First Republic Bank
It's a privilege to serve you®

“First Republic made an instant impression on us. They actually perform when other banks just talk.”

IRA SPANIEMAN
MANAGING DIRECTOR, SPANIEMAN GALLERY, LLC

NEXT AT A.C.T.

MAMET

THE TAKE
"Mamet is one of our most brazen and intelligent modern writers—and the best person I can think of to give a fresh feel to this morally complex story of a family business that succeeds by swindling its clients."

PERLOFF

VOYSEY

THE VOYSEY INHERITANCE
MAR 18-APR 17 Geary Theater
by Harley Granville-Barker | ADAPTED by David Mamet | DIRECTED by Carey Perloff

Lilies in Bloom at Zuem Theater

A.C.T. core acting company member Gregory Wallace makes his A.C.T./Zuem Theater debut in the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program’s production of Lilies, Michel Marc Bouchard’s romantic drama about the passionate love between two young men at a Catholic boys’ school in rural Canada in 1912. Lilies, a coproduction between A.C.T. and Theatre Rhinoceros, is being performed at Zuem in repertory with Steve Gosch’s Female Transport; both productions feature members of the M.F.A. Program’s class of 2005, performing alongside professional actors. We caught up with Wallace to discuss Lilies.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF LILIES?
GW: As an artist, I am always looking for a new direction to work in. My character, the Countess de Tilly, is very complex, and the play is staged in a highly unusual manner. I also find the idea of an African-American man playing a French woman to be incredibly fun.

WHAT IS IT LIKE WORKING WITH A.C.T.’S M.F.A. STUDENTS, MANY OF WHOM YOU’VE TAUGHT IN THE CLASSROOM?
I have known these students for almost three years now—taught them, directed them, and watched them grow as artists—and they may be surprised to hear that I’m learning as much from them as they ever did from me.

WHAT DO YOU THINK THE AUDIENCE CAN EXPECT FROM LILIES?
This is a very dramatic play to come into with preconceived notions, even if you are familiar with the film version. The audience should expect to see an exquisite, challenging, and deeply layered play. And they should save a lot of time afterwards to debate the show with their friends; this is a play that will follow you home at the end of the night.

In repertory at Zuem Theater:

Lilies
by Michel Marc Bouchard | Translated by Linda Gaboriau
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Produced with Theatre Rhinoceros
MAR 10-APR 2

Female Transport
by Steve Gosch
Directed by Anne Kaufman
MAR 8-APR 3

American Conservatory Theater
Geary Theater
San Francisco

www.act-sf.org | 415.749.2ACT
The Voysey Inheritance

MAR 18-APR 17 Geary Theater

by Harley Granville-Barker | ADAPTED by David Mamet | DIRECED by Carey Perloff

Lilies in Bloom at Zeum Theater

A.C.T. core acting company member Gregory Wallace makes his A.C.T./Zeum Theater debut in the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program’s production of Lilies, Michel Marc Bouchard’s romantic drama about the passionate love between two young men at a Catholic boys’ school in rural Canada in 1912. Lilies, a coproduction between A.C.T. and Théâtre Rhinocéros, is being performed at Zeum in repertory with Steve Goseh’s Female Transport, both productions feature members of the M.F.A. Program’s class of 2005, performing alongside professional actors. We caught up with Wallace to discuss Lilies.

WHAT DREW YOU TO LILIES?

GW: As an artist, I am always looking for a new direction to work in. My character, the Countess de Tilly, is very complex, and the play is staged in a highly unusual manner. I also found the idea of an African-American man playing a French woman to be incredibly fun.

WHAT IS IT LIKE WORKING WITH A.C.T.’S M.F.A. STUDENTS, MANY OF WHOM YOU’VE TAUGHT IN THE CLASSROOM?

I have known these students for almost three years now—taught them, directed them, and watched them grow as artists—and they may be surprised to hear that I’m learning as much from them as they ever did from me.

WHAT DO YOU THINK THE AUDIENCE CAN EXPECT FROM LILIES?

This is a very dramatic and touching, as well as very memorable play. The audience should expect to see an exquisite, challenging, and deeply layered play. And they should have a lot of time afterwards to debate the show with their friends; this is definitely a play that will follow you home at the end of the night.

In repertory at
Zeum Theater:

LILIES

by Michel Marc Bouchard
Translated by Linda Gaboriau
Directed by Serge Demoucourt
Produced with Théâtre Rhinocéros
MAR 10 – APR 2

FEMALE TRANSPORT

by Steve Goseh
Directed by Anne Kaufman
MAR 8 – APR 3

American Conservatory Theater

Geary Theater
San Francisco

www.act-sf.org | 415.749.2ACT

NEXT AT A.C.T.

MAMET

PERLOFF

VOYSEY

THE SET-UP

"Mamet is one of our most brazen and intelligent modern writers—and the best person I can think of to give a fresh feel to this morally complex story of a family business that succeeds by swindling its clients."

THE TAKE

"The more able a man is, the less the word ‘honesty’ bothers him... and Voysey was a very able man.

THE VOYSEY INHERITANCE

by Harley Granville-Barker | ADAPTED by David Mamet | DIRECED by Carey Perloff

Lilies in Bloom at Zeum Theater

A.C.T. core acting company member Gregory Wallace makes his A.C.T./Zeum Theater debut in the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program’s production of Lilies, Michel Marc Bouchard’s romantic drama about the passionate love between two young men at a Catholic boys’ school in rural Canada in 1912. Lilies, a coproduction between A.C.T. and Théâtre Rhinocéros, is being performed at Zeum in repertory with Steve Goseh’s Female Transport, both productions feature members of the M.F.A. Program’s class of 2005, performing alongside professional actors. We caught up with Wallace to discuss Lilies.

WHAT DREW YOU TO LILIES?

GW: As an artist, I am always looking for a new direction to work in. My character, the Countess de Tilly, is very complex, and the play is staged in a highly unusual manner. I also find the idea of an African-American man playing a French woman to be incredibly fun.

WHAT IS IT LIKE WORKING WITH A.C.T.’S M.F.A. STUDENTS, MANY OF WHOM YOU’VE TAUGHT IN THE CLASSROOM?

I have known these students for almost three years now—taught them, directed them, and watched them grow as artists—and they may be surprised to hear that I’m learning as much from them as they ever did from me.

WHAT DO YOU THINK THE AUDIENCE CAN EXPECT FROM LILIES?

This is a very dramatic and touching, as well as very memorable play. The audience should expect to see an exquisite, challenging, and deeply layered play. And they should have a lot of time afterwards to debate the show with their friends; this is definitely a play that will follow you home at the end of the night.

In repertory at
Zeum Theater:

LILIES

by Michel Marc Bouchard
Translated by Linda Gaboriau
Directed by Serge Demoucourt
Produced with Théâtre Rhinocéros
MAR 10 – APR 2

FEMALE TRANSPORT

by Steve Goseh
Directed by Anne Kaufman
MAR 8 – APR 3

American Conservatory Theater

Geary Theater
San Francisco

www.act-sf.org | 415.749.2ACT
For Breathing Space
Or A Place That Takes Your Breath Away,

You're Home.

200 Brannan has gained a reputation for capturing the growing spirit of South Beach, with soaring floor-to-ceiling windows, breathtaking architecture and urban excitement. We've just released our final residencies and to say we've saved the best for last would be understated. 200 Brannan's exclusive Gallo Collection of penthouse and corner residences features stunning City views, a gourmet chef's kitchen, private gallery area and ample room for entertaining. Gallo residences are priced over $995,000. Visit us at the corner of Brannan and Delancey Streets in San Francisco daily from 11-5 by appointment. Closed Wednesday. For information, visit 200brannan.com or call 415.543.1919.

The Gallo Collection
at 200 Brannan

From the Artistic Director

Dear Friends,

On the first day of rehearsals for Wolf in San Francisco, Lisa Kron said that if pressed to describe her new play in one sentence, she would say that it explains the "challenges of empathy." I love that articulation, because it encapsulates much of what is both moving and hilarious about this remarkable piece: how do we empathize with illness in a culture obsessed with wellness?

We spend an enormous time in American culture obsessing about health, while at the same time behaving in all kinds of ways guaranteed to promote sickness. In particular, we love to talk about "stress" (a word I don't remember hearing uttered as a child). We seem convinced that if we could just eliminate stress, we would give birth to the happy, healthy culture we imagine we have in ourselves to create—but probably wouldn't recognize if we found ourselves a part of it.

Into this context arrives Lisa Kron's hilarious and apt new play Wolf, which she and her collaborators have continued to develop since their sold-out run at The Public Theater in New York a year ago. It is always a great pleasure to engage in such vigorous new work, and recently that engagement has taken place at every level of A.C.T.'s January saw Freyda Thomas's new adaptation of Regan's 17th-century farce The Gamester delight audiences here at the Geary, while the English-language premiere of Hilde, a mysterious new French play by Marie Ndiaye, opened at Zeum, where we have been developing and producing many new plays. At the same time, our third-year Master of Fine Arts Program students workshoped several plays by outstanding writers: Amy Freed, an A.C.T. alumnus and author of the delightful The Band of Arvoc; Stuart Thompson, a wonderful Scottish playwright; and Russell Lee, from upstate New York. And as you read this, we are hard at work collaborating with David Mamet on his brilliant A.C.T.-commissioned adaptation of Granville-Barker's 1905 play The Virgin Inheritance, which begins its world-premiere run at the Geary on March 18.

We hope the invigorating spirit of Lisa Kron's Wolf will inspire you to come back and see other new work at A.C.T. You are a crucial part of A.C.T.'s efforts to support exciting new artists at every stage of their careers, and for that we are deeply grateful! Have a wonderful time with Wolf.

Yours,

Carole Perloff
A.C.T. Artistic Director
FROM THE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

Dear Friends,

On the first day of rehearsals for Wolf in San Francisco, Lisa Kron said that if pressed to describe her new play in one sentence, she would say that it explains "the challenges of empathy." I love that articulation, because it encapsulates much of what is both moving and hilarious about this remarkable piece: how do we empathize with illness in a culture obsessed with wellness?

We spend an enormous time in American culture obsessing about health, while at the same time behaving in all kinds of ways guaranteed to promote sickness. In particular, we love to talk about "stress" (a word I don't remember hearing uttered as a child). We seem convinced that if we could just eliminate stress, we would give birth to the happy, healthy culture we imagine we have in ourselves to create—but probably wouldn't recognize if we found ourselves a part of it.

Into this context arrives Lisa Kron's hilarious and apt new play Wolf, which she and her collaborators have continued to develop since their sold-out run at The Public Theater in New York a year ago. It is always a great pleasure to engage in such vigorous new work, and recently that engagement has taken place at every level of A.C.T.: January saw Freya Thomas's new adaptation of Regan's 17th-century farce The Gamester delight audiences here at the Geary, while the English-language premiere of Hilde's, a mysterious new French play by Marie Ndiaye, opened at Zeum, where we have been developing and producing many new plays. At the same time, our third-year Master of Fine Arts Program students workshoped several plays by outstanding writers: Amy Freed, an A.C.T. alumna and author of the delightful The Board of Avon; Stuart Thompson, a wonderful Scottish playwright; and Russell Lee, from upstate New York. As you can read this, we are hard at work collaborating with David Mamet on his brilliant A.C.T.-commissioned adaptation of Granville-Barker's 1905 play The Mayor's Return, which begins its world-premiere run at the Geary on March 18.

We hope the invigorating spirit of Lisa Kron's Wolf will inspire you to come back and see other new work at A.C.T. You are a crucial part of A.C.T.'s efforts to support exciting new artists at every stage of their careers, and for that we are deeply grateful! Have a wonderful time with Wolf.

Yours,

Carol Perloff
A.C.T. Artistic Director
Helping Buyers and Sellers
Achieve Their Dreams

Nina Hatvany
Simply the best...

Either the Number One Agent or the Agent with the Most Transactions for all fourteen years at TRI Coldwell Banker

ABOUT A.C.T.

American Conservatory Theater nurtures the art of live theater through dynamic productions, intensive actor training in its conservatory, and an ongoing dialogue with its community. Under the leadership of Artistic Director Carey Perloff and Executive Director Heather Kitchen, A.C.T. embraces its responsibility to conserve, renew, and reinvent its relationship to the rich theatrical traditions and literatures that are our collective legacy, while exploring new artistic forms and new communities. A commitment to the highest standards informs every aspect of A.C.T.’s creative work.

Founded in 1965 by William Ball, A.C.T. opened its first San Francisco season at the Geary Theater in 1967. In the 1970s, A.C.T. solidified its national and international reputation, winning a Tony Award for outstanding theater performance and training in 1979. During the past three decades, more than 300 A.C.T. productions have been performed to a combined audience of seven million people; today, A.C.T.’s performance, education, and outreach programs annually reach more than 270,000 people in the San Francisco Bay Area. In 1996, A.C.T.’s efforts to develop creative talent for the theater were recognized with the prestigious Jujamcyn Theaters Award. In 2001, to celebrate A.C.T.’s 35th anniversary and Perloff’s 10th season, A.C.T. created a new core company of actors, who have become instrumental in every aspect of its work. Today A.C.T. is recognized nationally for its groundbreaking productions of classical works and bold explorations of contemporary playwriting. Since the reopening of the Geary Theater in 1996, A.C.T. has enjoyed a remarkable period of audience expansion and financial stability. In 2001, A.C.T. began producing alternative work at Z Space Theater, which now serves as a venue for student productions and exciting new plays. The company continues to produce challenging theater in the rich context of symposia, audience discussions, and community interaction.

The conservatory, led by Melissa Smith, now serves 3,000 students every year. It was the first actor training program in the United States not affiliated with a college or university accredited to award a master of fine arts degree. Danny Glover, Annette Bening, Denzel Washington, and Winona Ryder are among the conservatory’s distinguished former students. With its commitment to excellence in actor training and to the relationship between training, performance, and audience, the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program has moved to the forefront of America’s actor training programs, while serving as the creative engine of the company at large.

