CB V MC.

CORINTHA-RAMADA RENAISSANCE HOTEL, Market at Fifth (415/992-8000), D 5:30-11 Tues.-Sat.; Even among discerning San Franciscans, the Ramada Renaissance is known for fine dining. Consider the Corinthis. Here the mood is shadow-blue, highlighted by etched glass, sambonet silver & fine imported crystal. Dinner menus offer innovative expressions of Northern Italian cuisine. The wine list features over 150 domestic & imported labels. Reservations suggested. AE DC CB V MC DIS.

GAYLORD

Simply elegant dining.

Uncovered French Country Dining
400 Days at Bel Air, Santa Monica (310-834-7775)

Goyard

L'Oliven
AMERICAN BALLET THEATRE

Mikhail Baryshnikov • Artistic Director

DON'T MISS
the San Francisco Premiere of the fairy tale spectacular
THE SLEEPING BEAUTY
Feb. 20/8pm, 2/12 & 8pm, 2/22 & 8pm, and the Full-Length production of the exotic
LA BAYADERE
Feb. 27/8pm, 2/28 & 8pm, Mar. 1/2 & 8pm.
The San Francisco premieres of VIOLIN CONCERTO ENOUGH SAID and WALK THIS WAY presented in six mixed programs with PAQUITA / MURDER THEME AND VARIATIONS
DONIZETTI VARIATIONS and PILLAR OF FIRE

ORDER YOUR TICKETS TODAY!

Please choose from the following:

Orch/ Amp/ Loge/ Balcony/ Rear Balcony/ Dress Circle $53.00 $44.00 $32.00 $22.00 $24.00 $22.00

Show times and seating chart are subject to change.
For more information, please call 415-864-3330.

HARRIS', 200 Van Ness (415) 673-1868, L: 11:30-2, Mon.-Fri., D: 5:30-10; Nightly. Finest steak, prime rih, fresh seafood, chicken, duck, etc in elegant traditional setting. House-made desserts. Piano nightly. All DC W MC.

INTI HUASI, 404 Mission St., near Ocean Ave.
(415) 548-270, D: 5:30-10 Mon.-Sat.; Authentic Peru-Vian-Bolivian cuisine. Late night dining. Live music & dancing. V MC.

MAX'S OPERA CAFE, 401 Van Ness (415) 771-2701, L-D 11:15-12 Mon.-Thur., 1 Fri.-Sat., till 12 Sun.; International della specializing in salads, sanwiches & barbecue, fish fish & desserts. Entertainment by singing waiters. DC, CB V MC.

SUTTER GARDEN, 562 Sutter St., Bren Powell &
Macon (415) 443-4441, B 7-10; L 11:30-2, D 5-30-8:
Daily; Contemporary continental cuisine. Specialties include a fresh catch of the day, pastas, salads & sumptuous desserts. All DC, CB W MC.

TRADER VICS', 20 Cosmo Pl. (415) 776-2223, L: 11:30-2:30 Mon.-Fri., D: 5-2:30 A.M.; Flagship restaurant of the internationally known company. Exotic meats & fish. Delicacies from here & abroad. Full bar & wine list. All DC, CB V MC.

WHITE ELEPHANT, HOLIDAY INN UNION
SQUARE, 480 Sutter St. (415) 988-8900, B 6:30-10:30, L: 11:30-2:30 Mon.-Sat., D: 6-10 Nightly; Salads, steaks & fresh seafood. Special menu for early dining. Full bar & wine list. Sheraton Holmes Cocktail Lounge, 4:30-3:30, with live entertainment Thurs.-Sat. All DC, CB W MC.

ZOLA'S, 1722 Sacramento St. (415) 775-3311, D: 6-31
Tues.-Sat.; Simple yet elegant French food. Game, cassoulet, lamb. Fresh fish daily. "One of SF's ten best." — Patricia Underman. All DC W MC.
DON'T MISS
the San Francisco Premiere of the fairy tale spectacular
THE SLEEPING BEAUTY
Full: 2/6/8pm, 2/12 & 2/13; 2/27/8pm. and the Full-Length production of the exotic
LA BAYADERE
Feb. 27/8pm, 2/28 & 2/8pm, Mar. 1/2 & 8pm.
The San Francisco premieres of VIOLIN CONCERTO ENOUGH SAID and WALK THIS WAY presented in six mixed programs with PACUITA / MURDER THEME AND VARIATIONS DONIZETTI VARIATIONS and PILLAR OF FIRE
ORDER YOUR TICKETS TODAY!
Phone: 415-843-3300
Order: Muni Ticket Service, Market Center, American Express Muni - Sat. 10:40am-9pm

AMERICAN BALLET THEATRE

HARRIS, 2100 Van Ness (415-673-3888). L 11:30-2 Mon.-Fri., D 5:30-30 Nightly. Prime rib, prime rib, fresh seafood, chicken, duck, etc. in elegant traditional setting. Houseside-desserts. Piano nightly. AE DC V MC.

SUTTER GARDEN, 562 Sutter St., Brown Powell & Mason (415-363-4436). B & L, L 11:30-2, D 5-9-10 Daily. Contemporary continental cuisine. Specialties include a fresh catch of the day, pastas, salads & sumptuous desserts. AE DC CB V MC. DCS.

Top Brass.
You don’t get to be Number One by just touting your horn. Performance after performance, the sound of excellence must ring clear. That’s why more San Franciscans choose United more than any other airline. By far.
We offer San Francisco more flights to more cities than anyone. All 50 states are covered by friendly skies. And our low plan-ahead fares will surely be sweet music to your ears.
Call your Travel Agent for reservations. Or call us at 397-2100.
Taste test.

The richest coffee in the world."