A.C.T.
american conservatory theater

Carey Perloff, Artistic Director • Heather Kitchen, Executive Director

TRUSTEES OF THE AMERICAN CONSERVATORY THEATER FOUNDATION

Mary S. Metz
Chair
Nancy Livingston
Vice Chair
Kent M. Harvey
Treasurer
Edward J. Dobranzki
Secretary
Barbara Ban Bakar
Reza Baniroosta
Lozey Ann Clement
Jean Dedolph
Dagnun Doby
Mortimer Fleckhacker
Pricilla B. Green
Kambi B. Gregg
Richard H. Harding
Carrie W. Haehne
Heather M. Kitchen
Jason W. Larkin
Thomas A. Lawler
Sue Young Li
Christine Matthes
Douglas McMurtry
J. Sanford Miller
Michele Balland Miller
Howard M. Nenowozki
Carey Perloff
Steve Phillips
Tori Rembe
Sally Rosenblatt
Buzy Reff
Courtney Russell
Bian Selinger
Cheryl Sorkin
Steven L. Swig
Patrick S. Thompson
Terri Robbins Tiffany
Larry VanBuh
Bunny Lawson Williams
Alan L. Stein
Chairman Emeritus
American Conservatory Theater was founded in 1965 by William Ball.
Edward Hastings
Artistic Director 1986-92

A.C.T. Box Office
415.749.2817

A.C.T. Web Site
www.act-sf.org

© 2005 American Conservatory Theatre, a not-for-profit organization. All rights reserved.

Elizabeth Borderline, Publication Editor
Jessica Weimer, Associate Publication Editor
Helping Buyers and Sellers Achieve Their Dreams

Nina Hatvany
Simply the best...

Either the Number One Agent or the Agent with the Most Transactions for all fourteen years at TRI Coldwell Banker

ABOUT A.C.T.

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY THEATER nurtures the art of live theater through dynamic productions, intensive actor training in its conservatory, and an ongoing dialogue with its community. Under the leadership of Artistic Director Carey Perloff and Executive Director Heather Kitchen, A.C.T. embraces its responsibility to conserve, renew, and reinvent in its relationship to the rich theatrical traditions and literatures that are our collective legacy, while exploring new artistic forms and new communities. A commitment to the highest standards informs every aspect of A.C.T.'s creative work.

Founded in 1965 by William Ball, A.C.T. opened its first San Francisco season at the Geary Theater in 1967. In the 1970s, A.C.T. solidified its national and international reputation, winning a Tony Award for outstanding theater performance and training in 1979. During the past three decades, more than 300 A.C.T. productions have been performed to a combined audience of seven million people; today, A.C.T.'s performance, education, and outreach programs annually reach more than 270,000 people in the San Francisco Bay Area. In 1996, A.C.T.'s efforts to develop creative talent for the theater were recognized with the prestigious Jujamcyn Theaters Award. In 2001, to celebrate A.C.T.'s 35th anniversary and Perloff's 10th season, A.C.T. created a new core company of actors who have become instrumental in every aspect of its work. Today A.C.T. is recognized nationally for its groundbreaking productions of classical works and bold explorations of contemporary playwriting. Since the reopening of the Geary Theater in 1996, A.C.T. has enjoyed a remarkable period of audience expansion and financial stability. In 2001, A.C.T. began producing alternative work at Zeum Theater, which now serves as a venue for student productions and exciting new plays. The company continues to produce challenging theater in the rich context of symposia, audience discussions, and community interaction.

The conservatory, led by Melissa Smith, now serves 3,000 students every year. It was the first actor training program in the United States not affiliated with a college or university accredited to award a master of fine arts degree. Danny Glover, Annette Bening, Denzel Washington, and Winona Ryder are among the conservatory's distinguished former students. With its commitment to excellence in actor training and to the relationship between training, performance, and audience, the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program has moved to the forefront of America's actor training programs, while serving as the creative engine of the company at large.
THE HEIGHT OF SAN FRANCISCO LIVING

RESIDENCES
ST. REGIS
SAN FRANCISCO

St. Regis Residences.
A distinguished neighbor
to the San Francisco
Museum of Modern Art.
Rising from the 22nd to the 40th floor of the new
St. Regis Hotel, the luxurious residences are a stunning convergence of world-class architecture and design with impeccable hospitality.

24-Hour Concierge Service
Spa and Fitness Center
St. Regis Butler Service

Expansive two and three bedroom luxury residences and three duplex penthouses

FOR THE PLEASURES OF OWNERSHIP, PLEASE CONTACT
STREGISRESIDENCES.COM/SANFRANCISCO
TEL: 415.979.9966 FAX: 415.979.9922

THE AMERICAN CONSERVATORY THEATER

Well
by Lisa Kron
Directed by Leigh Silverman

Scenery by Allen Moyer
Costumes by Miranda Hoffman
Lighting by Christopher Akerlind
Sound by Garth Hennspill
Dramaturg by John Dias
Casting by Jordan Thaler/Heidi Griffis
San Francisco Casting by Meryl Lind Shaw

THE CAST
Lisa Kron

Ensemble
Sasah Arrika Ekolona
Jayne Houdyshell
A-men Rasheed
Joel Van Liew
Welker White

UNDERSTUDIES
For Lisa Kron, Jayne Houdyshell, and Welker White—Stacy Ross
For Sasah Arrika Ekolona—Dawn Elin Fraser
For A-men Rasheed—David Ryan Smith
For Joel Van Liew—Loren Nordlund

STAGE MANAGEMENT STAFF
Martha Donaldson, Stage Manager
Elisa Guthertz, Assistant Stage Manager
Susan Martin, Intern

ADDITIONAL CREDITS
Elisabeth Williamson, Assistant Director

Well will be performed without an intermission.

Original New York production by The Public Theater
Mara Manus, Executive Director • George C. Wolfe, Producer

A workshop production of Well was commissioned by Dixon Place and presented with The Public Theater with funds from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, and the Lucille Lortel Foundation as part of New York Now, the Public’s annual play reading festival.

Developed with the assistance of the Sundance Institute Theatre Laboratory.

Well is a project of the Creative Capital Theatre Laboratory.

This production is sponsored in part by EXECUTIVE PRODUCER

Hilton
San Francisco
IDENTITY CRISIS

BY ELIZABETH BRODERSEN

Lisa Kron appears to be having an identity crisis. Recognized on the one hand as a performer of wryly poignant, self-revealing one-woman shows, she also has a devoted following, particularly in San Francisco, as a member of the irreverently avant-garde ensemble The Five Lesbian Brothers. In "Well," Kron’s most recent theatrical experiment, her worlds collide, as Lisa the solo artist shares her onstage life with a dramatically strong community of her own making.

As with all of Kron’s solo work, the facts portrayed in "Well" are true. Growing up as a white Jewish girl in a significantly African-American midwestern suburb of Lansing, Michigan—where her mother, Ann Kron, was the founder and longtime leader of the West Side Neighborhood Association—Kron found herself something of an outsider. She turned her considerable creative energy to performance. "I always thought of myself as a performer," Kron has said. "I don’t know why. I never did school plays or anything, but when I was in junior high school, I set myself a conscious mission to figure out how to make myself really funny. I wanted people to say, ‘Lisa Kron is the funniest person I ever met.’ I did a study of what was funny and what was obnoxious and how to be funny and likable at the same time, which can be a particularly difficult line for girls to tread."

Forced to leave college by chronic exhaustion and ill health, Kron checked herself into the allergy unit of Chicago’s Henrotin Hospital for the diagnosis and treatment of various food and environmental allergies. She later moved to New York City to pound the pavement as an actor, paying her dues with roles in summer stock, soul-sucking auditions, and uninspiring plays. Eventually she found her way to the WOW Café collective on the Lower East Side, a haven for female artists with unruly attitudes, where she discovered that "any woman who puts in time can do her own show." After surprising herself with the success of an impromptu variety-night performance, Kron realized she had found her niche. Dedicating herself to the search for a way to make her unique brand of storytelling work onstage, she experimented with a vaudevillian variety of performance styles, developing a quirky flair for the first-person monologue into an art form that illustrates the murky territory between historical fact and personal remembrance with impeccable comic timing and a fearless capacity for self-mockery.

Meanwhile, Kron joined with fellow WOW alumni Maureen Angelos, Baba Day, Dominique Dibble, and Pug Healey to form the theater company The Five Lesbian Brothers, creating a series of darkly comic plays ("Voyage to Lesbos, Bride of the Moon, The Secretaries," and "Bravo Smiles" [the latter three presented to acclaim at San Francisco’s Theatre Rhinoceros throughout the 1990s]) that skewer conventional contemporary images of women. In the chaos of collaboration, Kron found her way to dramatic structure and form. With the monologues 101 Humiliating Stories (in San Francisco at the late, lamented Josie’s Cabaret & Juice Joint in 1995)—about a succession of comic adventures ranging from junior high school gym class to the excruciating world of the law firm temp, told as a series of painfully hilarious speeches at a high school reunion—and the OHIE Award–winning 2.5 Minute Rille (Magic Theatre, 1998)—in which Kron reports on a devastating trip she made to Auschwitz with her father—Kron hit her stride as a solo performance artist. Finally, in "Well," Kron has expanded the solo form to bring the ensemble (and her mother) onstage with her. The experiment appears to have succeeded: "Well" premiered at New York’s Public Theater in March 2004 to resounding acclaim, making its way onto the "ten-best" lists of the country’s leading critics and earning a host of nominations and awards. Kron spoke to us as "Well" was about to go into rehearsals for its West Coast premiere at A.C.T.

ELIZABETH BRODERSEN: I UNDERSTAND THAT YOU DEVELOPED WELL OVER THREE YEARS, AT WORKSHOPS WITH THE DIRECTOR (LEIGH SILVERMAN) AND A DREAM TEAM (JOHN DIAZ). DID THEIR INVOLVEMENT HELP YOU MAKE THE TRANSITION FROM SOLO PERFORMER TO "SOLO PERFORMER WITH OTHER PEOPLE ONSTAGE WITH YOU?"

LISA KRON: I don’t think I knew quite what this was going to be when I started. One of the first workshops was at Long Wharf Theatre. The first week it was a solo and the next week it had other people in it. There were audience members who came both weeks. The first week they said, ‘I can’t picture this not being a solo.’ The next week they said, ‘I can’t imagine this without other characters.’

I started, as I always do, by writing short, anecdotal pieces. Then, with the collaboration of Leigh and John, I started the long process of figuring out how to shape the piece and turn it into a play. I had a notion that there was some thematic relationship between this group of stories about the hospital and this group of stories about the neighborhood I grew up in. It took a really long time to figure out how to knit them together into a play.

I always develop my plays with collaborators, because, for whatever reason, I don’t have the ability to picture a narrative arc in my head. Maybe it’s because I started out as a performer rather than a writer. I only know what I have when I see it reflected back. I have to keep putting it out in front of an audience, and I have to be in constant discussion with a dramaturg or director. With "Well," Leigh and John and I would talk for hours and then I’d go off and write, I’d bring my writing back to them, and then we’d talk more. The complicated structure of the piece was developed through that collaboration. Because I’m in the piece I’m never able to watch it, of course. I depended totally on their eyes to help me understand where the piece was at any given point. And, because of my work with the Lesbian Brothers, I’m very used to working collaboratively.

IN THE INTRODUCTION TO FORGE TO LEARN, EACH OF THE BROTHERS Writes about THE CHALLENGES OF THE DEVELOPMENT PROCESS—HOW PAINFUL IT CAN BE TO SHARE YOUR INDIVIDUAL WORK-IN-PROGRESS WITH EACH OTHER AND EXPOSE IT TO "HEARTFELT" DISCUSSION AND CRITICISM. SO PAINFUL, IN FACT, THAT YOU WOnderED IF maybe you shouldn’t put yourselves through it anymore. I FIND THAT TENSION BETWEEN SOLO CREATION AND COLLABORATIVE PROCESS VERY INTERESTING.

Well, that was very early in our process. As we developed as a company we realized we were going to be funny with each other, but in ways that were kind and respectful. For instance, we disagree often but we never interrupt each other while in discussion. And we don’t throw out ideas. Even when ideas seem crazy we keep them in consideration as we work. I’ve certainly learned a great deal of humility working with the Brothers. It has happened many times that an idea I privately thought was stupid and would never work in front of an audience has turned out to be the perfect thing.

I think humility is a very useful thing in making art. And of course, ego is very useful, as well. It’s what compels you to get onstage in the first place. The tension between those two things—ego and humility—is central to my work, I think. I came to New York thinking I knew a lot about theater—which was ridiculous, of course. I had studied theater in college and then I toured with a national repertory company, so I thought I knew all
IDENTITY CRISIS

BY ELIZABETH BRODERSEN

Lisa Kron appears to be having an identity crisis. Recognized on the one hand as a performer of wryly poignant, self-revelatory one-woman shows, she also has a devoted following, particularly in San Francisco, as a member of the irreverently avant-garde ensemble The Five Lesbian Brothers. In Wolf, Kron's most recent theatrical experiment, her worlds collide, as Lisa the solo artist shares her onstage life with a dramatic community of her own making.

As with all of Kron's solo work, the facts portrayed in Wolf are true. Growing up as a white Jewish girl in a significantly African-American midwestern suburb of Lansing, Michigan—where her mother, Ann Kron, was the founder and longtime leader of the West Side Neighborhood Association—Kron found herself something of an outsider. She turned her considerable creative energy to performance. "I always thought of myself as a performer," Kron has said. "I don't know why. I never did school plays or anything, but when I was in junior high school, I set myself a conscious mission to figure out how to make myself really funny. I wanted people to say, 'Lisa Kron is the funniest person I ever met.'" She did a study of what was funny and what was obnoxious and how to be funny and likable at the same time, which can be a particularly difficult line for girls to tread."

Forced to leave college by chronic exhaustion and ill health, Kron checked herself into the allergy unit at Chicago's Hennepin Hospital for the diagnosis and treatment of various food and environmental allergies. She later moved to New York City to pound the pavement as an actor, paying her dues with roles in summer stock, soul-sucking auditions, and uninspiring plays. Eventually she found her way to the WOW Cafe collective on the Lower East Side, a haven for female artists with unruly attitudes, where she discovered that "any woman who puts in time can do her own show." After surprising herself with the success of an impromptu variety-night performance, Kron realized she had found her niche. Dedicating herself to the search for a way to make her unique brand of storytelling work onstage, she experimented with a vaudevillian variety of performance styles, developing a quirky flair for the first-person monologue into an art form that illuminates the murky territory between historical fact and personal remembrance with impeccable comic timing and a fearless capacity for self-mockery.

Meanwhile, Kron joined with fellow WOW alumnae Maureen Angelos, Baba Dany, Dominique Dibbell, and Peg Healey to form the theater company The Five Lesbian Brothers, creating a series of darkly comic plays (Voyage to Lesbos, Bride of the Moon, The Secretaries, and Brave Smiles [the latter three presented to acclaim at San Francisco's Theatre Rhinoceros throughout the 1990s]) that skewer conventional contemporary images of women. In the chaos of collaboration, Kron found her way to dramatic structure and form.

With the monologues 101 Humiliating Stories (in San Francisco at the late, lamented Jose's Cabaret & Juice Joint in 1995)—about a succession of comic adventures ranging from junior high school gym class to the excruciating world of the law firm temp, told as a series of painfully hilarious speeches at a high school reunion—and the OBIE Award–winning 2.5 Minute Ride (Magic Theatre, 1998)—in which Kron reports on a devastating trip she made to Auschwitz with her father—Kron hit her stride as a solo performance artist. Finally, in Wolf, Kron has expanded the solo form to bring the ensemble (and her mother) onstage with her. The experiment appears to have succeeded: Wolf premiered at New York's Public Theater in March 2004 to resounding acclaim, making its way onto the "ten-best" lists of the country's leading critics and earning a host of nominations and awards. Kron spoke to us as Wolf was about to go into rehearsals for its West Coast premiere at A.C.T.

ELIZABETH BRODERSEN: I UNDERSTAND THAT YOU DEVELOPED WOLF OVER THREE YEARS, AT WORKSHOPS WITH THE DIRECTOR (LEIGH SILVEMAN) AND A DRAWMAN (JOHN DAS). DID THEIR INVOLVEMENT HELP YOU MAKE THE TRANSITION FROM SOLO PERFORMER TO "SOLO PERFORMER WITH OTHER PEOPLE ONSTAGE WITH YOU"?

LISA KRON: I don't think I knew quite what this was going to be when I started. One of the first workshops was at Long Wharf Theatre. The first week it was solo and the next week it had other people in it. There were audience members who came both weeks. The first week they said, "I can't picture this not being a solo." The next week they said, "I can't imagine this without other characters."

I started, as I always do, by writing short, anecdotal pieces. Then, with the collaboration of Leigh and John I started the long process of figuring out how to shape the piece and turn it into a play. I had a notion that there was some thematic relationship between this group of stories about the hospital and this group of stories about the neighborhood I grew up in. It took a really long time to figure out how to knit them together into a play.

I always develop my plays with collaborators, because, for whatever reason, I don't have the ability to picture a narrative arc in my head. Maybe it's because I started out as a performer rather than a writer. I only know what I have when I see it reflected back. I have to keep putting it out in front of an audience, and I have to be in constant discussion with a dramaturg or director. With Wolf, Leigh and John and I would talk for hours and then I'd go off and write, I'd bring my writing back to them, and then we'd talk more. The complicated structure of the piece was developed through that collaboration. Because I'm in the piece I've never able to watch it, of course. I depended totally on their eyes to help me understand where the piece was at any given point. And, because of my work with the Lesbian Brothers, I'm very used to working collaboratively.

IN THE INTRODUCTION TO FOOLING TO LEARN, EACH OF THE BROTHERS WRITES ABOUT THE CHALLENGES OF THE DEVELOPMENT PROCESS—HOW PAINFUL IT CAN BE TO SHARE YOUR INDIVIDUAL WORK-IN-PROGRESS WITH EACH OTHER AND EXPOSE IT TO "HEARTFELT" DISCERNMENT AND CRITICISM. SO PAINFUL, IN FACT, THAT YOU WOULDN'T IF YOU SHOULDN'T PUT YOURSELVES THROUGH IT ANYMORE. I FIND THAT TENSION BETWEEN SOLO CREATION AND COLLABORATIVE PROCESS VERY INTERESTING.

Well, that was very early in our process. As we developed as a company we really learned to be frank with each other, but in ways that were kind and respectful. For instance, we disagree often but we never interrupt each other while in discussion. And we don't throw out ideas. Even when ideas seem crazy we keep them in consideration as we work. I've certainly learned a great deal of humility working with the Brothers. It has happened many times that an idea I privately thought was stupid and would never work in front of an audience has turned out to be the perfect thing.

I think humility is a very useful thing in making art. And of course, ego is very useful, as well. It's what compels you to get onstage in the first place. The tension between those two things—ego and humility—is central to my work, I think. I came to New York thinking I knew a lot about theater—which was ridiculous, of course. I had studied theater in college and then I toured with a national repertory company, so I thought I knew all about what you can and can't do onstage. When I got to WOW I found all these people making theater who didn't know anything about any of those rules. They didn't even learn their lines before they went onstage. And it was a million times more compelling than anything I had seen or imagined. Since then I have been completely interested in what happens when people who don't know the rules of the theater make theater. Theater is a volatile form, which is what fascinates me about it—the energy that can be released from that volatility. It seems that when the rules are broken, that's when you can really feel the theater experience, feel the aliveness of it. I'm always interested in work that feels like: This is happening right now in this room, in this moment. The feeling of witnessing a singular event in real time—that's the thing you can't experience in any other medium.

10 American Conservatory Theater

YOU'VE ALSO TALKED ABOUT THE IMPORTANCE OF THE AUDIENCE IN YOUR WORK, THAT YOU ARE TRYING TO MAKE THE THEATER EXPERIENCE A "PRIMARY" ONE FOR THEM. THE TELLING OF YOUR STORY ITSELF BECOMES AN IMMEDIATE, PRESENT EXPERIENCE FOR THE AUDIENCE, RATHER THAN ONE OF PASSIVE OBSERVATION.

The pitfall of autobiographical solo performance is that the audience will witness you reliving an experience rather than having an experience themselves. I think that's what gives this particular form a bad name. Someone asked me once what the difference is between autobiographical solo work and therapy and I said, "Therapy is for you—a performance is for the audience." When I teach solo performance, as I occasionally do, I try to get students to "show, not tell." I try to get them not to say, "I was scared." Or "It was the saddest day of my life," but to leave the editorializing out, tell only what happened, search for the most specific details. Don't tell me, "I was scared." Tell me, "I saw my sister backed up against the garage door. The hair on her arms was standing up. My brother was gripping my arm and he whispered to me that he had peed his pants." Okay, that's a bad example—but the point is—if you paint a true picture of what happened, an honest picture, the audience will see you were scared, rather than having to take your word for it. And they will relate, they will have their own experience. And ultimately taking the audience through an experience of their own is the point of good autobiographical work.

IN THE INTRODUCTION TO 2.5 MINUTE RIDE YOU WRITE ABOUT YOUR DESIRE TO CREATE "SOLO WORK THAT IS ALSO THEATER," WHAT IS SOLO WORK, WHAT IS THEATER, AND WHY IS ONE NOT THE OTHER?

I think solo performance can be theater. But I think it's hard to do, because what happens in theater is that a character wants or needs something and then struggles against obstacles to get it. That's dramatic action. But what is the dramatic action in a solo show? What does the performer need? What is standing in her way? [Playwright] María Irene Fornés once said something about how in solo performance the main character is always passive. I wanted to make theater in the autobiographical solo form so I had to figure out: How do I use myself as a character who actually has an agenda that the audience can see and question? In a theatrical experience you can see a character's hidden motives, even when she can't see them herself. You can also see the looming obstacles. That's the fun and tension of drama. For me, that's the challenge of solo performance—to make something happen that the audience can see but the person standing onstage cannot.

I'm also interested in the act of storytelling—which is actually not an act but an interaction. The storyteller shapes her story as she watches it being received by the listener. When you tell a story, you don't relive it in your own head—you look in another person's eyes and paint the picture in their head. That's a circuit, that's not a closed door.

AND THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IS HOW SUCCESSFULLY THE STORY IS RENDERED IN THE LISTENER'S MIND, NOT IN YOURS.

Right. And then ultimately there's the knowledge, which is something I'm fundamentally interested in—and I think it comes up in all of my plays, it certainly comes up in 2½—that somebody else's experience is not your experience. I think that's what distinguishes art from entertainments, frankly. Art supplies something like 75%, and then the viewer completes the picture. It's that dynamic interaction that elevates it.

WHAT IS WELL THEN?

Well is a play with all the elements of that form in the traditional sense. But it's also a solo show in that the whole piece is me grappling with the issues that are dealt with in its play. During the run in New York I had people say to me in backtalk, after seeing the play, 'Lisa, you should really listen to what the character of Kay had to say in that speech.' And I'd say, 'Well, I actually know what she said—I wrote that speech.' That's what underlies the play's meta-theatrics. The character of 'Lisa' is one aspect of me. But the real me is the whole play.

SO HOW DOES YOUR MOTHER FEEL ABOUT WELL? HOW HAS THE PLAY AFFECTED YOUR RELATIONSHIP?

The development process was not easy for either of us. Particularly for her. She didn't ask for this— it was my choice to put my life onstage. It was not her choice. It would be a lot to ask of anyone. She was very, very generous, but the process was hard on her. She feels very good about the play now even though it's not how she would choose to represent herself.

She came to New York for a week and saw the show six times; she and Jayne [Houdyshell] have become great friends and Jayne went to Lansing last summer to visit. My mom now has a very sophisticated understanding of the play. She said to me, 'There's a way in which I feel that it's not really about me.' And I said, 'Well, you're right. It's not about either one of us, in a certain way.' That's the complexity of the play. I tell the audience 'it's not about us, and then it is about us, but ultimately, it's not about us.'
about what you can and can't do onstage. When I got to WOW I found all these people making theater who didn't know anything about any of these rules. They didn't even learn their lines before they went onstage. And it was a million times more compelling than anything I had seen or imagined. Since then I have been completely interested in what happens when people who don't know the rules of the theater make theater. Theater is a volatile form, which is what fascinates me about it—the energy that can be released from that volatility. It seems that when the rules are broken, that's when you can really feel the theater experience, feel the aliveness of it. I'm always interested in work that feels like:

This is happening right now in this room, in this moment. The feeling of witnessing a singular event in real time—that's the thing you can't experience in any other medium.

YOU'VE ALSO TALKED ABOUT THE IMPORTANCE OF THE AUDIENCE IN YOUR WORK, THAT YOU ARE TRYING TO MAKE THE THEATER EXPERIENCE A "PRIMARY" ONE FOR THEM. THE TELLING OF YOUR STORY ITSELF BECOMES AN IMMEDIATE, PRESENT EXPERIENCE FOR THE AUDIENCE, RATHER THAN ONE OF PASSIVE OBSERVATION.

The pitfall of autobiographical solo performance is that the audience will witness you reliving an experience rather than having an experience themselves. I think that's what gives this particular form a bad name. Someone asked me once what the difference is between autobiographical solo work and therapy and I said, "Therapy is for you—a performance is for the audience." When I teach solo performance, as I occasionally do, I try to get students to "show, not tell." I try to get them not to say, "I was scared." Or, "It was the saddest day of my life," but to leave the editorializing out, tell only what happened, search for the most specific details. Don't tell me, "I was scared." Tell me, "I saw my sister backed up against the garage door. The hair on her arms was standing up. My brother was gripping my arm and he whispered to me that he had peed his pants." Okay, that's a bad example—but the point is—if you paint a true picture of what happened, an honest picture, the audience will see you were scared, rather than having to take your word for it. And they will relate, they will have their own experience. And ultimately taking the audience through an experience of their own is the point of good autobiographical work.

IN THE INTRODUCTION TO 2.5 MINUTE RIDE YOU WRITE ABOUT YOUR DESIRE TO CREATE "SOLO WORK THAT IS ALSO THEATER," WHAT IS SOLO WORK, WHAT IS THEATER, AND WHY IS ONE NOT THE OTHER?

I think solo performance can be theater. But I think it's hard to do, because what happens in theater is that a character wants or needs something and then struggles against obstacles to get it. That's dramatic action. But what is the dramatic action in a solo show? What does the performer need? What is standing in her way? [Playwright] María Irene Fornés once said something about how in solo performance the main character is always passive. I wanted to make theater in the autobiographical solo form so I had to figure out: How do I use myself as a character who actually has an agenda that the audience can see and question? In a theatrical experience you can see a character's hidden motives, even when she can't see them herself. You can also see the looming obstacles. That's the fun and tension of drama. For me, that's the challenge of solo performance—to make something happen that the audience can see but the person sitting onstage cannot.

I'm also interested in the act of storytelling—which is actually not an act but an interaction. The storyteller shapes her story as she watches it being received by the listener. When you tell a story, you don't refigure it in your own head—you look in another person's eyes and paint the picture in their head. That's a circuit, that's not a closed door.

AND THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IS HOW SUCCESSFULLY THE STORY IS RENDERED IN THE LISTENER'S MIND, NOT IN YOURS.

Right. And then ultimately there's the knowledge, which is something I'm fundamentally interested in—and I think it comes up in all of my plays, it certainly comes up in Why—that something else's experience is not your experience. I think that's what distinguishes art from entertainment, frankly. Art supplies something like 75%, and then the viewer completes the picture. It's that dynamic interaction that elevates it.

WHAT IS WELL THEN?

Well is a play with all the elements of that form in the traditional sense. But it's also a solo show in that the whole piece is me grappling with the issues that are dealt with in the play. During the run in New York I had people say to me in backdrops, after seeing the play, "Lisa, you should really listen to what the character of Kay had to say in that speech," And I'd say, "Well, I actually know what she said—I wrote that speech." That's what underlies the play's metatematics. The character of "Lisa" is one aspect of me. But the real me is the whole play.

SO HOW DOES YOUR MOTHER FEEL ABOUT WELL? HOW HAS THE PLAY AFFECTED YOUR RELATIONSHIP?

The development process was not easy for either of us. Particularly for her. She didn't ask for this—it was my choice to put my life onstage. It was not her choice. It would be a lot to ask of anyone. She was very, very generous, but the process was hard on her. She feels very good about the play now even though it's not how she would choose to represent herself.

She came to New York for a week and saw the show six times; she and Jayne [Houdshell] have become great friends and Jayne went to Lansing last summer to visit. My mom now has a very sophisticated understanding of the play. She said to me, "There's a way in which I feel that it's not really about me." And I said, "Well, you're right. It's not about either one of us, it's a certain way." That's the complexity of the play. I tell the audience it's not about us, and then it is about us, but ultimately, it's not about us. ■
Who's Who

SAIDAH ARRIKA EKULONA
(Ensemble) performed in Will at The Public Theater. Other Off-Broadway credits include Faustoration at Playwrights Horizon, The Square (dir. Lisa Peterson), A Streetcar Named Desire at New York Theatre Workshop, Home, and Jeff Whitty's The End Project. Regional theater credits: Yale Repertory Theatre, Hartford Stage, Actors Theatre of Louisville/Humanities Festival 2000, and The Guthrie Theatre, among others. Film credits: The Royal Tenenbaums, Affie, and Happy Accidents. Television: "Hope & Faith," "Queens Supreme" (dir. Tim Robbins), "Sex and the City," and "Law & Order." She received her M.F.A. from University of Minnesota/Guthrie Theater and was a member of Sundance Theatre Lab 2003. www.saidah.net.

JAYNE HOUDSHELL
(Ensemble) most recently played Virginia in The Clean House at the Wilma Theater. Off-Broadway credits include Will (Public Theater), Much Ado about Nothing (New York Shakespeare Festival), Fighting Words (Playwrights Horizon), True Love (Zipper Theater), and Attempt at Her Life (Soho Rep). Regional theater credits include productions at Yale Repertory Theatre, Actors Theatre of Louisville, the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, Missouri Repertory Theatre, Syracuse Stage, Geva Theatre Center, the Asolo Theatre Company, McCarter Theatre, Williamston Theatre, Studio Arena Theatre, and many others.

LISA KRON
(Lisa Kron) has been writing and performing theater in New York and around the country since moving to New York from Michigan 21 years ago. Will, her most recent play, premiered at The Public Theater in spring 2004 and was awarded one of the ten best plays of the year by The New York Times, the Associated Press, the Newark Star Ledger, Backstage, and the Advocate. Her solo play 2.5 Minute Ride received an OBIE Award, Drama Desk and Outer Critics Circle nominations, an L.A. Drama-Logue Award, and the GLAAD (Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation) Media Award for best Off-Broadway play and was named the best autobiographical show of 1999 by The New York Press. It premiered at La Jolla Playhouse in 1996 and in New York at the Public in 1999. Other recent plays include the Barbuic Theatre in London, Baltimore Center Stage, A Contemporary Theatre in Seattle, American Repertory Theatre, Hartford Stage, and Trinity Rep Theatre Company/Perishable Theatre. Kron's other solo works include 101 Humiliating Stories (Drama Desk nomination), and Marthas, which she co-wrote with and for choreographer/performance Richard Move. Kron is also a founding member of the OBIE and Bessie award-winning theater company The Five Lesbian Brothers, whose newest play Goddys at Palm Springs, will premiere this summer at New York Theatre Workshop with Leigh Silverman directing. Kron is the recipient of numerous awards, including the Cal Arts/Alpert Award in Theatre, an NEA/TCG Playwriting fellowship, and a Creative Capital Foundation Grant. As an actor, Kron has appeared Off Broadway in plays including World Street Theatre's acclaimed revival of Larry Kramer's The Normal Heart, Eve Ensler's The Vagina Monologues, and Paul Rudnick's The Most Fabulous Story Ever Told. An anthology of Kron's plays, as well as the anthologized plays of The Five Lesbian Brothers, are available from Theatre Communications Group, who will also publish Will in spring 2005.

A-MEN RASHEED
(Ensemble) makes his A.C.T. debut in Will. Recent credits include Sweet Daddy/Black Cop in Melvin Van Peebles Ain't Supposed to Die a Natural Death at Classical Theatre of Harlem, Sterling in Pulling the Lever with the Rising Circle Theatre Collective, and Autolycus in The Winter's Tale with New York Classical Theatre. Off-Broadway credits include Pericles with the Culture Project and the Judge in the OBIE Award-winning production of Jean Genet's The Blacks at Classic Stage Company. He has also been a member of The Working Ensemble, the Tank at the Ohio Theatre, New York Stage & Film at Vassar, and Lincoln Center's Directors Lab. Television credits include "As the World Turns" and the Narrator in the Fox animated series. He received his M.F.A. from New York University, where his favorite roles included Reverend D/Baby in Suzan-Lori Parks's In the Blood, Father Flote in Red Noses, Roger in Streamers, and Canewell in Seem Guiltier.

JOEL VAN LIEW
(Ensemble) performed in Will at the Public Theater. Regional theater credits include the world premiere of The Fuchsia, by Craig Wright, at City Theatre in Pittsburgh; The Visit and The Winter's Tale at the Bloomsburg Theatre Ensemble; Born Yesterday at Steppenwolf Theatre Company; and The Norman Conquests and And a Nightingale Sang at Courtouse Theatre Company, Cape Cod. New York theater credits include Lynn Rovner's Nightbeasts and A Child's Christmas in Wales (Willow Cabin); Peas and Carrots and Sandbank, both by Stephen O'Rourke (Courthouse); and Mephisto (Reverie Productions). Film credits include Maria and Paul's Dance Lesson (Goodview Pictures). Television credits include "Law & Order," "The City," and "Late Night with Conan O'Brien." Van Liew received his training from Northwestern University and Circle in the Square.

WELKER WHITE
(Ensemble) performed in Will at the Public Theater. Other New York theater credits include Sam Shepard's Simpatico at The Public Theater, Jar the Fiber, The Red Address, and Lemon Sity at Second Stage, Roundabout at Circle Rep, Search and Destroy at Circle in the Square, and Life During Wartime and The Innocent's Crusade at Manhattan Theatre Club. Regionally, Welker has performed at George Street Playhouse, Yale Rep, Long Wharf Theatre, and New York Stage & Film. Film credits include Godfallen, Dead Poets Society, and Chasing Amy. Television credits include "Law & Order," "Sex and the City," Lemon Sity for "American Playhouse," and the TV movie Afterburn on HBO.

DAWN-ELIN FRASER
(Understudy) made her Geary Theater debut in A Christmas Carol after receiving the Joan Elliott Fellowship from the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program. She has performed at many Bay Area theaters, including the Magic Theatre, Berkeley Repertory Theatre, Shotgun Players, and Encore Theater. As a dialect coach, she has worked on U.S. and world premieres at Theatere Rhinoceroses (Single Spic), Berkeley Repertory Theatre (Fetes de la Nuit), and Campo Santo (Dave Eggers' Sacramento, Fist of Roses) and is currently the voice associate for the A.C.T. M.F.A. Program.

LOREN NORDLUND
(Understudy) has performed multiple characters in the comedies Greater Tuna (San Francisco, Kansas City) and On the Verge (Martin Theatre Company), as well as in several productions by San Francisco's award-winning literary theater company, Word for Word. In addition to performing in various histories and tragedies for the Oregon Shakespeare Festival, Nordlund has also performed with Cleveland Shakespeare Festival, he played Ariel in the memorable San Francisco Shakespeare Festival production of The Tempest, directed by Albert Takanauack and featuring Sydney Walker as Prospero. San Francisco credits also include the role of Tim Allgood in the original record-breaking run of Nevis Off, directed by Richard Seyd, at the Marines Memorial Theatre. He has also appeared in several musicals, most recently the award-
Who's Who

SAIDAH ARRIKA EKULONA (Ensemble) performed in Will at the Public Theater. Other off-Broadway credits include Faustian at Playwrights Horizons, The Square (dir. Lisa Peterson), A Streetcar Named Desire at New York Theatre Workshop, Home, and Jeff Whitty’s The Tall Project. Regional theater credits: Yale Repertory Theatre, Hartford Stage, Actors Theatre of Louisville/Human Festival 2000, and The Guthrie Theater, among others. Film credits: The Royal Tenenbaums, Alfie, and Happy Accidents. Television: "Hope & Faith," "Queens Supreme" (dir. Tim Robbins), "Sex and the City," and "Law & Order." She received her M.F.A. from University of Minnesota/Guthrie Theater and was a member of Sundance Theatre Lab 2003. www.saidah.net.

JAYNE HOUDSHELL (Ensemble) most recently played Virginia in The Clean House at the Wilma Theater. Off-Broadway credits include Well (Public Theater), Much Ado about Nothing (New York Shakespeare Festival), Fighting Words (Playwrights Horizons), True Love (Zipper Theater), and Attempted On Her Life (Soho Rep). Regional theater credits include productions at Yale Repertory Theatre, Actors Theatre of Louisville, the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, Missouri Repertory Theatre, Syracuse Stage, Geva Theatre Center, the Asolo Theatre Company, McCenter Theatre, Wilma Theatre, Studio Arena Theatre, and many others. Major roles include Linda Looman (Death of a Salesman), Martha (Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolf?), Big Mamma (Cat on a Hot Tin Roof), The Nurse (Romeo and Juliet), Kate (Broadway Bound), Lady Bracknell (The Importance of Being Earnest), and the title role of Shirley Valentine. Film and television credits include "Law & Order," "Trinity," "Third Watch," Garden State, Changing Lanes, and Maid in Manhattan. Houdshell received a 2003-04 OBIE Award for Well.

LISA KRON (Lisa Kron) has been writing and performing theater in New York and around the country since moving to New York from Michigan 21 years ago. Will, her most recent play, premiered at The Public Theater in spring 2004 and was named one of the ten best plays of the year by The New York Times, The Associated Press, The Newark Star Ledger, Backstage, and The Advocate. Her solo play 2.5 Minute Ride received an OBIE Award, Drama Desk and Outer Critics Circle nominations, an L.A. Drama-Logue Award, and the GLAAD (Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation) Media Award for best off-Broadway play and was named the best autobiographical show of 1999 by The New York Press. It premiered at La Jolla Playhouse in 1996 and in New York at the Public in 1999. Other presentations include the Barbican Theatre in London, Baltimore Center Stage, A Contemporary Theatre in Seattle, American Repertory Theatre, Hartford Stage, and Trinity Repertory Company/Petrishable Theatre. Kron's other solo works include 101 Humiliating Stories (Drama Desk nomination), and March, which she co-wrote with and for choreographer/performer Richard Move. Kron is also a founding member of the OBIE and Bessie award-winning theater company The Five Lesbian Brothers, whose newest play Godfay at Palm Springs, will premiere this summer at New York Theatre Workshop with Leigh Silverman directing. Kron is the recipient of numerous awards, including the Cal Arts/Alpert Award in Theater, an NEA/TCG Playwriting fellowship, and a Creative Capital Foundation Grant. As an actor, Kron has appeared on Broadway in plays including Worth Street Theatre’s acclaimed revival of Larry Kramer’s The Normal Heart, Eve Ensler’s The Vagina Monologues, and Paul Rudnick’s The Most Fabulous Story Ever Told. An anthology of Kron’s plays, as well as the anthologized plays of The Five Lesbian Brothers, are available from Theatre Communications Group, who will also publish Will in spring 2005.

A-MEN RASHEED (Ensemble) makes his A.C.T. debut in Will. Recent credits include Sweet Daddy/Black Cop in Melvin Van Peebles Ain't Supposed to Die a Natural Death at Classical Theatre of Harlem, Sterling in Pulling the Lever with the Rising Circle Theatre Collective, and Autolycus in The Winter's Tale with New York Classical Theatre. Off-Broadway credits include Pirandello with the Culture Project and the Judge in the OBIE Award-winning production of Jean Genet's The Blacks at Classic Stage Company. He has also been part of the New York Theatre Workshop International Residency at the Ohio Theatre, New York Stage & Film at Vassar, and Lincoln Center’s Directors Lab. Television credits include "As the World Turns" and the Narrator in the PBS animated special. He received his M.F.A. from New York University, where his favorite roles included Reverend D/Baby in Suzan-Lori Park’s The Blacks, F. Scott Fitzgerald in Red Nails, Roger in Streamers, and Canewell in Seem Guilty.

JOEL VAN LIEW (Ensemble) performed in Will at the Public Theater. Regional theater credits include the world premiere of The Pavement, by Craig Wright, at City Theatre in Pittsburgh; The Visit and The Winter’s Tale at the Bloomsburg Theatre Ensemble; Born Yesterday at Steppenwolf Theatre Company; and The Norman Conquests and And a Nightingale Sang at Courthouse Theater Company, Cape Cod. New York theater credits include Lynn Noren’s Nightbooks and A Child’s Christmas in Wales (Willow Cabin); Peas and Carrots and Shakesblue, both by Stephen O’Rourke (Courthouse); and Mephisto (Reverie Productions). Film credits include Maria and Paul’s Dance Lesson (Goodview Pictures). Television credits include "Law & Order," "The City," and "Late Night with Conan O’Brien." Van Liew received his training from Northwestern University and Circle in the Square.

WELKER WHITE (Ensemble) performed in Will at the Public Theater. Other New York theater credits include Sam Shepard's Simpatico at The Public Theater, Jar the Filler, The Red Address, and Lemony Snicket at Second Stage, Reckless at Circle Rep, Search and Destroy at Circle in the Square, and Life During Wartime and The Innocent's Guattis at Manhattan Theatre Club. Regionally, Welker has performed at George Street Playhouse, Yale Rep, Long Wharf Theatre, and New York Stage & Film. Film credits include Godspell, Dead Poets Society, and Chasing Amy. Television credits include "Law & Order," "Sex and the City," Lemon Sly for "American Playhouse," and the TV movie Afterburn on HBO.

DAWN-ELIN FRASER (Understudy) made her Geery Theater debut in A Christmas Carol after receiving the Joan Eckert Fellowship from A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program. She has performed at many Bay Area theaters, including the Magic Theatre, Berkeley Repertory Theatre, Shotgun Players, and Encore Theater. As a dialect coach, she has worked on U.S. and world premieres at Theaters Rhinoceros (Single Spiced), Berkeley Repertory Theatre (Fêtes de la Nuit), and Campo Santo (Dave Eggers’ Sacramento, Fist of Roses) and is currently the speech associate for the A.C.T. M.F.A. Program.

LOREN NORDLUND (Understudy) has performed multiple characters in the comedies Greater Tuna (San Francisco, Kansas City) and On the Verge (Marin Theatre Company), as well as in several productions by San Francisco’s award-winning literary theater company, Word for Word. In addition to performing in various histories and tragedies for the Oregon and California Shakespeare Festivals, he played Ariel in the memorable San Francisco Shakespeare Festival production of The Tempest, directed by Albert Takauazuck and featuring Sydney Walker as Prospero. San Francisco credits also include the role of Tim Allgood in the original recording-breaking run of Noises Off, directed by Richard Seyd, at the Marines Memorial Theatre. He has also appeared in several musicals, most recently the award-
WINNING PREMIERE OF Lo, Princess of Argos! at the East Theatre, Norwell received his acting training from San Francisco State University.

STACY ROSS (Understudy) was last seen at A.C.T. as Madame Preibière in The Gamester and as Barbara Fawcett in The Constant Wife. Her recent work also includes productions with San Jose Repertory Theatre (Major Barbara), Center Stage in Baltimore (Misalliance), the Aurora Theatre Company (Man of Destiny, Hedda Gabler), TheatreWorks (Book of Days), and the California Shakespeare Theatre (Arms and the Man, The Comedy of Errors, Henry IV Parts 1 and 2; and Hamlet).

DAVID RYAN SMITH (Understudy) recently understudied Joe Mantello’s production of Tale Me Out at Seattle Repertory Theatre and the Golden Gate Theatre. Other regional theater credits include The Three Sisters, The Difficulty. The actors and stage managers employed in this production are members of Actors’ Equity Association, the Union of Professional Actors and Stage Managers in the United States.

FINO Ristorante
Fine Italian Dining
Located in the Andover Hotel

SF THEATRE DISTRICT
1829 Market Street
San Francisco, CA 94118

FINO reservations 415.528.2060
Andover Hotel 655 Market St. www.andoverhotel.com

CRITERION WHO’S WHO

ALLEN MOYER (Scenic Designer) designed sets for the Public Theater, as well as the Public’s production of Liza Kozhe’s 2.5 Minute Ride. Opera design credits include Il Trovatore and La Boheme for New York City Opera (NYCO), The Master of All for San Francisco Opera and NYCO, Carmen for Seattle Opera, and Coc lin tutte for Santa Fe Opera. His Broadway design credits include The Man Who Had All The Luck and A Thousand Clowns. Other design credits include A Few Small Indiscretions at Signature Theatre, Landscape of the Body for the Williamstown Theatre Festival, The Dazzle at the Roundabout Theatre Company, and the premieres of Lobby Hero (Playwrights Horizon) and This Is Our Youth (The New Group).

MIRANDA HOFFMAN (Costume Designer) designed the costumes for Wall at the Public Theater. Other New York credits include Miranda in New York University’s School of Music; The Last Letter in London; and ShagosMoscow. She is a graduate of The Juilliard School’s Musical Theater Division.

STREETCAMERANAMED DESIRE, TREATME AT PIPES LICK CREEK, THE GIMMICK, BRIGHT LIGHTS BIG CITY, AND MORE SAMILY MANSIONS All for New York Theatre Workshop, Mahatt Minn Barl/Hour at St. Ann’s Warehouse, Tailing Heads at the Minetta Lane Theatre, In the Penal Colony for Classic Stage Company, Julius Caesar for the New York Shakespeare Festival; Trojan Women: A Love Story and J.F. Morgan Saves the Nation for En Garde Arts; and Cloud Tintini at Playwrights Horizons. She also worked on the Broadway production of James Joyce’s The Dead and the National Tour of The Virgin Megastore. Regional credits include House Stage, GeVa Theatre, Actors Theatre of Louisville, and PCPA Theatrefest.

ELSA GUTHERTZ (Assistant Stage Manager) most recently worked on Eve Ensler’s The Good Body at the Booth Theatre in New York. She has worked in New York, Los Angeles, and Chicago. Her recent credits include The Good Body, Lo, Princess of Argos!, and The Odd Couple at the Asolo Repertory Theatre and the Al Hirschfeld Theatre, respectively. She has also. She has also managed The Mystery of Irma Vep: Suddenly Last Summer, Rhinoceros, Big Love, The Pillowman, and The Homecoming. She is a graduate of New York University’s Tisch School of the Arts. She is a graduate of New York University’s Tisch School of the Arts.

CHRISTOPHER AKERLING (Lighting Designer) has designed many productions for the Public Theater in New York, including Wall, Troubad and Casting of a Field, and A Christmas Carol at A.C.T.; The Winter’s Tale and All’s Well That Ends Well for California Shakespeare Theater; 13 Hallucinations of Juliet Rivas at the Magic Theatre; Thursday Night at Encore Theater Company; and Abington Square with the Shotgun Players. Film credits include Love Hurts and Re Sexsion (with Richard Gere and Juliette Binoche). Smith received his B.F.A. from the University of Evanston and M.F.A. from A.C.T.

LEIGH SILVERMAN (Director) has been working with Lisa Kron on the development of Wall since its inception and directed the world premiere production at The Public Theater in 2004. Other New York directing credits include the 20th anniversary revival of John Patrick Shanley’s Danny and the Deep Blue Sea at Second Stage Theatre, Finding Joe at Battecashe Theatre, and Hi, There, Mr. Machine at Ensemble Studio Theatre. Regional credits include: Jump Out, by Neena Beber, at the Woolly Mammoth Theatre (Washington, D.C.); Wiz on London’s West End and at the Geffen Theatre (Los Angeles); Hero I Learned to Drive at Actors Theatre of Louisville; The Ride Down Mt. Morgan at Theatre J (Washington, D.C.); and Bloomiswite through Life at the Adirondack Theatre Festival. Workshop productions include Baltimore Center Stage, Hartford Stage, Long Wharf Theatre, New York Stage & Film, Sundance Theatre Lab (2001 and 2003), and New York Theatre Workshop. New Dramatists, Dixon Place, New Georges, and the Passage Company. She wrote and directed Brandon Tena, which had an extended run in New York, was nominated for a GLAAD (Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Batoism) Media Award, and has had subsequent productions in Texas and Pennsylvania. Upcoming productions include Bad Dates at the Cleveland Play House and Oedipus at Palm Springs, by The Five Lesbian Brothers, at New York Theatre Workshop. She holds a dual degree in directing and playwriting from Carnegie Mellon University.

ALLEN MOYER (Scenic Designer) designed sets for the Public Theater, as well as the Public’s production of Lisa Kron’s 2.5 Minute Ride. Opera design credits include Il Trovatore and La Boheme for New York City Opera (NYCO), The Master of All for San Francisco Opera and NYCO, Carmen for Seattle Opera, and Coc lin tutte for Santa Fe Opera. His Broadway design credits include The Man Who Had All The Luck and A Thousand Clowns. Other design credits include A Few Small Indiscretions at Signature Theatre, Landscape of the Body for the Williamstown Theatre Festival, The Dazzle at the Roundabout Theatre Company, and the premieres of Lobby Hero (Playwrights Horizon) and This Is Our Youth (The New Group).

MARSHA DONALDSON (Stage Manager) was the stage manager for Wall at the Public Theater in New York. Other off-Broadway credits include: A Number, Hsuhua Gabler, Far Away, Hamlet’s Nebula, Fox, Alice in Ad winning premiere of Io, Princesa de Argos! at the East Theatre, Nordland received his acting training from San Francisco State University.
Who’s Who

STACY ROSS
(understudy) was last seen at A.C.T. as Madame Prévôte in The Gamester and as Barbara Fawcett in The Constant Wife. Her recent work also includes productions with San Jose Repertory Theatre (Major Barbara), Center Stage in Baltimore (Misalliance), the Aurora Theatre Company (Man of Destiny, Hedda Gabler), TheatreWorks (Book of Days), and the California Shakespeare Theatre (Arms and the Man, The Comedy of Errors, Henry IV parts 1 and 2, and Hamlet).

DAVID RYAN SMITH
(understudy) recently understudied Joe Mantello’s production of Tole Me Out at Seattle Repertory Theatre and the Golden Gate Theatre. Other regional theatre credits include The Three Sisters, The Difficulty. The actors and stage managers employed in this production are members of Actors’ Equity Association, the Union of Professional Dancers and Stage Managers in the United States.

FINO Ristorante
Fine Italian Dining
Located in the Andover Hotel

ST THEATRE DISTRICT
(Open for dinner or brunch)
12th and Market Street
Pet friendly, reservations accepted

FINO reservations
415.928.2060
Andover Hotel (415.929.1200)

Who’s Who

CRUSADE, Silences, Cunnings, Erotics, and The Skriker. For Broadway he has designed The Piano Lesson, Philadelphia, Here I Come!, Seven Guineas (Tony nomination), and The Tale of the Allergist’s Wife. Other recent credits include The Importance of Being Earnest at TFANA/BAM, The Light in the Piazza for the Goodman Theatre, A Midsummer Night’s Dream for SITI/San Jose Repertory Theatre, Boris Godunov for Hamburgerische Staatoper, and Giulio Cesare at Houston Grand Opera. He has received the OBIE Award for sustained excellence and the Michael Merritt Award in design and collaboration.

SPECIAL THANKS TO
Mary Harper, Katherine Potter Kowser

In addition to The Public Theater and Dixon Place, Wolf has been developed with the support of Bohemian Center Stage, Long Wharf Theatre, New York Theatre Workshop, and Hartford Stage.

Streetcar Named Desire, Tristyle at Pope Lick Creek, The Gimmick, Bright Lights Big City, and More Stately Mansions all for New York Theatre Workshop, Mahau Mines Deli/House at St. Ann’s Warehouse, Tallulah Hodge at the Minetta Lane Theatre; In the Penal Colony for Classic Stage Company; Julius Caesar for the New York Shakespeare Festival; Trojan Women: A Love Story and J. F. Morgan Saves the Nation for En Garde Arts; and Cloud Tannen at Playwrights Horizons. She also worked on the Broadway production of James Joyce’s The Dead and the National Tour of The Vagina Monologues. Regional included Blackstone Stage, GeVA Theatre, Actors Theatre of Louisville, and PCPA Theatrefest.

ELISA GUTHERTZ (Assistant Stage Manager) most recently worked on Eve Ensler’s The Good Body at the Booth Theatre on Broadway. Her numerous productions for A.C.T. include The Good Body, Leave James, Waiting for Godot, The Three Sisters, The Misanthrope, Long Days Journey into Night, Tartuffe, Mary Stuart, The Rose Tattoo, and A Streetcar Named Desire. She has also stage-managed The Mystery of Irma Vep, Suddenly Last Summer, Rhinoceros, Big Love, Cries, Collected Stories, and Cloud Tannen at Berkeley Repertory Theatre. Favorite productions include Big Love at Brooklyn Academy of Music and The Regina Monologues at the Arcata Theatre.

SPECIAL THANKS TO
Mary Harper, Katherine Potter Kowser

In addition to The Public Theater and Dixon Place, Wolf has been developed with the support of Bohemian Center Stage, Long Wharf Theatre, New York Theatre Workshop, and Hartford Stage.

Streetcar Named Desire, Tristyle at Pope Lick Creek, The Gimmick, Bright Lights Big City, and More Stately Mansions all for New York Theatre Workshop, Mahau Mines Deli/House at St. Ann’s Warehouse, Tallulah Hodge at the Minetta Lane Theatre; In the Penal Colony for Classic Stage Company; Julius Caesar for the New York Shakespeare Festival; Trojan Women: A Love Story and J. F. Morgan Saves the Nation for En Garde Arts; and Cloud Tannen at Playwrights Horizons. She also worked on the Broadway production of James Joyce’s The Dead and the National Tour of The Vagina Monologues. Regional included Blackstone Stage, GeVA Theatre, Actors Theatre of Louisville, and PCPA Theatrefest.

Elisa Guthertz (Assistant Stage Manager) most recently worked on Eve Ensler’s The Good Body at the Booth Theatre. Her productions for A.C.T. include The Good Body, Leave James, Waiting for Godot, The Three Sisters, The Misanthrope, Long Days’ Journey into Night, Tartuffe, Mary Stuart, The Rose Tattoo, and A Streetcar Named Desire. She has also stage-managed The Mystery of Irma Vep, Suddenly Last Summer, Rhinoceros, Big Love, Cries, Collected Stories, and Cloud Tannen at Berkeley Repertory Theatre. Favorite productions include Big Love at Brooklyn Academy of Music and The Regina Monologues at the Arcata Theatre.

SPECIAL THANKS TO
Mary Harper, Katherine Potter Kowser

In addition to The Public Theater and Dixon Place, Wolf has been developed with the support of Bohemian Center Stage, Long Wharf Theatre, New York Theatre Workshop, and Hartford Stage.

Streetcar Named Desire, Tristyle at Pope Lick Creek, The Gimmick, Bright Lights Big City, and More Stately Mansions all for New York Theatre Workshop, Mahau Mines Deli/House at St. Ann’s Warehouse, Tallulah Hodge at the Minetta Lane Theatre; In the Penal Colony for Classic Stage Company; Julius Caesar for the New York Shakespeare Festival; Trojan Women: A Love Story and J. F. Morgan Saves the Nation for En Garde Arts; and Cloud Tannen at Playwrights Horizons. She also worked on the Broadway production of James Joyce’s The Dead and the National Tour of The Vagina Monologues. Regional included Blackstone Stage, GeVA Theatre, Actors Theatre of Louisville, and PCPA Theatrefest.

Elisa Guthertz (Assistant Stage Manager) most recently worked on Eve Ensler’s The Good Body at the Booth Theatre. Her productions for A.C.T. include The Good Body, Leave James, Waiting for Godot, The Three Sisters, The Misanthrope, Long Days’ Journey into Night, Tartuffe, Mary Stuart, The Rose Tattoo, and A Streetcar Named Desire. She has also stage-managed The Mystery of Irma Vep, Suddenly Last Summer, Rhinoceros, Big Love, Cries, Collected Stories, and Cloud Tannen at Berkeley Repertory Theatre. Favorite productions include Big Love at Brooklyn Academy of Music and The Regina Monologues at the Arcata Theatre.

SPECIAL THANKS TO
Mary Harper, Katherine Potter Kowser

In addition to The Public Theater and Dixon Place, Wolf has been developed with the support of Bohemian Center Stage, Long Wharf Theatre, New York Theatre Workshop, and Hartford Stage.

Streetcar Named Desire, Tristyle at Pope Lick Creek, The Gimmick, Bright Lights Big City, and More Stately Mansions all for New York Theatre Workshop, Mahau Mines Deli/House at St. Ann’s Warehouse, Tallulah Hodge at the Minetta Lane Theatre; In the Penal Colony for Classic Stage Company; Julius Caesar for the New York Shakespeare Festival; Trojan Women: A Love Story and J. F. Morgan Saves the Nation for En Garde Arts; and Cloud Tannen at Playwrights Horizons. She also worked on the Broadway production of James Joyce’s The Dead and the National Tour of The Vagina Monologues. Regional included Blackstone Stage, GeVA Theatre, Actors Theatre of Louisville, and PCPA Theatrefest.

Elisa Guthertz (Assistant Stage Manager) most recently worked on Eve Ensler’s The Good Body at the Booth Theatre. Her productions for A.C.T. include The Good Body, Leave James, Waiting for Godot, The Three Sisters, The Misanthrope, Long Days’ Journey into Night, Tartuffe, Mary Stuart, The Rose Tattoo, and A Streetcar Named Desire. She has also stage-managed The Mystery of Irma Vep, Suddenly Last Summer, Rhinoceros, Big Love, Cries, Collected Stories, and Cloud Tannen at Berkeley Repertory Theatre. Favorite productions include Big Love at Brooklyn Academy of Music and The Regina Monologues at the Arcata Theatre.

SPECIAL THANKS TO
Mary Harper, Katherine Potter Kowser

In addition to The Public Theater and Dixon Place, Wolf has been developed with the support of Bohemian Center Stage, Long Wharf Theatre, New York Theatre Workshop, and Hartford Stage.

Streetcar Named Desire, Tristyle at Pope Lick Creek, The Gimmick, Bright Lights Big City, and More Stately Mansions all for New York Theatre Workshop, Mahau Mines Deli/House at St. Ann’s Warehouse, Tallulah Hodge at the Minetta Lane Theatre; In the Penal Colony for Classic Stage Company; Julius Caesar for the New York Shakespeare Festival; Trojan Women: A Love Story and J. F. Morgan Saves the Nation for En Garde Arts; and Cloud Tannen at Playwrights Horizons. She also worked on the Broadway production of James Joyce’s The Dead and the National Tour of The Vagina Monologues. Regional included Blackstone Stage, GeVA Theatre, Actors Theatre of Louisville, and PCPA Theatrefest.

Elisa Guthertz (Assistant Stage Manager) most recently worked on Eve Ensler’s The Good Body at the Booth Theatre. Her productions for A.C.T. include The Good Body, Leave James, Waiting for Godot, The Three Sisters, The Misanthrope, Long Days’ Journey into Night, Tartuffe, Mary Stuart, The Rose Tattoo, and A Streetcar Named Desire. She has also stage-managed The Mystery of Irma Vep, Suddenly Last Summer, Rhinoceros, Big Love, Cries, Collected Stories, and Cloud Tannen at Berkeley Repertory Theatre. Favorite productions include Big Love at Brooklyn Academy of Music and The Regina Monologues at the Arcata Theatre.

SPECIAL THANKS TO
Mary Harper, Katherine Potter Kowser

In addition to The Public Theater and Dixon Place, Wolf has been developed with the support of Bohemian Center Stage, Long Wharf Theatre, New York Theatre Workshop, and Hartford Stage.

Streetcar Named Desire, Tristyle at Pope Lick Creek, The Gimmick, Bright Lights Big City, and More Stately Mansions all for New York Theatre Workshop, Mahau Mines Deli/House at St. Ann’s Warehouse, Tallulah Hodge at the Minetta Lane Theatre; In the Penal Colony for Classic Stage Company; Julius Caesar for the New York Shakespeare Festival; Trojan Women: A Love Story and J. F. Morgan Saves the Nation for En Garde Arts; and Cloud Tannen at Playwrights Horizons. She also worked on the Broadway production of James Joyce’s The Dead and the National Tour of The Vagina Monologues. Regional included Blackstone Stage, GeVA Theatre, Actors Theatre of Louisville, and PCPA Theatrefest.
A.C.T. Profiles

CAREY PERLOFF (Artistic Director), who is celebrating her third season as artistic director of A.C.T., most recently directed A.C.T.’s acclaimed productions of Stoppard’s The Real Thing, Constance Congdon’s A Mother (adapted from Groys’ Vasia Zheleznaya), Ibsen’s A Doll’s House, and Brecht’s Mutterung for Godot, Stoppard’s Night and Day, and Chekhov’s The Three Sisters. Known for directing innovative productions of contemporary and classic works, and championing new writing for the theater, Perloff has directed for A.C.T. the American premieres of Stoppard’s The Insight, Less Than Three, and Harold Pinter’s Celebration and The Room; A.C.T.’s commissioned translations of Henrik, The Minstrelmen, Envy IV, Mary Stuart, and One World (the wide world premiere of Leslie Ayvazian’s Singer’s Bay); and acclaimed productions of The Seventh Son, Old Times, Arcadia, The Rose Tattoo, Antigone, Creditor, Home, and The Tempest. Her work at A.C.T. also includes the world premieres of Marc Blitzstein’s No for an Answer, David Lang/Mac Wellman’s The Dizziness of Crossing a Field, and the West Coast premiere of her own play The Calamities of Rhodes (a finalist for the Susan Smith Blackburn Award). Her new play, Luminence Dining, was developed under a grant from The Essential Studio Theater. Alfred P. Sloan Foundation Science & Technology Project, was workshopped last summer at New York Stage and Film, and will premiere this summer at Ensemble Studio Theatre. She spent July at the Sundance Institute developing Philip Kan Gotanda’s new play After the War. This season at A.C.T. she will also direct a new adaptation by David Mamet of Harlem Graville-Barber’s The Vampy Inheritance and Marie Ndiaye’s Hilda. Before joining A.C.T., Perloff was an artistic director of Classic Stage Company in New York, where she directed the world premiere of Edward Albee’s A Delicate Balance, the American premiere of Pinter’s Mountain Language and The Birthday Party, and many classic works. Under Perloff’s leadership, Classic Stage won numerous OBIE Awards for acting, direction, and design, as well as the 1988 OBIE for artistic excellence. In 1993, she directed the world premiere of Steve Reich and Beryl Korot’s opera The Cave at the Vienna Festival and Brooklyn Academy of Music. Perloff received a B.A. in classics and comparative literature from Stanford University and was a Fulbright Fellow at Oxford. She was on the faculty of the Tisch School of the Arts at New York University for seven years and teaches and directs in the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program. She is the proud mother of Leslie and Nicholas.

HEATHER KITCHEN (Executive Director), since joining A.C.T. in 1996, has strengthened the organization’s infrastructure and overseen the company’s expansion to include the development and performance of new work and the addition of a third year to A.C.T.’s acclaimed Master of Fine Arts Program. Her decision to undertake an M.B.A. degree from the Richard Ivey School of Business at The University of Western Ontario followed a 15-year career in stage, tour, and production management ranging across Canada, the United States, and the United Kingdom. Credits include the Stratford Festival, Charlottetown Festival, Theatre New Brunswick, New Play Centre, Vancouver, and Neptune Theatre in Halifax. As general manager of the Candlelight Theatre, Kitchen managed a five-theater performing arts complex and school that annually produced 16 productions, an international tour of Macbeth, and a Teen Festival. As a member of the executive committee of the Edmonton Performing Arts Consortium, Kitchen authored the benchmark study Performing Arts Impact of the Nonprofit Arts in Edmonton. An active community member, Kitchen serves on the boards and executive committees of the Commonwealth Club of California and the League of Resident Theatres as well as the board of the National Corporate Theatre Fund in New York. She is a past member of the San Francisco Leadership Board of the American Red Cross, the board of Big Brothers/Big Sisters, San Francisco and the Peninsula, and the Salvation Army Auxiliary in Edmonton. She has also participated on peer review panels for Theatre Communications Group, Canada Council of the Arts, and Forbes magazine’s Business and the Arts Awards. The San Francisco Business Times recently named Kitchen one of the 20 most influential women in the Bay Area public arena.

MELISSA SMITH (Conservatory Director) oversees the administration of the A.C.T. Conservatory’s Master of Fine Arts Program, Summer Training Congress, and Studio A.C.T., in addition to serving as the master acting teacher of the M.F.A. Program. Before joining A.C.T. Smith served as director of the program in theater and dance at Princeton University, where she taught acting for six years. Also a professional actor, she has performed in numerous off-off Broadway plays and at regional theater in New York and San Francisco. In 2004, she toured London and Birmingham (U.K.) in Berkeley Repertory Theatre’s production of Continental Divide. Smith holds a B.A. in English and theater from Yale College and an M.F.A. in acting from the Yale School of Drama.

JAMES HAIRE (Producing Director) began his career on Broadway with Eva Le Gallienne’s National Repertory Theatre. He also stage-managed the Broadway productions of And Miss Reardon Drinks a Little and Georgy (a musical by Carole Bayer Sager), as well as the national tour of Woody Allen’s Don’t Drink the Water. Off Broadway he produced Ibsen’s Little Eyolf (directed by Marshall W. Mason) and Sidney Howard’s Arms and the Man. Haire joined A.C.T. in 1971. He and his department were awarded A.C.T.’s first round International award for excellence in the theater in 1989, and in 1992 Haire was awarded a lifetime achievement award by the Bay Area Theatre Critics’ Circle.

A.C.T. PRESENTS AMERICAN PREMIERE OF HILDA AT ZEUM

B ringing the best writing from around the world to American audiences is an important component of A.C.T.’s mission, whether it’s Paul Walsh’s wonderful new translation of Ibsen’s A Doll’s House last season at the Geary Theater, our intercontinental coproduction of The Black Rider—the 2004-05 season’s triumphant opener—the season’s opening gala, A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program repertory revue of Lilies, by French-Canadian writer Michel Marc Bouchard, and Female Transport, by English playwright Michael Stewart. The international trend continues at Zeum this month coinciding with the run of Lisa Kron’s Well at the Geary Theater. A.C.T. is also thrilled to introduce audiences to yet another remarkably powerful and imaginative theatrical voice with the English-language premiere of Marie Ndiaye’s Hilda at Zeum Theater, January 28-February 26, directed by A.C.T. Artistic Director Carey Perloff.

An exciting collaborative venture between A.C.T. and French theater producer Laura Peteis—producer of Hilda’s world premiere production at Théâtre de l’Artélier in Paris in 2002—Hilda is a taut psychological thriller charting the mysterious and destructive relationship between a desperately lonely mother, Mrs. Lemarchand, and the woman, Hilda, she hires to care for her children. Hilda is the first play by French Senegalese novelist Malick Sidibé, whose work has been hailed in France for its emotional intensity and unsettling psychological depth ever since she published the first of her eight novels at age 17 in 1984. Like Ndiaye’s novels and short stories, the play’s deceptive simplicity dialogue creates a larger, riveting picture of the insidious motivations pulsing beneath the current of modern-day class relations and explores several of the author’s recurring themes—the surprising seductiveness of control, the ways intimacy can mask brutality, and the secretly cruel nature of relationships based on power.

"I met with Laura Peteis in Paris last spring, and she showed me the Hilda script she had premiered a year before," says Perloff. "I immediately knew that it was something special, and that it deserved to be part of A.C.T.’s First Look series. I didn’t know anything about Ndiaye when I first read the script, but I was immediately rapt by the page. It seems to grow out of the same tradition as some of my favorite writers. It has incredibly potent language and operates on many levels: it’s a mystery, there is something Pinteresque about it, and there is also something both suggestive and threatening, like a David Lynch film—it tells a haunting story of consuming obsession. Peteis gets at the heart of what happens when one person devours the soul of someone else, in effect what happens to the enslaver as well as the enslaved."

Ellis Karas, who made a memorable A.C.T. debut in 2003 in the title role of The Constant Wife, returns to A.C.T. in the role of the scheming Lemarchand, and A.C.T. Associate Artist and core acting company member Marco Barcelli (seen most recently at A.C.T. in Two on the Aisle’s Road To The West) plays Hilda’s husband, Frank, joined by Lauren Grace (A Mother, Les Liaisons Dangereuses at A.C.T.), "I am fascinated with the transition actors make from working in the expansive Geary Theater, where you have to make sure everything reads across 40 feet, to the intimate scale of a much smaller theater," says Perloff. "A play like Hilda needs a small space like Zeum to heighten its intensity, so that in some way you feel claustrophobic, like you are in this woman’s mind. It packs a punch."

HILDA

by Marie Ndiaye
Directed by Carey Perloff
Translated by Erika Rundle
Originally produced at Théâtre de l'Atelier, Paris 2002
Coproduced with Laura Peteis Productions
January 28-February 26
ZEUM THEATER

TICKETS ON SALE THROUGH FEBRUARY 26.
www.act-sf.org • 415.749.2ACT
A.C.T. Profiles

CAREY PERLOFF (Artistic Director), who is celebrating her second season as artistic director of A.C.T., most recently directed the national tour of Stoppard's The Real Thing, Constance Condon's A Mother (adapted from Geva's Yaki Zabilko's), Isbets's A Doll's House, Buckley's Misegeda for Good, Stoppard's Night and Day, and Chekhov's The Three Sisters. Known for directing innovative productions and championing new writing for the theater, Perloff has directed for A.C.T. the American premieres of Stoppard's The Invention of Love, Indian Ink, and Harold Pinter's Celebration and The Room. A.C.T.-commissioned translations of Henzska, The Misogynists, Envy IV, Mary Stuart, and Urquhart's newly translated premiere of Leslie Ayvazian's Singer, Bay; and acclaimed productions of The Threepenny Opera, Old Times, Aravatar, The Ros Tatto, Antigone, Creditor, Home, and The Tempest. Her work at A.C.T. also includes the world premieres of Marc Blitzstein's No for an Answer, David Lang/Mac Wellman's The Difficulty of Crossing a Field, and the West Coast premiere of her own play The Colleagues of Rhodes (a finalist for the Susan Smith Blackburn Award). Her new play, Luminence Dating, was developed under a grant from The Essential Space Studio Theater. Alfred P. Sloan Foundation Science & Technology Project, was workshopped last summer at New York Stage and Film, and will premiere at the Santa Fe Opera in June at Ensemble Studio Theatre. She spent July at the Sundance Institute developing Philip Ken Goutalis's new play after the war. This season at A.C.T. she will also direct a new adaptation by David Mamet of Hartley Granville-Barber's The Playwright Inheritance and Melanie Lidj's Hilda. Before joining A.C.T., Perloff was an artistic director of Classic Stage Company in New York, where she directed the world premieres of Forman's La Cura, the American premiere of Pinter's Mountaintop Language and The Birthday Party, and many classic works. Under Perloff's leadership, Classic Stage won numerous OBE Awards for acting, direction, and design, as well as the 1998 OBIE for artistic excellence. In 1993, she directed the world premiere of Steven Reisch and Beryl Koon's opera The Cave at the Vienna Festival and Brooklyn Academy of Music. Perloff received a B.A. in classics and comparative literature from Stanford University and was a Fullbright Fellow at Oxford. She was on the faculty of the Tisch School of the Arts at New York University for seven years and teaches and directs in the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program. She is the proud mother of Lexi and Nicholas.

HEATHER KITCHEN (Executive Director), since joining A.C.T. in 1996, has strengthened the organization's infrastructure and overseen the company's expansion to include the development and performance of new work and the addition of a third year to A.C.T.'s acclaimed Master of Fine Arts Program. Her decisions have earned her an M.B.A. degree from the Richard Ivey School of Business at The University of Western Ontario followed a 15-year career in stage, tour, and production management ranging across Canada, the United States, and the United Kingdom. Credits include the Stratford Festival, Charlottetown Festival, Theatre New Brunswick, New Play Centre, Vancouver, and Neptune Theatre in Halifax. As general manager of expansions of The Citadel Theatre, Kitchen managed a five-theater performing arts complex and school that annually produced 16 productions, an educational program and the Citadel Youth Theatre. As a member of the executive committee of the Edmonton Performing Arts Consortium, Kitchen authored the benchmark study Performing Arts Impact of the Nonprofit Arts in Edmonton. An active community member, Kitchen serves on the boards and executive committees of the Commonwealth Club of California and the League of Resident Theatres as well as the board of the National Corporate Theatre Fund in New York. She is a past member of the San Francisco Leadership Board of the American Red Cross, the board of Big Brothers Big Sisters, San Francisco and the Peninsula, and the Salvation Army Auxiliary in Edmonton. She has also participated on peer review panels for Theatre Communications Group, Canada Council of the Arts, and Forbes magazine's Business and the Arts Awards. The San Francisco Business Times recently named Kitchen one of the 20 most influential women in the Bay Area public arena.

MELISSA SMITH (Conservatory Director) oversees the administration of the A.C.T. Conservatory's Master of Fine Arts Program, Conservatory, Summer Training Congress, and Studio A.C.T., in addition to serving as the master acting teacher of the M.F.A. Program. Before joining A.C.T., Smith served as director of the program in theater and dance at Princeton University, where she taught acting for six years. Also a professional actor, she has performed in numerous off-off Broadway plays and at regional theaters throughout the United States. In 2004 she toured London and Birmingham (U.K.) in Berkeley Repertory Theatre's production of Continental Divide. Smith holds a B.A. in English and theater from Yale College and an M.F.A. in acting from the Yale School of Drama.

JAMES HAIRE (Producing Director) began his career on Broadway with Eva Le Gallienne's National Repertory Theatre. He also stage-managed the Broadway productions of And Miss Reardon Drinks A Little and Georgy (a musical by Carole Bayer Sager), as well as the national tour of Woody Allen's Don't Drink the Water. Off Broadway he produced Isbets's Little Luv (directed by Marshall W. Mason) and Sandy Aronson's The Man. Haire joined A.C.T. in 1971. He and his department were awarded A.C.T.'s first Critics' Circle award for excellence in the theater in 1989, and in 1992 Haire was awarded a lifetime achievement award by the Bay Area Theatre Critics' Circle.

A.C.T. PRESENTS AMERICAN PREMIERE OF HILDA AT ZEUM

Bringing the best writing from around the world to American audiences is an important component of A.C.T.'s mission, whether it's Paul Walsh's wonderful new translation of Ibsen's A Doll's House last season at the Geary Theater, or our intercontinental coproduction of The Black Rider—the 2004-05 season's triumphal opener. This spring's upcoming A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program repertory season of Lilies, by French-Canadian writer Michel Marc Bouchard, and Female Transport, by English playwright Stephen Gough. The international trend continues at Zeum this month: coinciding with the run of Lisa Kesten's Hill at the Geary Theater, A.C.T. is also thrilled to introduce audiences to yet another remarkably powerful and imaginative theatrical voice with the English-language premiere of Marie Ndiaye's Hilda at Zeum Theater.
YOU AND YOUR COMPANY CAN SUPPORT A.C.T.

INCREASE YOUR DONATION WITH A CORPORATE MATCHING GIFT?

Does your company have an employee matching gift program? Giving a matching gift to A.C.T. increases the impact of your donation and allows you to enjoy even more diverse benefits. Increasing your donation with a matching gift is easy—simply contact your company’s human resources department for a matching gift form, and send it in with your own donation today. For more information about matching gifts, please contact Jesu Chapin at 415.439.2464 or jchapin@act-sf.org.

BECOME AN A.C.T. CORPORATE PARTNER

A.C.T. is pleased to offer its Corporate Partners Program to companies interested in supporting live theater, arts education, and outreach programs in our community. A.C.T.’s Corporate Partners Program features memorable entertainment opportunities for your clients and employees, including discounted tickets to performances, use of event space for your special occasion, and prominent recognition of your support before the eyes of thousands of theatergoers. Different levels of partnership are available for companies of all sizes. You can support the arts and elevate your company’s profile at the same time. To find out more about participating in A.C.T.’s Corporate Partners Program, contact Carolyn Winter at 415.439.2449 or cwinter@act-sf.org.

DETAILS, DETAILS, DETAILS . . .

As patrons of A.C.T., we all know how wonderful it feels to escape from our busy lives for a few hours and let ourselves succumb to the powerful art of live theater. We also have witnessed how much blood, sweat, and resources are needed to bring a production to the stage night after night.

But have you ever wondered exactly how much it costs to get a play from page to stage? For example, did you know that it costs more than $600 a week to dry clean costumes for a large show like The Black Rider? Or that the fabric alone for a backdrop such as the one seen in The Gamemaster can cost upwards of $1,000?

By making a gift to A.C.T., you can contribute to the details that bring our shows to life. Listed below is a selection of a variety of such opportunities. Please make your donation today!

Your gift of $75–$149 would help cover the cost of . . .
Nonslip rubber soles for three pairs of costume shoes

$L150–$299 . . .
All dry ice for the special “steaming” effects in A Christmas Carol

Miniblinds for recording sound effects

$300–$599 . . .

Gambling chips for the run of The Gamemaster

One onstage understudy rehearsal

Light plot drafting for The Voyage Inheritance

$600–$999 . . .
The disappearing bookcase effect in The Real Thing

The smoke effect in A Christmas Carol

The set model for A Moon for the Misbegotten

One week’s supply of makeup for the cast of The Black Rider

Two wig sets in The Gamemaster

One period costume worn in The Gamemaster

NEXT AT A.C.T. AT ZEUM

This spring brings an exciting new collaboration among members of the A.C.T. core acting company and the third-year students of A.C.T.’s acclaimed Master of Fine Arts Program. Presented in rotating repertory, these two plays exploring issues of power, gender, and desire will be your last chance to see the emerging stars of A.C.T.’s graduating class in full-scale production before they launch their professional careers.

FEMALE TRANSPORT

by Steve Gough • Directed by Anne Kauffmann
March 8–April 3

In Female Transport, six women convicts are confined below deck on a transport vessel for the six-month journey from England to the new penal colony of Australia. As the women face the challenges of surviving captivity, disease, and oppression at the hands of a sadistic crew, they forge unlikely alliances and discover moments of humanity and hope within captivity. Female Transport features members of the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program and A.C.T. core acting company member Steven Anthony Jones.

LIES

by Michel Marc Bouchard • Translated by Linda Gabrion
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Preproduced with Theatre Rhinoesos
March 10–April 2

Lyrical, erotic, and complex, Michel Marc Bouchard’s L’Orée and The Recent of a Romantic Drama, unfurls as a play-within-a-play when inmates of a Quebec prison re-enact the devastating tale of an impassioned love between two young men at a Catholic boys’ school in rural Canada in 1912. L’Orée features male members of the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program performing alongside professional actors, including a C.A.T. core acting company member Gregory Wallace.

In repertory March 8–April 3
Zeum Theater
4th and Howard streets, San Francisco

Pursue your passion at A.C.T. Enroll today!

Summer training congress
Application deadline May 2

Studio A.C.T.
Spring Session: March 21–June 6
Young conservatory
Winter/Spring Session: February 7–May 16

Information: 415.439.2350 / www.activetraining.org

2004–05 A.C.T. CONSERVATORY PERFORMANCES

Master of fine arts program presents

Pippin
10–19
Music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz
Book by Roger O. Hirson
Musical direction by Peter Melnitske
Staged by Nathan Baynard
In Fred’s Columbus Room, Geary Theater

Once in a Lifetime
24–32
By Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman
Directed by Margaret Booker

Lilies
30–32
By Michel Marc Bouchard
Translated by Linda Gabrion
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Produced in association with Theatre Rhinoceros

Female Transport
38–40
By Steve Gough
Directed by Anne Kauffmann

Young conservatory presents

Our Town
29–30
By Thornton Wilder
Directed by W. D. Keith

West Coast Premiere
Schoolgirl Figure
22–20
By Wendy MacLeod
Directed by Donatien Lemozi

World Premiere
Broken Hallelujah
4–12
By Sharron Macdonald
Directed by Craig Slaight

World Premiere
Shed a Little Light: The Music of James Taylor
17–3
Directed by Kent Brickley and Christine Mattson
Musical direction by Kevin Wylie
Musical arrangement by Nacho Sanchez

All performances at Zeum Theater, unless otherwise noted. Tickets $10–$45.

2004–05 A.C.T. CONSERVATORY PERFORMANCES

Master of fine arts program presents

Pippin
10–19
Music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz
Book by Roger O. Hirson
Musical direction by Peter Melnitske
Staged by Nathan Baynard
In Fred’s Columbus Room, Geary Theater

Once in a Lifetime
24–32
By Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman
Directed by Margaret Booker

Lilies
30–32
By Michel Marc Bouchard
Translated by Linda Gabrion
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Produced in association with Theatre Rhinoceros

Female Transport
38–40
By Steve Gough
Directed by Anne Kauffmann

Young conservatory presents

Our Town
29–30
By Thornton Wilder
Directed by W. D. Keith

West Coast Premiere
Schoolgirl Figure
22–20
By Wendy MacLeod
Directed by Donatien Lemozi

World Premiere
Broken Hallelujah
4–12
By Sharron Macdonald
Directed by Craig Slaight

World Premiere
Shed a Little Light: The Music of James Taylor
17–3
Directed by Kent Brickley and Christine Mattson
Musical direction by Kevin Wylie
Musical arrangement by Nacho Sanchez

All performances at Zeum Theater, unless otherwise noted. Tickets $10–$45.

2004–05 A.C.T. CONSERVATORY PERFORMANCES

Master of fine arts program presents

Pippin
10–19
Music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz
Book by Roger O. Hirson
Musical direction by Peter Melnitske
Staged by Nathan Baynard
In Fred’s Columbus Room, Geary Theater

Once in a Lifetime
24–32
By Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman
Directed by Margaret Booker

Lilies
30–32
By Michel Marc Bouchard
Translated by Linda Gabrion
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Produced in association with Theatre Rhinoceros

Female Transport
38–40
By Steve Gough
Directed by Anne Kauffmann

Young conservatory presents

Our Town
29–30
By Thornton Wilder
Directed by W. D. Keith

West Coast Premiere
Schoolgirl Figure
22–20
By Wendy MacLeod
Directed by Donatien Lemozi

World Premiere
Broken Hallelujah
4–12
By Sharron Macdonald
Directed by Craig Slaight

World Premiere
Shed a Little Light: The Music of James Taylor
17–3
Directed by Kent Brickley and Christine Mattson
Musical direction by Kevin Wylie
Musical arrangement by Nacho Sanchez

All performances at Zeum Theater, unless otherwise noted. Tickets $10–$45.

2004–05 A.C.T. CONSERVATORY PERFORMANCES

Master of fine arts program presents

Pippin
10–19
Music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz
Book by Roger O. Hirson
Musical direction by Peter Melnitske
Staged by Nathan Baynard
In Fred’s Columbus Room, Geary Theater

Once in a Lifetime
24–32
By Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman
Directed by Margaret Booker

Lilies
30–32
By Michel Marc Bouchard
Translated by Linda Gabrion
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Produced in association with Theatre Rhinoceros

Female Transport
38–40
By Steve Gough
Directed by Anne Kauffmann

Young conservatory presents

Our Town
29–30
By Thornton Wilder
Directed by W. D. Keith

West Coast Premiere
Schoolgirl Figure
22–20
By Wendy MacLeod
Directed by Donatien Lemozi

World Premiere
Broken Hallelujah
4–12
By Sharron Macdonald
Directed by Craig Slaight

World Premiere
Shed a Little Light: The Music of James Taylor
17–3
Directed by Kent Brickley and Christine Mattson
Musical direction by Kevin Wylie
Musical arrangement by Nacho Sanchez

All performances at Zeum Theater, unless otherwise noted. Tickets $10–$45.
YOU AND YOUR COMPANY CAN SUPPORT A.C.T.

INCREASE YOUR DONATION WITH A CORPORATE MATCHING GIFT?

Does your company have an employee matching gift program? Giving a matching gift to A.C.T. increases the impact of your donation and allows you to enjoy even more donor benefits. Increasing your donation with a matching gift is easy—simply contact your company’s human resources department for a matching gift form, and send it in with your own donation today. For more information about matching gifts, please contact Jesu Chapin at 415.439.2464 or jchapin@act-sf.org.

BECOME AN A.C.T. CORPORATE PARTNER

A.C.T. is pleased to offer our Corporate Partners Program to companies interested in supporting live theater, arts education, and outreach programs in our community. A.C.T.’s Corporate Partners Program features memorable entertainment opportunities for your clients and employees, including discounted tickets to performances, use of event space for your special occasion, and prominent recognition of your support before the eyes of thousands of theatergoers. Different levels of partnership are available for companies of all sizes. You can support the arts and elevate your company’s profile at the same time. To find out more about participating in A.C.T.’s Corporate Partners Program, contact Carolyn Winter at 415.439.2249 or cwinter@act-sf.org.

DETAILS, DETAILS, DETAILS...

As patrons of A.C.T., we all know how wonderful it feels to escape from our busy lives for a few hours and let ourselves succumb to the powerful art of live theater. We also have witnessed how much blood, sweat, and resources are needed to bring a production to the stage night after night.

But have you ever wondered exactly how much it costs to get a play from page to stage? For example, did you know that it costs more than $600 a week to dry clean costumes for a large show like The Black Rider? Or that the fabric alone for a backdrop such as the one seen in The Gamester can cost upwards of $1,000?

By making a gift to A.C.T., you can contribute to the details that bring our shows to life. Listed below is a selection of a variety of such opportunities. Please make your donation today!

Your gift of $75–$149 would help cover the cost of…

- Nonslip rubber soles for three pairs of costume shoes
- Lodging for one night for a visiting artist
- Blank CDs for recording sound effects
- Dry ice for the special “steaming” effects in A Christmas Carol
- Blueprint services for the set designs of one production
- Six lamps for theatrical lighting fixtures
- Gambling chips for the run of The Gamester

One onstage understudy rehearsal Light plot drafting for The Voyeur Inheritance $600–$999…

- The disappearing bookcase effect in The Real Thing
- The snowdrop effect in A Christmas Carol
- The set model for A Moon for the Misbegotten

$1,000–$1,499…

- One week’s supply of makeup for the cast of The Black Rider
- Two wig sets in The Gamester
- One period costume worn in The Gamester

NEXT AT A.C.T. AT ZEUM

This spring brings an exciting new collaboration among members of the A.C.T. core acting company and the third-year students of A.C.T.’s acclaimed Master of Fine Arts Program. Presented in rotating repertory, these two plays exploring issues of power, gender, and desire will be your last chance to see the emerging stars of A.C.T.’s graduating class in full-scale production before they launch their professional careers.

FEMALE TRANSPORT

by Steve Gough • Directed by Anne Kaufman
March 8–April 3

In Female Transport, six women convicts are confined below deck on a transport vessel for the six-month journey from England to the new penal colony of Australia. As the women face the challenges of surviving captivity, disease, and oppression at the hands of a sadistic crew, they forge unlikely alliances and discover moments of humanity and hope within captivity. Female Transport features members of the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program and A.C.T. core acting company member Steven Anthony Jones.

PO BOXES

by Michel Marc Bouchard • Translated by Linda Gaboriau
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Produced with Theatre Rhinoceros
March 10–April 2

Lyric, erotic, and complex, Michel Marc Bouchard’s Poîches, or The Revival of a Romantic Drama, unfolds as a play-within-a-play when inmates of a Quebec prison re-enact the devastating tale of an impassioned love between two young men at a Catholic boy’s school in rural Canada in 1912. Poîches features male members of the A.C.T. Master of Fine Arts Program performing alongside professional actors, including A.C.T. core acting company member Gregory Wallace.

In repertory March 8–April 3
Zeum Theater
4th and Howard streets, San Francisco

PURSUE YOUR PASSION AT A.C.T. ENROLL TODAY!

SUMMER TRAINING CONGRESS

Application deadline May 2

STUDIO A.C.T.

Spring Session: March 25–June 6

YOUTH CONSERVATORY

Winter/Summer Session: February 7–May 16

Information: 415.439.2330 / www.aacttraining.org

2004–05 A.C.T. CONSERVATORY PERFORMANCES

master of fine arts program presents

Pippin

10–19

Music and Lyrics by Stephen Schwartz
Book by Roger O. Hirson
Musical Direction by Peter Melin
Staged by Nathan Baynard
in Fred’s Columbus Room, Geary Theater

Once in a Lifetime

24–32

By Mois Hart and George S. Kaufman
Directed by Margaret Booker
in the Geary Theater

March

2–10

Lilies

by Michel Marc Bouchard
Translated by Linda Gaboriau
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Produced in association with Theatre Rhinoceros
in the Geary Theater

February

5–23

Female Transport

by Steve Gough
Directed by Anne Kaufman
in the Geary Theater

WINTER PREMIERE

Our Town

19–29

By Thornton Wilder
Directed by W. D. Keish
in the Geary Theater

WEST COAST PREMIERE

Schoolgirl Figure

22–30

by Wendy MacLeod
Directed by Domenique Lozano
in the Geary Theater

WORLD PREMIERE

Broken Halakhah

6–12

by Sharron Macdonald
Directed by Craig Slaught
in the Geary Theater

WORLD PREMIERE

Shed a Little Light: The Music of James Taylor

17–31

Directed by Kate Brickley and Christine Mattos
Musical Direction by Kunta Wylie
Musical Arrangement by Latino Sanchez
in the Geary Theater

All performances at Zeum Theater, unless otherwise noted. Tickets $10–$45.

2004–05 A.C.T. CONSERVATORY PERFORMANCES

master of fine arts program presents

Pippin

10–19

Music and Lyrics by Stephen Schwartz
Book by Roger O. Hirson
Musical Direction by Peter Melin
Staged by Nathan Baynard
in Fred’s Columbus Room, Geary Theater

Once in a Lifetime

24–32

By Mois Hart and George S. Kaufman
Directed by Margaret Booker
in the Geary Theater

March

2–10

Lilies

by Michel Marc Bouchard
Translated by Linda Gaboriau
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Produced in association with Theatre Rhinoceros
in the Geary Theater

February

5–23

Female Transport

by Steve Gough
Directed by Anne Kaufman
in the Geary Theater

WINTER PREMIERE

Our Town

19–29

By Thornton Wilder
Directed by W. D. Keish
in the Geary Theater

WEST COAST PREMIERE

Schoolgirl Figure

22–30

by Wendy MacLeod
Directed by Domenique Lozano
in the Geary Theater

WORLD PREMIERE

Broken Halakhah

6–12

by Sharron Macdonald
Directed by Craig Slaught
in the Geary Theater

WORLD PREMIERE

Shed a Little Light: The Music of James Taylor

17–31

Directed by Kate Brickley and Christine Mattos
Musical Direction by Kunta Wylie
Musical Arrangement by Latino Sanchez
in the Geary Theater

All performances at Zeum Theater, unless otherwise noted. Tickets $10–$45.

2004–05 A.C.T. CONSERVATORY PERFORMANCES

master of fine arts program presents

Pippin

10–19

Music and Lyrics by Stephen Schwartz
Book by Roger O. Hirson
Musical Direction by Peter Melin
Staged by Nathan Baynard
in Fred’s Columbus Room, Geary Theater

Once in a Lifetime

24–32

By Mois Hart and George S. Kaufman
Directed by Margaret Booker
in the Geary Theater

March

2–10

Lilies

by Michel Marc Bouchard
Translated by Linda Gaboriau
Directed by Serge Denoncourt
Produced in association with Theatre Rhinoceros
in the Geary Theater

February

5–23

Female Transport

by Steve Gough
Directed by Anne Kaufman
in the Geary Theater

WINTER PREMIERE

Our Town

19–29

By Thornton Wilder
Directed by W. D. Keish
in the Geary Theater

WEST COAST PREMIERE

Schoolgirl Figure

22–30

by Wendy MacLeod
Directed by Domenique Lozano
in the Geary Theater

WORLD PREMIERE

Broken Halakhah

6–12

by Sharron Macdonald
Directed by Craig Slaught
in the Geary Theater

WORLD PREMIERE

Shed a Little Light: The Music of James Taylor

17–31

Directed by Kate Brickley and Christine Mattos
Musical Direction by Kunta Wylie
Musical Arrangement by Latino Sanchez
in the Geary Theater

All performances at Zeum Theater, unless otherwise noted. Tickets $10–$45.

American Conservatory Theater
For Your Information

ADMISSION OFFICES
A.C.T.'s administrative and conservatory offices are located at 30 Grant Avenue, San Francisco, CA 94109, 415.834.3200. On the Web: www.a-c-t.org

BOX OFFICE AND TICKET INFORMATION
Geary Theatre Box Office
Visit us at 400 Geary Street at Mason, next to the Geary Theatre, one block west of Union Square. Box office hours are 12-8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 12-6 p.m. Sunday and Monday. During nonperformance weeks, business hours are 12-6 p.m. daily. Call 415.749.2472 and use your Visa, MasterCard, or American Express card. Or fax your request with credit card information to 415.749.2292. Tickets are also available 24 hours a day on our Web site at www.a-c-t.org. All sales are final, and there are no refunds. Only current subscriber subscriptions are accepted by phone. Tickets are not accepted by mail, phone, or in person at the box office. Discounts:
Half-price ticket sales are sometimes available on the day of performance at TDX on Union Square. Half-price student and senior rush tickets are available at the box office two hours before curtain. Matinee senior rush tickets are available at the box office the day of the performance for $10. All rush tickets are subject to availability, one ticket per valid ID. Student and senior citizen subscriptions are also available. A.C.T. often offer one Pay What You Wish performance, during the regular run of each production.
Group Discounts
For groups of 10 or more, call Edward Budworth at 415.834.4273.

A.C.T. Merchandise
A.C.T.-branded souvenirs—clothing, jewelry, videos, travel mugs, and other novelty items—as well as books, scripts and Win on Plays, are on sale at the smokeless desks in the main lobby and at the Geary Theatre Box Office.

Refreshments
Full bar service, sandwiches, salads, and other savory items are available one hour before the performance in Fred's Columbia Room on the lower level and the Sky Bar on the third level. There is also a mini-bar in the main lobby. You can now place the long lines at intermission by preordering food and beverages in the lower- and third-level bars. Food and drink are not permitted in the auditorium.

Beeps!
If policy is a page, beeper, cellular phone, or watch with alarm, please make sure that it is set to the "S" position while you are in the theater. Or you may leave it and your seat number with the house manager, so you can be notified if it goes off.

Perfumes
The chemicals found in perfumes, colognes, and second-hand stenotems, even in small amounts, can cause severe physical reactions in some individuals. As a courtesy to fellow patrons, please avoid the use of these products while you attend the theater.

Emergency Telephone
Leaves you with the numbers of those with whom you must reach you and have them call 415.439.2396 in an emergency.

A.C.T. performances begin on time. Latecomers will be seated only if there is an appropriate endowment.

Listening Systems
Heads you designed to provide clear, amplified sound anywhere in the auditorium are available free of charge in the lobby before performances. Please turn off your hearing aid when using an A.C.T. headset, as it will react to the sound system and make a disruptive noise.

Photographs and recordings of A.C.T. performances are strictly forbidden. Best rooms are located in Fred's Columbia Room on the lower lobby level, the Balcony Lobby, and the Carret on the uppermost lobby level.

Wheelchair seating is available on all levels of the Geary Theatre. Please call 415.749.2472 in advance to notify the house staff of any special needs.

A.C.T. is pleased to announce that an Automatic External Defibrillator (AED) is now available on site.

AFFILIATIONS
A.C.T. operates under an agreement between the League of Resident Theatres and Actors' Equity Association, the national professional theater organization for the United States. A.C.T. is a constituent of Theatre Communications Group, the national organization for the nonprofit professional theater. A.C.T. is a member of the League of Resident Theatres, Theatre Bay Area, Union Square Association, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and San Francisco Convention & Visitors Bureau. A.C.T. is a participant in the National Theatre Artists Residency Program, administered by Theatre Communications Group and funded by the Pew Charitable Trusts.

SSDC
The Ssdc is a member of the Board of Directors of the Ssdc and Choreographers, Inc., an independent national labor union.

A.C.T. is supported in part by a grant from the Grants for the Arts, San Francisco Hotel Tax Fund.
As your expectations have grown over time, so has our ability to exceed them.

Presenting the most Trusted Advisors, Skilled Negotiators and Expert Facilitators in Bay Area real estate. For 30 years, Pacific Union has connected the Bay Area’s most discerning clientele with the most desirable homes. With our new Premier Service program, we’ll be drawing on that experience to offer an unprecedented level of client service. Premier Service puts the resources of our most experienced agents at your fingertips, as you make your sale or purchase. When your expectations call for exceptional results, look to Pacific Union to exceed them.

Premier Service™

Service you deserve. People you trust.

www.pacunion.com

Montclair/Piedmont  Danville  Walnut Creek  Orinda  San Francisco  Napa Valley  Sonoma  Marin  Oakland/Berkeley  Union Trust Mortgage